WANTS PARTITION OF CENTRAL WHARF PROPERTY

John C. Morgan Asks Court to Distribute the Interests of Three Owners.

In the superior court at New London on Monday, Judge William L. Bennett presided when the court case of John C. Morgan of Norwich against Annie E. Huntington of West Point and Frederick L. Colwell, Jr., of Brooklyn, administrator of the estate of Marion Davis Colwell, was tried.

It is a contest over the division of property on Central wharf, Norwich. The plaintiff alleges that he and the defendants are in possession of tenants in common of the southwest quarter of Central wharf and has an undivided one-half interest together with the estate of Mrs. Colwell, subject to the dower right of Mrs. Annie E. Huntington.

On Aug. 31, 1912, the premises were destroyed by fire and the plaintiff collected $8,750 insurance, which he deposited in the First National bank. Interest amounting to $238 on Aug. 15, 1914 was credited from this amount to the plaintiff paid taxes on the property for 1913 and 1914 of $690. He also expended $200 for clearing up the debris after the fire. On Feb. 4, 1913, Marion Davis Colwell died intestate and Frederick L. Colwell, Jr., was appointed administrator. Subsequently the plaintiff deposited the money in the Norwich Savings society.

He alleges that the defendants make conflicting claims in regard to the distribution of the property and he brings suit to have the court partition the property as he cannot justly distribute it without adjudication.

Charles E. Chandler of Norwich, a civil engineer, exhibited a plan of the wharf and of the property in dispute and explained it at length to the jury.

John C. Morgan, the plaintiff, was the next witness and said that a lumber and coal business had been conducted on the wharf for the past 100 years, first by his grandfather, then by his father and now by himself. He has conducted the business for 54 years. The witness explained the location of the office buildings, coal bins, hoisting engine, etc., and placed the valuation of the property at $20,000. He told of the fire and of collecting the insurance money and of later depositing it and paying and making other expenditures.

The case was completed during the day and the arguments were made by Attorney C. L. Stewart and Attorney Herbert W. Rathbun. Judge Bennett took the papers, reserving decision.

ORGANIZATION TO BUY LAND IN PALESTINE

Formed After Hearing Address by S. Frankel Before Zionists.

Under the auspices of the Sons of Zion camp, S. Frankel spoke here on Sunday evening before a good sized audience in the Colburn hall in the interest of the Jewish national fund. Mr. Frankel's family is in Palestine and he came here just before the war started. From his personal knowledge of conditions in Palestine under the Zionist movement, he related many interesting and instructive facts, which he said were of great value to the people in general and to the communities which have been established under the Zionist movement, with a total population of 110,000. He stated that the people in them, although reports are to the contrary, enjoy full freedom without interference from the Turkish government as to the conduct of their schools. For the past 4000 years he said they had enjoyed religious freedom there, for the wild Arabians in the past were pictured by the civilized Christians and that the reports of massacres among the Jews were all exaggerations.

He is interested in inducing the Jewish people to buy land in Palestine, and after his address had been given an organization for that purpose was formed. The Jewish national fund has now reached a total of seven million francs.

M. A. Botwick was chairman of the meeting and introduced the speaker. After the meeting Mr. Frankel and the officers met at the home of Abner Schwartz at No. 2 School street, where they discussed plans.

While in the city Mr. Frankel is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz.
