TAFTVILLE
 Miss Jennie Kendall Gave Washington Whist—Seven Tables Played and Prizes Awarded the Winners—Other Local Notes.

A very enjoyable Washington whist of seven tables was given by Miss Jennie Kendall at her home on Norwich avenue Monday evening. The house was attractively decorated with American flags and other Washington favors. Miss Ione Breckenridge captured the first ladies' prize, a ladies' case, and Fred Frawley took the gentlemen's honors, a bill folder. The consolation went to Miss Clara Thomas, a calendar, and Robert Filling, a Washington hatcher. Following the whist several were heard in pleasing vocal solos, a duet, the Misses Louise Helm and Clara Thomas, Misses Anna Thoma, Miss Viola Chesbro; duet, Misses Jennie Kendall and Florence Weller; duet, Misses Edna Baker and Florence Weller. The feature of the evening was the presentation of a large birthday cake to Robert Wilson by William Kendall, it being Mr. Wilson's 22nd birthday. The cake was decorated with 22 small flags and was highly enjoyed by all. Mr. Wilson, who accepted the kind gift in a few well chosen words. Refreshments were served and the party broke up at a late hour.

George Lake of South State avenue was a recent visitor in Lisbon. James McCann of Providence street was a Sunday visitor in Voluntown. Oscar Archambault of Providence has gone to Canada, where his father is very sick.

James Murray has returned to his home here after visiting with friends and relatives in Watucket.

William Wholoben, who has been passing the past few days in Boston enjoying a vacation, returned home Tuesday evening.

A large number of local fans and supporters accompanied the basketball team to Williamstown Tuesday evening to witness the championship and deciding game with Baltic at the Valley street armory.

Lineups for Saturday's Game.
 In the game Saturday between the Married and Single Men in association football the lineups will be as follows: Married Men, H. Finlayson, A. Finlayson, E. Sutton, J. Blanchette, W. White, R. Hilling, W. Brown, Andrew, F. Smith, H. Brierley, J. Brooks, Single Men, F. Desjardins, J. Greenhalgh, F. Knowles, J. A. Pearson, E. Pilling, S. Armistage, W. Murdoch, W. Mather, B. Dezelles, E.  The Midnight Hawks pinhole team was defeated by Smith's team at Baltic Tuesday night by the score of 21-050 to 2020. The Midnight Hawks were as follows: Benoit, A. Beauvois, X. Beauvois, M. Letendre, J. Roy, D. Millette, J. Teller and M. Michaud. The Baltic players were Smith, Desjardins, Lavoie, Kelley, Anderson, Wilson, Duane, Reber. The Baltic team will play a return game here on Friday evening and the local men expect to make a better showing.

Silver Loving Cup on Exhibition.
 The silver loving cup that will be the trophy of the junior association football league will be on exhibition at Zine's store at Taft station. Although the plans for the organization of the league has not yet been made out it is understood that the league will be organized here that such a league will exist this coming season among the junior teams and the second team here will be represented. The proposed trophy will be made up of the circuit are Plainfield, Taftville, Baltic and Williamsville.

Baseball Directors to Meet.
 The board of directors of the baseball team are planning on holding a meeting in the near future, when matters of great importance will be thoroughly discussed and plans set for the coming season, which will open in the early part of April. It is thought that John Benson in consideration of the letter received from Manager John Hughes of the All Stars regarding the entering of a league, states that the arrangements would result in a complication of affairs.

As You Like It Club Concert.
 Before quite a number of the members of the Taftville Pinhole club the As You Like It orchestra gave its second concert Tuesday afternoon. The following musical programme was carried out: "The Proposed League," "Post and Pessant," "Uncle Sammy," "Dream Days," "Crazy Bone Rag," "I Want to Go Back to Michigan," "California and You," "My Crooked Melody," "You Are the Rose of My Heart," "Sympathy," and "America."

Pool Tournament Attracting Interest.
 The pool tournament at the Pone-mah Wheel club is attracting much interest and every evening several well played matches take place. William Kendall leads the first division, Fred Knowles the second, Frank Fitzmaurice the third and H. Rogers the fourth.

Turkey last year produced 25,000 bags of canary seed.

OLD-TIME CURE
CURE—DRINK TEA!
 Get a small package of Hamburg Brest Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieves congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

REPLENISH SUIT FOR AUTO
 Charles Russell Cooke of Voluntown Claims John A. Morgan, Jr., Gave the Car to Him—Morgan's Conservator Suing to Recover the Auto—Denies the Gift Was Made.

The court of common pleas was in session here on Tuesday with Judge C. B. Waller presiding and the trial of the case of John A. Morgan, conservator for John A. Morgan, Jr., against Charles R. Cooke of Voluntown. The case is a replevin suit which is brought to secure possession of a Ford automobile that was bought last June for $274 by John A. Morgan, Jr., and which Mr. Cooke claims was presented to him by Mr. Morgan. Mr. Morgan denies this gift to Mr. Cooke and has brought the suit to get the car back into his possession. The automobile was bought by Mr. Morgan when he was about to go out to the Cooke place last summer for a stay for the benefit of his health. Mr. Cooke was to drive him around in his car as he could not drive himself and Cooke claims that Morgan made him a present of the machine in view of that fact. Morgan denies that such a gift was made and sues for the car or its value. Witnesses for the plaintiff included

Judge of Probate Ayling and several other persons and witnesses for the defendant were himself and members of his family, who said they heard the gift made to Cooke. The testimony was all in on Tuesday and the arguments were made. Judge Waller took the papers and reserved his decision.

Decisions by Judge Waller.
 Judge Waller has handed down decisions in two cases recently tried in the court before him. In the case of John B. Gladue of Taftville against Charles J. Ryan of Colchester for the plaintiff is given for $22.70. It was a suit over the sale of some pigs by Ryan to Gladue. The latter claimed that some of them were boars and were unfit for sale. The judge denies the defendant's motion to set aside the verdict in the case of the J. Quint Co. of New Haven vs. James O'Connell and others. The suit was brought over the sale of some lumber by the Quint company which the defendant claimed was made to another party so that he was not responsible.

LENTEIN LETTER BY BISHOP BREWSTER.
 European War Not Demonstration of Backdown of Christianity.

Rev. Chauncey B. Brewster has the following Lenten letter in the February Churchman:
 "This year brings us a Lent such as our people have not known since the Civil War. The aspect of the world today is vividly reminding these solemn words: 'Upon the earth distress of nations with perplexity. . . . Men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth.' There has been some cheap proclaiming that Christianity has broken down. It were more in accordance with fact to speak of a breakdown of European civilization so far as it had suffered the domination of principles that are not Christian.

The situation, however, has another side which it were not to ignore. Let us not forget the lavish devotion, the indomitable heroism and unsparring self-sacrifice that have shown what human nature is capable of. There is, moreover, an ever growing conviction that all these fine possibilities of human nature might be elicited and developed in strenuous struggle against various evils that menace human welfare as well as in killing human beings. As never before, war is now out upon its defence before the judgment of mankind. In this wholesale slaughter of precious lives, there is seen to be not a redemptive adumbration but a redolent adumbration of the wanton and wicked waste of war.

There has been fear of the hardening effect of the daily details of the war upon the finer instincts of humanity in general. Over against that is to be considered the irresistible tide of sympathy with the need and suffering caused. This world-wide sympathy is a demonstration of human brotherhood. For it has been no shallow flow of emotion. It has been something deeper. It has meant actual self-giving, for example, the Belgian students at our school at Raleigh foregoing their Christmas festivities and giving to the relief of the Belgians the money that would have been spent on their annual dinner, to mention only these out of many instances. The impressive is the concentration of the world's attention upon the moral interests at stake in this titanic struggle. Notwithstanding attempts to divert attention and confuse issues, men generally have not been slow to recognize the moral import of the questions involved. There has been developed what is perhaps a new sensitivity touching public right and wrong which is deep and significant.

Finally we witness a step to much of the frivolity and fever of life a steady-ness of pulse and sobering of desire. There is a solemn hush, which means more serious thought, more earnestness of purpose. Men are turning from trivialities to tremendous realities. They are turning to God as their refuge and strength. We have reason to expect a real quickening of the things of God, as this means for the Church and its members opportunity and demand.

NOTHING IN RUMOR
 SAYS GENERAL COLE

Knows Nothing of Plan to Have Connecticut Militia Defend the Coast.
 Concerning a report that plans had been outlined in an order from the war department to send the Connecticut National Guard to defend the coast, in case the United States became involved in war, and that the adjutant-general had been sent to a training camp for state troops in such case, General George M. Cole, the adjutant-general, said Tuesday that he had not heard anything of the kind. "I have received no such communication from Washington," said the general, "and I should think you would be likely to know about any such matter."

The general added that what probably gave rise to the report was a circular sent out from the divisions of militia affairs of the war department some time ago, in which the organizations of National Guard of Connecticut National Guard was summarized and the Niantic camp referred to.

Washington Social For Bridgeport Guest.
 On Saturday evening a Washington social was held at the home of Albert A. Gulle, No. 4 Kinross street, in honor of his guest, A. C. Woodhall of Bridgeport. The house was attractively decorated in the national colors and there were about fifteen present. Musical selections were rendered by Miss Edith Maynard and Miss Mary Gray, Piano, Mr. Woodhall, mandolin, and Miss Elizabeth Lantz, violin. Games were played and refreshments were served. The delightful evening came to a close at a late hour.

Mr. Woodhall returned to his home in Bridgeport this week. Will Give Dramatic Recital. Arrangements have been made for a dramatic recital in Trinity Methodist Episcopal church by Miss Beesie G. Whitney of Boston.

ABOVE ALL ELSE WASHINGTON WAS RELIGIOUS
 Rev. Dr. Slocum Makes This Point in Shop Talk at Cutlery.

Rev. Joel B. Slocum, D. D., pastor of the Central Baptist church, was the speaker at the shop talk at the Cutlery plant at noon on Tuesday, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., and his subject was George Washington, Dr. Slocum said that George Washington had just celebrated the birthday of our foremost American. If it had not been for him it is doubtful if there would be a public school in the United States. Only through his masterly ability was our stable government constructed out of what must have seemed at the time impossible conditions. There has been a good deal of discussion as to whether Washington was a genius. Certainly his capacity for doing good things amounted to genius. He was remarkable in the combination of his characteristics. He was most richly gifted physically. Six feet two inches tall and weighing two hundred pounds; an all around athlete. He was keenly alert mentally. His was not a school boy's intellect. He was greater than either of these men in the combination of his virtues. He was systematic and painstaking in everything he did. He was bold and aggressive in all his undertakings. He was a past master in the possession and use of common sense.

Washington was absolutely incorruptible and never for sale. He was wealthy and refused to receive a penny for his services in the long campaign. He kept an accurate account of his actual expenses and received reimbursement only for his out-of-pocket expenses. Besides, he put a large part of his private fortune into the war fund. Many another man, since his day, in public office, has been tempted to abuse his country. Not many have put their fortunes into the treasury of their country for which they profess themselves willing to die.

Washington was preeminently a soldier. The brilliant success of his campaign was due very largely to his unusual ability as an organizer and tactician. He inspired the confidence of his troops. He was quick to comprehend the situation and to take the most favorable course. He was a fair and generous in his ability to extricate himself from the traps of the enemy. Throughout all these qualities, he was a man of the highest character, a man of the highest integrity, a man of the highest courage. When the campaign was over, in modesty he went back to his estate and his family.

But he was allowed to remain there only a short time. Again his country called him to the presidency. And his work as statesman was even more remarkable than his accomplishments as a soldier. Above everything else, the character of Washington was that of a man organized and depended upon God. Some people think they are great enough to get along without God. Not so with Washington. He was a man of God. He served the Lord's Day. He was regular in his attendance upon the services of the church. He was a man of prayer. He sometimes traveled ten miles in order to attend some service. He was a devout Episcopalian, but tolerant of other forms. He was, however, no toleration for infidelity. Robert Lewis, his nephew and private secretary, tells of witnessing his devotions in the library, morning and evening. Many a time he had seen his uncle prostrate with the Bible before him. In that awful winter at Valley Forge, in the stillness of the night, there was a time he cried out to God for help. On the morning of his departure for White Plains he was seen in the company of Clatterton Hill, General Washington in the presence of members of his family and others, read Joshua the 24th chapter, which is the record of the tribes, gathering for battle, saying, in their prayer of dedication: "If it be to rebel, or if in trespass against Jehovah, we will not be this day." Such was the spirit of Washington.

AT THE DAVIS.
 Vaudeville and Motion Pictures.

The bill of vaudeville and motion pictures which opened at the Davis theatre on Monday was one that won entire favor with the good sized houses at the theatre. The evening hours. It was headed by the musical number put on by the Bon Tom Comedian and who combined with their pleasing voices an excellent musical comedy. Comedy of the knockabout variety that sent the house into roars of laughter, were the offerings of the Hamilton Bros. Something of novelty that was put on by Corman, who is a hoop roller, whose expressness is marvellous and well timed.

On the motion picture bill, the feature was The Country Chairman, a big five part reel, that is an especially interesting story. There were also The Mutual Movies, a football drama reel and the ever laughable Keystone comedy.

WITH BOSTON ELKS.
 Esteemed Leading Knight Miles of Norwich Lodge Enjoyed Interesting Experiences.

Laurence E. Miles, esteemed leading knight of the Norwich lodge of Elks No. 1234, was in town Tuesday at the State House in Boston on Washington's birthday, as a guest of Boston lodge. At noon he witnessed a reception in the hall of the lodge where a reception was tendered to Mayor Curley of Boston, who was the orator of the day.

It is well that we of this generation should emulate his virtues and take example from his religious devotion.

However, no one knew what church the fugitive was supposed to have taken place in.

IS TOMMYROT
 So Says Senator Brandegee to Senate—Question Is One of Common Sense.

A despatch from Washington says that Senator Brandegee of Connecticut told the senate Monday that the doctrine of Secretary Bryan about turning swords into plowshares is tommyrot. "I regard it my duty as a senator to warn the people of this country that they have been and are living in a fool's paradise," said Mr. Brandegee. "The talk of universal peace, under the present conditions is in effect treason to this country. I do not propose," he said, "to sit here and see the pillars of the temple of the world crashing about me, lulling myself to sleep with any talk of universal peace!"
