JUDGE WILL CHARGE JURY

IN DOG BITING CASE.

Verdict Can Be Expected This Morning in Street vs. Leemis.

In the superior court all day Thursday the case of John W. Street vs. Anton Leemis was on trial before Judge Gardiner Greene and a jury and when court adjourned at 4:30 the arguments by the attorneys had been made.

Judge Greene told the jury on the case that they were to come back on Friday morning when he would make his charge to them and put the case into their hands, and when they were ready to announce a verdict he would interrupt the short called proceedings in order to hear it.

Street is suing Leemis for $5,000 for damages for the bit of a dog.

The plaintiff introduced two witnesses Thursday, Mary Eliza Geer and Edna May Geer, resting his case at 10:31. The defendant had his evidence all in by 11:45 when both sides rested.

Witnesses for the defense were William Lewis McHale and a young woman with whom he was walking along Thames street on the evening of Feb. 25, 1914, the night of the occurrence. Mr. Street, they said, was about 50 feet ahead of them and they saw him make a pass at the dog with his foot but did not see him bitten. John Francis Sheridan corroborated them in general, and Timothy Gallivan testified that Street came to see him to find out who was the watchman at the Richmond Radiator plant.

Attorneys C. V. James and A. M. Brown made arguments for the defendant and were opposed in argument by Attorney C. W. Comstock, who is counsel for Mr. Street.

Attorney Brown argued that the whole thing was so trivial that if any damages at all were to be given $25 ought to be a topnotch figure, while Attorney Comstock argued that his client had lost at least $305 by the time he had been out of work on account of his injuries.

HAD MAYFLOWER GUESTS

Annual May Meeting With Mrs. Nelson D. Robinson—Mrs. Sara T. Kinney, Governor of Society of Mayflower Descendants, Was Guest of Honor—Club Invited to Picnic With Mrs. George M. Miner in July.

A perfect day for a picnic was the one chosen by Mrs. Nelson D. Robinson for the annual play meeting of the Mayflower club, held at her home at Norwich Town on Thursday. And a perfect day in every sense of the word was the vote of the 25 ladies who enjoyed Mrs. Robinson's hospitality.

This was the first meeting of the club since last November and the morning was pleasantly passed in greetings and to the guest of honor, Mrs. Sara T. Kinney of Hartford, the Governor of the Society of Mayflower Descendants. She said she had been invited to the usual delicious and beautiful luncheon was served at 1:30 p. m. and decorations in the society colors, pink and white, were everywhere. The dainty pink baskets filled with bonbons and bouquets of pansies.

After luncheon, the fun began in earnest with the president, Mrs. Christopher Morgan as toastmistress. She first extended greetings to the governor, whose presence at this 13th annual play meeting she said she had been kept in a sense of mystery as to what these meetings were like and had been told that nothing would be given and that the evening would be merry. Nevertheless, she had surmised that it was a pious occasion and prepared her little sermon.

The substance of this was her hearty approval of a club of this kind, merely for social relations in a day when the strenuous working club is so much required and she hoped that such a club might be adopted in other parts of the state.

Mrs. John L. Branch was next called upon and Miss George D. Wheeler followed with original poem upon club matters and members. Mrs. Nelson D. Robinson also added much to the general frolic with her clever bits in her paper upon the history of the club. Mrs. E. P. Bishop read an original poem and the Chataqua salute was given to its author, Mrs. Kinney. At the roll call by the secretary, Miss Phoebe Brewster, each responded with the name of her Mayflower ancestor.

Mrs. Morgan in behalf of the club presented Mrs. Robinson with a prettily decorated card and Mrs. George D. Miner extended an invitation to picnic with her next July.

The present officers were all re-elected. Mrs. Christopher Morgan, president; Mrs. Nelson D. Robinson, treasurer; and Miss Phoebe B. Brewster, secretary.

Later the company adjourned to the orchard where an impromptu entertainment was given by nine of the members. This was a visit of Prof. Fehersworth to the school of Miss Mrs. Frank D. Greene, New London; Mrs. George D. Wheeler, Stonington; Mrs. George A. Haskell, Mrs. C. I. Ladd, Jewett City; Miss Volney Thomas, Plainfield; Mrs. Charles B. Graves, Mrs. Joseph L.
