YANTIC

Haymakers Stir Up Big Copperhead Shake-Up of Local Notes.

While Mr. and Mrs. Franklin and his son Earle were making hay in their meadow Thursday afternoon, they struck up a genuine copperhead snake. Earle W. struck the snake with a blow of the rake and Mr. Wray caught the reptile on the plowhook and placed him in a box, lacing a wire netting over the snake. The snake was three inches in diameter through the thickest part of its body and has been viewed the greatest of his kind in this area in these parts and very venomous. Charles Barrel has resumed work for the Adams Woolen company after three days absence from work here. Some of the wistaria vines around here are in blossom for the second time this year.

STORY OF ZEPPELIN RAID ON ENGLAND

Description of Movements of Aircraft Given in Detail

Berlin, July 30.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—A writer in the Cologne Gazette gives a description of a raid by a Zeppelin on the British coast. He says: 'It was barely growing dark when Lieut. Commander X— in command of the Zeppelin L-12 (the Zeppelin airship) received an order to cruise on the moorway in a northwesterly direction in the straits of Dover. The necessary orders, and next morning, early, entered the hangar. The crew of two deck officers and six crew members were already at work with a group of men under the orders of the officer of the guard.'

The German carry no tents and have no food supplies with them, so that they are compelled to live on the ground, and are slaughtering the best milk-cows for food, and sparing only pedigree stock. The country was denuded of all its supplies and was left a desolate waste. But they did not wantonly destroy except for a state cause. They were making a village near the coast of the village of the German colonel that the Russians had taken six of his cows. The colonel was angry and summoned his under-officer who had taken the cows, demanding an explanation.

'Yes,' came the reply from
