

EACH CARE HAS ITS DAY—EACH DAY ITS CARE

EVERY WOMAN'S OPPORTUNITY

The Bulletin wants good home letters; good business letters; good helpful letters of any kind the mind may suggest. They should be in hand by Wednesday of each week. Write on but one side of the paper.

Address, SOCIAL CORNER EDITOR, Bulletin Office, Norwich, Conn.

THREE PRIZES MONTHLY: $2.50 to first; $1.50 to second; $1.00 to third. Award made the last Saturday in each month.

SOCIAL CORNER POEMS.

The Coming of Ruth.

Didn't bring her baggage, Didn't own a stitch; Poorer than a church mouse, Yet she made us rich.

Don't know why she chose us; Guess she must have known She'd find here a sceptre, Make our hearts her throne.

Got to give my time to Mother Goose and toys; Start to learn all joys Things a child enjoys.

I would be true for there are those who care; I would be pure for there are those who care; I would be strong for there is much to suffer;

I would be brave for there is much to dare; I would be friend of all the foe—the friendless; I would be given, and forget the gift; I would be humble, for I know my weakness;

I would look up—and laugh—and love, and lift. —Southern Christian Advocate.

INQUIRIES AND ANSWERS.

POLLYANNA: The Editor of the Social Corner is a busy man. He pays so little attention to birthdays he hardly knows himself when they happen.

A SURPRISE FOR GRANDMA. Dear Social Corner Sisters: I have a few minutes to spare, so will write to the Corner...

First, I want to thank all those who have sent me birthday cards the second of this month.

Antique, Aunt Abby, Aunt No. 1, I'll answer your cards before long.

Biddy: Wish we could give Great Grandma a surprise May 16th.

Peggy: I have a card for you, you've changed your name. Congratulations!

Janette: I'm so sorry for you. You have my deepest sympathies.

Blanc: How do you like your new home? Do you get homelick for so, W?

Fopover: How are the pictures coming?

Fairy: What about Jimmy? Is it a secret?

Prima: Rumber: I think "Still water" suits you as well as C. R.

Chatterbox: Why don't you write? I have a cousin who lives near me.

I must close now and get a lunch and then he away for C. E. meeting.

GREETINGS FROM CRIMSON RAMBLER. Dear Corner Folks: Just a few moments of your precious time, as I love to drop a card to you.

Paula: Yes, I received your card—but not the promised call yet.

Chrysanthemum: What a lovely little card! I'm so glad to hear from you, Clover Leaf and myself.

Pansy: I was much surprised to discover your identity. Do you remember the day I met you at my father's quite a little while ago?

est writers won't know you are. Morning Glory: Sent you a card for the one I received.

CRIMSON RAMBLER. Thanks for it. Hope to meet you some day.

DOM PEDRO'S SUNSHINE BAG. Dear Editor and Social Corner Writers: Well, here I am again, and greet you all once more, after all the weeks and months of illness.

First of all, I must thank our kind Editor for his thoughtful kindness in packing up the letters and sending me a shower of birthday cards, and I wish to thank the sisters for responding so promptly to my call.

AN EXPERIMENT IN CRITICISM

Mary Anna lived in a little cottage at the cross roads, not so very far from the village, and just far enough from neighbors so that she was often lonely from lack of some one to talk to.

So one day when the mail carrier brought a letter from the old school friend, Mary Etta, she read its contents with delight.

Mary Etta had been teaching for so many years she was tired. Now she wanted a change and a chance to rest.

"I don't want to board," she wrote. "I am tired of that but to keep house. Can you let me have a couple of rooms, so that I may cook, and sweep and wash dishes to my heart's content?"

Mary Anna hesitated a little, much to the desire of her heart. "Well, anyway," she soliloquized, "the parlor will need doing over next year."

As soon as possible Mary Etta arrived, bring with her all things necessary for her light housekeeping.

It did not take long to get "settled" in the small apartment, and the necessary daily work was so slight that before long Mary Etta found she had more time to devote to her own work.

Mary Anna was giving vigorous expression to the shiftless and slovenly ways of a neighbor whose house could just be seen far across the fields.

"I wouldn't be so bad if she was willing to learn, but I've tried to tell her sometimes about how to do a better job, and she never got real hurt."

"Yes," indeed, said Mary Etta. "I'm sure if there's anything I'm not neat about I'd be glad to have anybody tell me about it."

"There," said Mary Anna, "I don't believe anybody about here is any neater than I am. I'll be glad to give anybody a chance to call me slack."

When he had passed out of hearing, his co-worker said, "Do you know that he is the superintendent of schools?"

CRIMSON RAMBLER'S 23rd ANNIVERSARY.

Dear Social Corner Sisters:—One of the Social Corner usual fair days was on hand for the meeting of Club No. 2, which was held at the home of Crimson Rambler, President.

The crowd took the car at Franklin square and were met by Mr. Crimson Rambler in his latest style jitney bus.

The ride up will long be remembered as one of the jolliest and jolliest, only one accident happening, a tire being blown out but no serious damage resulted.

The jolly crowd arrived safely, thanks to the driver, and were met by chauffeur. A number of the younger girls could not contain themselves and got out and walked and ran, eating luscious chocolate cake.

Crimson Rambler's smiling face was seen in the door watching for us, and seeing that we had all arrived, she soon sat us down to fill up, and we all certainly did full justice to the salads, sandwiches, cake, doughnuts, cheese, fruit and food that were before us, although they weren't before us very long.

The return trip was made at a late hour after voting Crimson Rambler an A. I was obliged to leave on an earlier car on account of a very urgent call from a patient, so missed the happy ride home.

IDEAL SPRING OUTFIT FOR A WOMAN WHO DOES HER OWN WORK. First three knit undervests with short sleeves; a pair of long-sleeved drawers and nightdresses plain enough to be easy to iron; two of each more of the same kind.

Machine Oil Stains should be rubbed with soap and cold water. Hot water may make these stains permanent.

Perspiration Stains should be removed by rubbing with soap and lathering the garment in the hot sun.

To Take Out Greas Stains—Wash the stained part in alcohol and rinse in clear water if possible while the stain is still wet.

To Remove Blood Stains—Saturate with kerosene oil and let stand a few moments, then wash in cold water.

How to Clean Fine Laces, either black or white, and made of wool or silk, may be cleaned by washing in a solution of one part of ammonia to ten parts of water.

way to suggest the word must take his place.

Going to Jerusalem.—Take as many chairs as there are players, less one place them in a row, every other one facing the opposite direction; let some of the chairs be turned so that the players all march around the chair in a circle, touching them, when suddenly the organist stops and the players seat themselves all but one who gives a riddle; a chair; he drops out and a chair is removed; this is repeated until only one is left—the winner.

Three cheers for Crimson Rambler and the jitney driver. The ride up will long be remembered as one of the jolliest and jolliest, only one accident happening, a tire being blown out but no serious damage resulted.

LADIES' SLEEVES.

These styles comprise the latest sleeve forms. No. 1 and No. 2 show a good sleeve for shirtwaists or blouses. No. 3 is excellent for bodices and semi-dressy gowns, while No. 4 is used for gowns, kimonos and separate waists.

Another—All stand in a circle with one player on the outside who touches and runs around circle; the one touched must run in an opposite direction. The one who gets to the place where the other stood who was "hit" keeps it, and the other starts around the circle touching some one else, and so on.

A Guessing Game—Divide the players into two companies who choose their captain. They go one side and choose a word, then act it out, while the other side tries to guess what it is. Only three guesses are allowed, and the ones who have an idea of the word must be first to their captain, and then the captain asks all the other players what they think about it, so as to be careful not to make a wrong guess.

Nodum.—The players sit in a circle with one vacant chair. Some one stands behind every chair. The one who has the vacant chair goes to nod to some one in one of the other chairs and they jump up and go and sit in that chair, while the one who is behind the chair tries to prevent their leaving the chair they are in.

A paper moon—A patent skirt lifter for union skins—Last of the redskins. A dirty lantern—The light of other days. A perfect match—Hope of anxious mamas.

A head of cabbage—Study of a head. A dog in a coat—A dog in a coat. A baked potato bustled—Bust of a great commentator.

Two old shoes around a bottle of calumet—Wear soldiers around the camp fire. A piece of rope pinned up to form a U with a 2 in it—We two alone in Europe.

Bell-A popular young lady. A postage stamp—Waiting to be mailed. Have a number of lists of the ones who are hunting for the essential test of a cure. On this point doubt can no longer exist, for after many years those who have been cured, emphatically declare their cures to be lasting.

Change Chairs—All sit around in a circle with one in the center blindfolded. The one in the center calls out two numbers who change places immediately. Get a great centre endeavoring to catch them. If caught, and the one who caught them cannot guess who it is, they let them go. If they guess right, the one in the center cannot catch any one she may call 100 and everyone must change seats. If you are not sure, get the one left standing must take her place.

A NORWICH INQUIRY

Answered By the Statement Of a Norwich Resident. When first the long series of reports of Norwich people who have been relieved by Doan's Kidney Pills were published in the local press, great enthusiasm and interest were aroused. But Norwich is now inquiring "How are these people keeping today?"
