GROANING OVER CLUB LAW

County Commissioners of State Call it One Gigantic Mistake in Legislation—Clubs Which Carry Members' Sons Will be Hard Hit.

Nothing in the way of admiration for the new club law, relating to liquor licenses, in effect on Nov. 15, was expressed by the county commissioners of the state in a meeting held on Thursday at the allya house in Hartford but on the contrary there was a unanimous opinion on the part of the commissioners that it is impracticable and inoperable, and when club men of the state awake to a full realization of what it means they will set up a cry of protest such as rarely follows the adoption of a piece of legislation.

Commissioner Jacob Walter of New Haven presided at the meeting and Commissioner William Bailey Jr. of Hartford presided at the meeting. In addition, Commissioners Robert A. Potter and Colonel James G. Giddes of New London, Charles H. Smith of New London, Howard M. Guernsey, John H. Lancaster and J. Sedgewick Tracy of Litchfield county and John G. Wiseman of Wolcott county.

Affects Sons of Members. Speaking of the section having a bearing on them for them under this act, Commissioner Walter said that it is issued to clubs, one of the commissioners said: "Take section 2, it says that 'each such certificate, club or society, has been registered as a bona fide social organization under the provision of this act, and that it is entitled to have in its possession, and dispense to its members who are 21 years of age or over, spirituous or wine of its social life etc.'

"How many of the best clubs in the state where liquors are served as a matter of course to the members, and wherein this is not 'the chief object of the organization, but is an incident of its existence as an organization,' have on their membership lists members who are 21 years of age or over, spirituous or wine of its social life etc.'

"The remark was made that Mr. Martin was coming back to the legislature and would run for speaker, and that the law was drafted by Michael Kenesly, former State chairman.

At the conclusion of the meeting, which was executive, the commissioners adjourned and the general discussion and legislative denunciation of the new law, was continued through the course, and Representative Charles J. Martin, who is reported by the tenor of the observations.

NORWICH WELL REPRESENTED IN YALE IN CHINA

Mr. and Mrs. Dickson Hammond Leavens Are Latest Additions.

There will be quite a little Norwich colony at the Yale mission at Chang-chai, in Hunan province, China, when Dickson Hammond Leavens will resume the teaching of mathematics there, and Mrs. Leavens, who was Miss Marguerite Brading, will accompany their long trip thither from this city.

The dean of the faculty of the college of Yale in China is Dr. Edward H. Hume, D. D. of Norwich. Among these is Oliver C. Morse, Jr., who used to live in Norwich, and Dr. Edward H. Hume, head of the Yale hospital and the new medical school there, has been in Norwich enough to be pretty much at home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Leavens sail on Aug. 25 from San Francisco on the Mongolia and they will be members of the Yale party which will comprise Dr. Hume and his family, John Donald Bobb of Minneapolis and Archibald Donald Blake of Boston, and other Yale members of the class of 1915 at Yale, and Dr. Augustus Sassen, whose efforts to obtain a medical education in China, and who has been in the East here for work among the Chinese women and children have long drawn attention to the cause.

Born in Germany, she came to America in infancy, and now, after long years of training, she is going out for service.

F. L. Chang, trained in forestry at Yale, left with his bride a few weeks ago for Changsha, where he has a wonderful field before him in developing the forest resources of the great Hunan province.

By far the most pragmatic work, however, at Changsha just now is that on the medical side. The hospital, made possible by a gift of over $150,000 by a classmate of Dr. Hume, '91, at Yale, has been begun, and is now completed. The Yale mission will have the finest hospital in central China. The children, not to be outdone by the men, have promised to erect buildings for medical and nursing education.

Miss Nina Gage has been taking a leading part in the instruction of the nurses and she will be joined by Mrs. Elizabeth Miles Morton, Johns Hopkins medical nurse. The China medical board of the Rockefeller foundation has funds which will provide for the salaries of six medical teachers, and it is to select these professors in the medical school at Changsha.
