IT WOULD BE IMPOSSIBLE!

No artist could paint a picture, no matter how beautiful the outline, without good material. Fine combs cannot make a lady's head look beautiful with store hair, and mothers' combs, or inferior combs, have clean, new, glossy hair, it will be money well spent!

What To Do to Get Fat and Increase Weight

The Real Cause for Thinness

A Physician's Advice

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very little and sleep soundly all the time. It is all born to say that this is Nature's way at all.

"Thin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health, and the rest is wasted. A dozen meals a day won't help them. A single 'stay-plump' meal will do it. It is the most powerful food building element known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective, and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by Dr. J. C. Osgood Co. and other good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

TOP SHAMEFUL STORY WITH TEARS

Mrs. Myrtle Blake Bailey Testifies Against Attorney G. Curtiss Morgan of New London—On the Stand All Day Monday in Superior Court—Elder Brown of New London Who Married Raymond Bailey and Myrtle Blake Was Also Called to the Stand.

Except for a few minutes in the afternoon when Elder J. P. Brown was on the stand, Mrs. Myrtle Blake Bailey of New London was the witness in the trial of Attorney G. Curtiss Morgan of New London upon the charge of indecent assault upon and adultery with her. The appeal of telling the shameful story was a severe one for her and she wept bitterly even by the time of the trial, speaking in so low tones that often her answers had to be read by the court stenographer so that the attorney could hear what she had replied to their questioning.

Because of the nature of the testimony, the general public was excluded from the courtroom and attorneys or those who had business there were allowed in the room. When Mrs. Bailey reached the recital of some of the details she sobbed and hid her face in her handkerchief, saying that she could not find words to describe them and she had to be helped. She answered the questions that the attorneys asked.

Court came in at 10:20 with Judge Green on the bench. Judge Green asked the witness to state the name of the attorney in the prosecution by Prosecuting Attorney Cronin of the New London Police. The attorneys for the accused were Abel T. Brown of New London and Allyn L. Brown of this city. Mr. Morgan sat near his counsel and made suggestions to the jury as the trial proceeded. Mrs. Bailey's husband Raymond Grant Bailey, sat with her in the courtroom and was in the room with Frances Fraser of New London.

Arguments Over Jury. While the jury was coming into the room, Attorney Tanner addressed the complaint of indecent assault but Judge Green with a motion that the jury be called out. This the judge said he had a right to do. He said that the jury in the case returned to an anteroom with counsel to prepare the case. He said that the jury was called out to prepare the case.

When the state's attorney returned to the stand he called the name of the 43 jurors, of whom 21 were the jury panel and 27 were names summoned in special anticipation of this case. Before the first juror had been drawn State's Attorney Hull informed the jury of the testimony in this case and the names of the attorneys. The jury was called out to prepare the case.

On the first drawing by Clerk Parsons 14 names were excused from jury duty and from the remaining 29 the judge directed that 26 be drawn. The jury chosen was the following: Robert Stora, Norwich; Walter H. Lee, Norwich; James M. Huntington, Franklin; Benjamin J. Sprague; Charles S. Ray, Salem; Daniel L. Jones, Norwich; Philip Spelman, Norwich; Walter J. Hendon, Preston; Walter I. Johnson, Goshen; Christopher Brennan, Sprague; Terence Coughlin, Sprague; Elias Palmer, Voluntown.

The Complaining Witness. Mrs. Myrtle Blake Bailey, wife of Raymond Grant Bailey was the first witness called to the stand by the state's attorney. She was called on Feb. 2 and was born in 1818 on the farm near the home of her father, Raymond Grant Bailey of New London. Her husband, she said, was in charge of the farm near the home of her father. She said she first met Attorney Morgan on Oct. 2 at his office and was introduced by Mrs. Lottie Usher Wilson, who was a partner in the firm. She said she was employed there until two days before her marriage.

She testified also that she gave her a ring at the Jones place on Saturday night. It was an exchange of rings and she gave him a ring. She said she had known two years ago. The ring that she gave her was laid in as an exhibit.

On the following Monday night she had a supper with her husband and Attorney Morgan at the home of her father. She said she was in the cottage on the 3.30 car from the parade to go to his cottage at Ocean Beach. Attorney Morgan had told her he would get on the car somewhere and would have some wine, which he would get at the Hotel Royal. He got on the car along Bank street.

Cocktails and Driftwood Fire. There were no lights on fire in the cottage, she said, but Mr. Morgan had some matches and she had a driftwood fire. The witness admitted that she had told different people that Mr. Morgan had always treated her like a gentleman should. The questioning attorney asked Mrs. Bailey about the conversation that took place when her husband accused her of going to the beach, but she could not remember much of what was said, but she said she told her husband everything. Then her husband went out to see the state's attorney and later she told the story to State Policeman Theodore F. Downing and Detective Vincent. She said she had no idea there was going to be any trial, but she thought if she did what was right that would be all there was to it.

Since the interview with State Policeman Downing the witness said she was taken to the home of State Policeman W. E. Jackson in Willimantic and had been there with Mr. and Mrs. Jackson's family for three weeks. Her husband had visited her there two or three times. The witness said that she understood she could also be prosecuted in the case. She said she had been made her if she would testify and tell all she knew.

Court adjourned at 4:40 on the next day at 10 o'clock. WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION. William Monroe Trotter Extolled the Father of Our Country.

The Union Lyceum celebrated Washington's birthday with a reception and entertainment at the McKinley Avenue A. M. E. Zion church on Monday evening. There were several vocal solos and recitations by local talent. The Washington address was given by William Monroe Trotter, Boston, Mass., editor of the Guardian, a weekly organ for freedom and equal rights. Mr. Trotter lauded George Washington as a great man, a military genius, a sagacious statesman. Speaking of personal characteristics he referred to Washington's religious feeling and pointed to a picture on the wall of Gen. Washington praying in the open woods at Valley Forge, which was a picture of the general on Sunday said had not been utilized by writers, poets or artists. The picture was loaned by Braxton Terry of Norwich.

Then Mr. Trotter spoke of Washington's colored American helpers and fire-runners. He quoted Brig. Gen. Philip Read, U. S. A., retired, as author of the story of a colored slave, fought at Bunker Hill, killing Major Pitcairn, and Salem Pease, a colored man, who fought so gallantly that his white officers gave him a testimonial. Gen. Read said that there were 3,000 colored Americans in the Revolutionary war, from nearly every colony. Rhode Island furnished a whole colored regiment of men. Gen. Read quoted Bayard Rustin's British army soldier's story of the part colored Americans had taken in every war for the country and declared that such people should have the same admission to hotels, restaurants, theatres, barber shops and same right to employment by the government without any separation for race that all the colored people here had. The foreign as well as the native born.

ILLUMINATION DISPLAY FOR WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY. Made at Store of Eaton-Chase Co.—Houses Illuminated. One of the most conspicuous observations for Washington's birthday was made by the Eaton-Chase Co., who illuminated its store on State street brilliantly illuminated with electricity on Monday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. The display was a beautiful one, with electric lights adorning the front of the building where the name "Washington" and the name of the firm were also illuminated. The display was one of the store windows was filled with relics of historical interest, such as first look gun, candlesticks, powder horn, and other articles becoming dates as far back as 1770 and a picture of George Washington was entwined in the American flag.

The other window contained a display of the Edison Mazda lamps as well as some of the lights used in days past. The advancement that had been made. A number of houses about the city were also illuminated for the evening. Addressed Norwich Doctors' Meeting. Dr. Charles Osgood of New York was the speaker on Monday evening at the February meeting of the Norwich Medical association, which was held at the Vauregan house. He gave an instructive talk upon the subject of Tonics and Adenoids.

The Hair Easily Made Beautiful and Attractive. Beautiful hair, thick, fluffy, lustrous and absolutely free from dandruff is not so much a gift of nature as a matter of care and proper nourishment. Hair is like a plant—it will not grow healthy and beautiful unless it has attention and proper treatment. Arian Sage, a dainty perfume, light that is easy applied, comes up and invigorates the hair roots and furnishes the necessary nourishment. It not only keeps the hair from becoming thin, but it stimulates it to grow more healthy, soft, fluffy and radiant with life.

When used frequently and well rubbed into the scalp it will simply work wonders. Just one application stops itching head, removes dandruff and cleanses the hair of all dust and excess oil. Since Parisian Sage, which can be obtained from Lee & Osgood, or at any drug or toilet counter, never disappoints, it is no longer necessary for any woman to be humiliated because of thin, straggly, faded lifeless or unattractive hair—just apply Parisian Sage and it will help every woman to retain her charm and youthful appearance.
