IRELAND TO MILLIONS

MICHAEL CUDAHY, The Packer King, Who Came From Ireland a Poor Boy.

Early in the last half of the nineteenth century a happy family left the Emerald Isle for America. Patrick Cudahy was rich in song and nothing else. By trade a butcher, he soon moved his family from New York to Milwaukee, where the meat industry was then in its infancy.

Michael Cudahy was a good butcher before he left school. Leaving his father's shop to make room for a younger brother, he found employment with a large packing house and before long his skill and ability secured for him the management of the Plankinton & Armour plant.

Through his thrift and wonderful initiative made such an impression on the late P. D. Armour that the latter invited him into a partnership which lasted a number of years.

In the meantime the other Cudahy boys had graduated from the little shop, become expert packers, all thrifty and laying by a substantial portion of their earnings, and from these savings, arose the firm of Cudahy Bros. and The Cudahy Packing Co., with Michael Cudahy as president and his brothers as principal stockholders and active executives; plants being located in Milwaukee, Omaha, Sioux City, Los Angeles and distributing depots in all the principal cities.

If poor Irish boys can accomplish all this by saving their small earnings, what could you do if you systematically set aside a portion of the amount you receive each week or month?
