BURGLAR MADE ENTRY. But Nothing Known to Have Been Taken at Schwartz Bros.

A pane of glass knocked out of a side door and the door standing ajar, with the lock of the front door tampered with so that it was out of order, were the signs of entry by a burglar discovered at Schwartz Bros.' furniture store on Water street when it was opened Friday morning.

It could not be found that anything was taken. The safe had no money in it and is always left unlocked.

The policeman on the beat told the proprietors that he had seen the burglar, 3.30 in the morning before going off the beat. They were all right then.

NO MORE CASES OF FOOT AND MOUTH. But Some Places Under Supervision for Suspected Cases.

Federal Officer C. J. Becker, who has come here to investigate cases of the foot and mouth disease among cattle in this county, reported on Friday that there has been no new cases discovered and it is now thought that the disease has been checked. Friday inspection work in the state was carried on by Dr. Wesley M. Goff for the federal government and Dr. N. B. Pennell Shaw for the state. R. N. J. M. Curry, state inspector, went to Bozrah, Dr. H. E. Smith for the federal government and Dr. N. G. Gray occupied their time Friday following specially suspected cases. Mr. Becker remains at the Wauregan house, his headquarters while he is in the city, and is kept busy answering questions. Cattle dealers are anxious about the situation, as the strict quarantine affects them considerably.

Charles Watson Briggs. Following a serious illness of several months, due to a complication of diseases, Charles Watson Briggs died at his home, No. 175 Broadway, Friday afternoon about 1 o'clock. He had been in ill health for three or four years and had been confined to his room for several months past.

Mr. Briggs was born in the late Lucius Briggs and was born in Groverdale, Windham county, on Oct. 2, 1865. Mr. Briggs attended the high schools at Thompson and later the Highland Military academy, at Worcester, Mass., graduating from there in 1874. After leaving the academy he entered the employ of the Groverdale company, where his father was superintendent. He began at the bottom and worked his way up to the position of assistant superintendent, filling this position until 1879. That year his father purchased a mill at Haydenville, Mass., and he was appointed superintendent of the newly acquired mill, continuing in this position until his father bought the mills at Glasco, consolidating his own with those of his father.

Mr. Briggs then went to Boston as a special agent of the company for two years, when he was sent to New York, filling the same position until 1893, when his father sold his interests to the American Thread company. Mr. Briggs then entered the field of folding board paper business at Bogota, Bergen county, N. J., acting as treasurer and general manager of the Bogota Paper company. He conducted the business for five years during which time he increased the capacity of the factory from 7 tons to 25 tons per day. The Bogota paper company was one of the largest concerns of its kind in the country.

In July, 1902, the company sold out to the paper trust and Mr. Briggs came to Norwich. Mr. Briggs was a director of the Davenport Fire Arms company and about a year ago he entered business under the name of the Knitting company, manufacturing sweaters, coats, etc., with a factory on Chestnut street.

In February, 1910, Mr. Briggs was united in marriage with Sadie Elizabeth Horne, a native of Soremsworth, N. H., and daughter of Samuel P. and Mary Horne. Three children, Leander, Lucius, Charles Walter, and Robert Elmer Briggs. Mr. Briggs was a republican in political faith and attended Park Congregational church.

Mr. Briggs held the high esteem of all his friends and acquaintances for his business integrity and the principles which he followed throughout his life. He was of a fine type of citizen who set a worthy example in the community.

Mrs. John H. Platt. Julia Chester Goddard, widow of John H. Platt, and a native of Salem, died in New London on Wednesday at the age of 76 years. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi H. Goddard and in this city on Sept. 14, 1835, she was united in marriage with John H. Platt by Rev. Allan Bond, D. D. Mr. Platt was a native of Norwich.

For some years Mrs. Platt conducted a school for young ladies at Norwich Town and later she conducted a large school in Utica. She retired in 1900 and had since resided in New London. She is survived by her only son, P. Goddard, of Baltimore, a former Norwich newspaperman. There also survive nieces and nephews. While in Norwich Mrs. Platt was a member of Park Congregational church. She is kindly remembered by many Norwich people.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR HARTFORD

Norwich Citizens Oppose Separation of Town to Travel to Capitol Next Tuesday to Attend Hearing—Will Make Big Counter Demonstration to Advocates of Proposed Bill—Canvassing the Town to Secure Trainful.

To carry out the vote of a meeting held Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Board of Trade rooms in the Thayer building a committee will today canvass the town in order to secure the names of those who will go to Hartford on a special train for the purpose of showing before the committee on Hartford on Tuesday their opposition to the proposed bill to create the town of Old Norwich out of the present town of Norwich.

Fifty names were secured in the meeting on Friday but the effort will be to greatly increase this number so as to make a counter demonstration in numbers to the men that will go to Hartford in support of the measure. This number it was stated would be no inconsiderable one as the Ponemah company is to shut down its mill at Tatville on that day and will pay the fares and give a lunch for all who will go to appear in favor of the bill.

Mayor T. C. Murphy called the meeting to order. Those attending were those whom he had named at the meeting last Tuesday evening to go to Hartford in opposition to the partition bill.

The mayor spoke of the great need that a special train be secured against the measure and called upon A. A. Browning to speak upon the subject. Browning said that he considered it was worth making an effort to do it. The opposition have secured the names of all the officials in the House of Hartford assisted by Mr. Carpenter of Putnam and are exerting every effort to push the thing to a success. On the other hand, they will take an hour in presenting their side of the case, but if they take longer than that they will be asked to leave a hard time to get in their side of the case.

The advocates of this measure said had claims, that they started the move because of their fear of annexation, but now they say they are going ahead with it anyway even if they are for one whom they had known and loved in life.

Corporation Counsel Joseph T. Fanning was called upon and emphasized that the measure would be a large representation of the citizens to appear against the measure. Frank J. King replied to a question that a special train be secured on the railroad fare could be secured if more than 10 people would go. Later Mr. King, Judge Nelson J. Gilchrist, J. A. Robinson, D. T. Sheehan, placed on the transportation committee to arrange for the special train which was voted for.

While they were busy with this, Chemical company No. 2 which had a large quantity of lumber in the Main street station, had a call again to the dump, where a pile of rough chestnut lumber had caught fire, probably from a spark blown by the wind from the other previous fire. Water from a 600 foot line of hose was used to put out this fire. The lumber belonged to A. L. Potter & Co.

COUPE WHEEL COLLAPSED. When Struck by Wheel of Mail Wagon on Main Street.

When William Higgins, driver of the U. S. mail wagon, attempted to pass a coupe driven by Fred M. Packer on Main street about 9 o'clock Friday night, the mail wagon struck the right rear wheel of the coupe, causing it to collapse. The accident happened in front of the United States store on Main street and both drivers were bound towards the square. The driver of the coupe, who was riding on the right of the coupe, but the wagon did not quite clear. A young woman riding inside the coupe escaped injury except a slight bruise. Next came John Thomas J. Flizargard in his automobile. Mr. Packer secured a long wooden joist and by supporting the hub of the wheel on it, was able to remove the coupe. Both drivers were proceeding at a moderate rate at the time of the accident.

AT THE DAVIS. Vaudeville and Photoplays. For the midweek change the Davis management staged another vaudeville show and the various acts on the bill were highly appreciated by the good sized houses. The topnotcher was the comedy duo of Fred and Edna, of Wentworth, Vesta and Teddy, a pair of very clever funny-makers with an unusually clever little song, "The Song of the Doves," which was heard in a rapid fire line of comedy talk, interspersed with catchy song numbers. Grace Allison, a clever little songster, who is an actor change artist, was the third vaudeville attraction, delighting her audiences with her renditions and recitations.

The Straight Road, featuring Gladys Hanson, was up to the movie standard. Mutual novelty for the evening, "The Stone Comedies" with Ford Sterling, who has returned to the fold, completed the attractive programme.

Completing Building and Loan. After one more meeting in the interests of the building and loan association, fostered by the Norwich Chamber of Commerce, it is expected that the bylaws will be accepted and the report of the organization committee will be received. That meeting is to be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the time the directors of the Chamber of Commerce are to meet together.

Had to Amputate Finger. Malin Mackach, of Oakdale, employed at a Monville mill, suffered a painful laceration of his hand Friday day when that member was caught in a picking machine. He was taken to a hospital in New London, where it was found necessary to amputate one of the fingers.

New London Disputant. Iamar Baruch, Brown, '15, of New London, was a member of the Brown university debating team which debated with Dartmouth Friday night in Providence on the question: Resolved, That the United States Should Increase Her Standing Army to at Least Double Its Present Numerical Strength.

Turbot lay 14,000,000 eggs in a season, and cod, 9,000,000.

FEES ON COMMERCIAL CARS BY THEIR WEIGHT.

Trucks Over Five Tons Will Pay Heavily—No Local Regulation of Speed.

The general automobile bill which operators of motor cars have been waiting for some time was reported to the house on Friday by Chairman Macdonald of the roads, rivers and bridges committee. It provides that in the matter of registration fees, those on pleasure vehicles will remain unchanged. The fees on commercial vehicles are graded according to weight, and heavy fees are imposed upon trucks which run over five tons in weight. The fee for a one ton truck is $15; one and a half tons, $20; two tons, $25; two and a half tons, $30; and so on up to ten tons, wherein the fee is $225. For each additional ton over ten the fee is $50. The bill provides also that a police officer or a constable making an arrest for violation of the automobile law must wear the badge of his office conspicuously displayed on his outer wearing apparel. This change in the muffler restriction says that machines must be reasonably muffled between 3 p. m. and 7 a. m.

Manufacturers and dealers are pleased upon their good faith in operating cars under their special license. The secretary of state is given the right to determine the actual carrying power of a vehicle, regarding its horsepower. He could also exercise his judgment in determining the status of a motorcycle with a sidecar attached in hearing charges of violations of the law the secretary of state may hold them in any county and may use any courtroom for the purpose, and may be assisted by a sheriff or a deputy to preserve order, the sheriff fees to be included as a portion of the costs. Automobiles traveling through streets and approaching trolley cars which have stopped to discharge passengers must come to a full stop not less than 10 feet from the trolley car, and the rear of the car. The automobiles may then proceed at a reasonable rate of speed. No local authority is permitted to make any regulation relating to speed of automobiles.

It is understood that no bill will be reported to control the use of headlights on automobiles coming to many difficulties in meeting this problem.

Orphan Boy to County Home. Raymond Coleman of New London an eight year old lad whose parents are dead, was committed to the county home Friday afternoon by Judge of Probate Calkins in New London.

School Vacation for Easter. The Easter vacation for the schools began on Friday. The boys and girls will have freedom from books for a week.

Incidents in Society. Frank Edward Johnson has returned from Washington.

Mrs. Browner is visiting her mother, Mrs. William B. Birge, of Huntington Place.

Miss Myrtle Jordan of Willimantic is visiting Miss Edith Pierson of West Main street for several days.

Miss C. C. Bachele, a member of the faculty of Miss Masters' school at Dobbs Ferry-on-the-Hudson, comes to her home on East Town street this week for the Easter recess.

Miss Elizabeth Howland, a student at Mrs. Dow's school, Briar-Cliff-on-the-Hudson, and a school friend, Miss Mabel Hubbard, from California, are at Miss Howland's home for the Easter vacation.

The wedding of Miss Dorothy Doubleday, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Doubleday, and Frederick Huntington Babcock, of Providence, R. I., is announced, May 19th, in Christ Episcopal church, Oyster Bay, L. I., with a reception at the Doubleday country place, Babcock is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Babcock of Providence (the latter was formerly of Norwich). He is a nephew of Mrs. Oliver L. Johnson of Union street.

Protective Uniforms. There has never been a war in which the development of uniform has gone on so continuously. In the usual way and in wars of the past observers may have noted the course of actual campaign that such or such a part of equipment was unsuitable to actual campaigning, but years passed before any change was made. In the many generations, in the Napoleonic wars it was thought that one English commander was a wonderful innovator because he modified the fashionable Georgian uniform of men serving in the British West Indies, but in point of fact the change was not made till hundreds of years later.

But in this war every circumstance seems to produce its appropriate garb. In the snow-clad Vosges and in eastern Prussia the German patrols have been provided with white cloaks as the right protective coloring in a snow-clad landscape. The French cavalry has abandoned almost without murmur their famous baggy red breeches in favor of khaki. The British officer at the front has discarded everything which was washed and worn too plainly from the private. Again at sea, the war has produced extraordinary modifications of uniform, and no one who has seen the British blue-jacket in full kit on some ceremonial occasion would recognize him in the weather-beaten individual in rubber boots, macintosh and rubber goggles who guards our homes—Manchester Guardian.

Islands of Refuge. The Prince Islands in the Sea of Marmora have been a place of exile in all ages. In Byzantine times the savage Empress Irene was shut up in a nunnery upon Prinkipo, the chief island. At the time of the Young Turk revolution the worst officials of the Yildiz gang were interned here, though they were politely termed "guests" of the islands. Afterwards the Marmara Islands became the dumping ground of the wretched dogs of Constantinople, which the reforms of the Young Turks directly led to death, though they had no scruples about leaving them to starve and perish of hunger tempered by cannibalism. Exchange.

Our Shadow. Everyone of us casts a shadow. There hangs above us a sort of penumbra—a strange, indefinable something—which we call the personal influence, which has its effect on every other life on which it falls. It goes with us wherever we go. It is not something we can have when we will, as we lay aside a garment. It is something that always pours out from our life like light from a lamp, like heat from a flame, like perfume from a flower.—J. R. Miller.

Eyeight of the Indian. American Indians claim that they can see at least one-tenth farther than the average white man.

To Have Pretty Hair

If your hair is not as soft and pretty, or as fresh and full as that of some friend, do as she does—give it daily attention, just the same care as you would give a plant to make it healthy and beautiful. Luxuriant hair—soft, fluffy, thick and lustrous—is really a matter of care. If it is too thin stimulate the hair roots and bring out the new hairs. If it is too dry and brittle, soften it up—lubricate it. If you have dandruff it's because the scalp is too dry and flakes off. Freshen up the scalp and the dandruff disappears.

An inexpensive tonic, called Parisian Sage, which you can get from any drug store, or from Lee & Osgood Co., is just what you need—it softens the scalp, nourishes and invigorates the hair of dust and excess oil. Parisian Sage takes away the dryness and brittleness, makes the hair seem twice as abundant and beautifies it until it is soft and lustrous.

By the use of this helpful tonic any woman can easily make her hair beautiful, and pretty hair surely increases charm and beauty.
