Girl Struck Unconscious At Hospital

Miss May O'Connor Remains in Serious Condition as Result of Jump From Automobile—Maurice Jordan and Timothy Wallen of Willimantic Says Two Girls Hailed Them on Franklin Square—Miss Kearns Recovering From Shock.

The condition of Miss May O'Connor, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Connor of 155 High street, who jumped from an automobile driven by two Willimantic young men on North Main street, Tuesday night, remains extremely serious at the Backus hospital on Wednesday. In the evening one of the medical men who has been called upon to assist in the case, said that the young woman remained for the most part in an unconscious state, but at intervals there were times when she seemed to come to. There continued to be bleeding from one ear and that was taken to be evidence that some of the inner blood vessels of the brain had been ruptured by the fracture of the base of the skull. The blow that the girl received when she landed on the street was on the forehead and the fracture was by indirect violence. It was stated Tuesday at midnight that Dr. Lewis had secured the names of the young men, but he would not disclose them and the first authoritative information was secured by the Norwich police Wednesday morning. Capt. Tuomey at headquarters has been getting the number of the car after much work and when called by the Jordan Automobile company in the morning, it was admitted that the two young men were Maurice Jordan, son of William P. Jordan, and Timothy Wallen, who works at the Jordan company's garage. The statement that they gave out was to the effect that they were driving through Franklin square, that the girls hailed them, and that they stopped and took them in Jokinly, the young men said they would go to the thread mill square, where the girls turned around to take the girls to their homes, which the latter said were on the West Side. Thereupon, Miss Margaret Kearns, who was on the back seat with Jordan, stood up and started to get out, but through better of it, she was unable to get out of the car. Wallen opened the door and stepped out on the running board, and actually did jump. Wallen did not foresee what the girl was going to do, and he stopped the car just as soon as he could. Both young men are in their early twenties, are of excellent families, and say it was just a prank. The other side of the matter remains still in the dark. Miss Kearns was taken to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kearns of 123 High street, after the accident in an exceedingly hysterical condition. She was unable to recognize her own father. She remained in this state of profound nervous shock most of the day Wednesday, but in the evening, her condition was more favorable and she was able to tell members of her family and the doctor, when he called. She was unable, however, to tell of what happened prior to the moment when Miss O'Connor jumped from the automobile, and no attempt will be made to get such information before she is able to give her normal state of mind. Until then, and until Miss O'Connor's condition shows a change, it is not expected that any legal action will be taken against the two young Willimantic men. The consideration of the case from a legal standpoint is expected to be postponed until the young women took the initiative, hailed the youths, and asked for a ride in the car, will not necessarily be held against the latter in a criminal case, said one attorney Wednesday such contemplatory negligence on the part of the girls would not constitute a crime against the conduct of the young men, however innocent it might be, would in its tendency be framed up severely by a stern judge and guardian of the law.

GETTING READY FOR OPENING OF COLLEGE.

President Sykes and His Assistants Are Doing Lots of Work.

The amount of detail incidental to the opening of the Connecticut College for Women is shown by the number of visitors to be found daily in the college office at the Mobern hotel, at New London. The attention of President Sykes, Miss Elizabeth C. Wright, the registrar, Miss Josephine Sutton, Dr. Sykes' secretary, and Miss Margaret Proctor, who will have charge of living conditions at the college, is constantly in demand. There are calls from representatives of business firms desirous of supplying this or that portion of the equipment of the institution; there are visits from parents of prospective students and from students themselves and they are almost arrangements almost innumerable to be completed so that all will be in readiness by Sept. 27.

C. T. A. U. CONVENTION COMES NEXT WEEK.

New London Will Entertain the Temperance Delegates.

Five hundred or more delegates from all over the state are expected to attend the annual convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence union at New London next Monday and Tuesday. It will be preceded Sunday by the Temperance Society of St. Mary's Star of the Sea church by Rev. Walter J. Shanley, L. D., on Father Mathew.

The committee prior to the New London organization have been laboring for weeks to make the convention the most successful that the state body has ever had. The plan is to have the convention follow a program for the celebration of the centennial of the C. T. A. U. at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church at 9 o'clock.

Business session of the convention at the Mobern hotel, beginning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Minner will extend the welcome of the municipality to the delegates.

Delegates to the convention will begin to arrive here Sunday and by night will be in the city. The Waterbury delegation will arrive via Hartford and will reach here about 10 o'clock.

There are eight wardens, one for each county, and 160 protectors. Each county has twenty protectors. Only two wardens are under salary. They are W. L. Smith, of Middlefield, and Wilbur L. Smith, of Norwich. The salary of each is $1,000. The other six wardens receive each $3 and the 160 protectors receive each $1.50.

The reports which have reached Superintendent Crampton from all parts of the state indicate that there will be an abundance of game birds this fall. Quail and partridge are particularly abundant. He attributed this to the care taken of the birds last winter. The quail shelter made of boughs of spruce and fir which he had placed in the woods throughout the state afforded the birds protection from the intense cold. He kept these shelters stocked with grain and corn, and a trail of grain leading to the shelters. The shooting season for quail, partridge, pheasants and other game birds opens September 1.

The superintendent expects to have the printed pamphlets for the game laws ready for distribution in the course of a few days. They will contain all the laws relating to hunting and hunting including those passed at the last session of the general assembly.

Corn from Farmer Whipple. Farmer Silas S. Whipple of the Old Salem road at East Green Plain, favored several of the Bulletin staff with green corn Wednesday evening. The corn was grown by Mr. Whipple on his farm and is of excellent quality. The ears are all of good size and the large juicy kernels are pearl white and color. Whipple's corn apparently survived the severe storms that prevailed over the state recently.

PARISIAN SAGE

At this season of the year many people find their hair coming out at an alarming rate and often fear baldness. This may very easily be the ultimate result if proper treatment is not taken at once. All excessive loss of hair can be almost immediately stopped by the use twice daily of a little Parisian Sage which invigorates and nourishes the slowly dying hair roots into a renewal of healthy normal action. See how quickly growing on the thin spots, old hair stops falling and the difference is apparent in a few days by the very look of the hair itself, for it will surely take on new life, lustre and beauty. Parisian Sage can be obtained from Lee & Osgood or any good druggist. It is not expensive.

YALE-HARVARD BOAT RACE KEPT RAILROAD BUSY

Special Report Out on the Traffic to New London.

The New York New Haven and Hartford Railroad company has acquired a unique reputation for handling large crowds within a short space of time. Last fall, on the day of the Yale-Harvard football game, the road performed the prodigious feat of transporting 33,378 persons to New Haven within a period of four hours. Within a period of three hours, on November 29th, the New Haven terminal was called upon to handle and put away a passenger train every 3 minutes and 9 seconds.

While the Yale-Harvard boat races do not present such tremendous transportation problems as the football games do, yet a large extra traffic on such occasions requires careful preparations and peculiar traffic arrangements in order to provide proper and satisfactory facilities for the thousands of witnesses to this annual event.

The general auditor of the New Haven railroad has issued a special report on the extra traffic incident to the last Yale-Harvard boat race, held on June 25th, at New London. This report shows that the two New Haven specials, the New York special, the Boston special and the two Harvard specials carried 1,444 full fare passengers on the boat races and returned with 1,419 full fare passengers. There were 2,522 seats sold on the observation trains for the university races.

The following table shows the number of excursion tickets sold at New York, New Haven, Boston and Providence, and the excess regular business from the principal stations:

Excursion Tickets. New York 125, New Haven 67, Boston 665, Providence 11, total 868. Excess Regular Business from Principal Stations.

New York 428, Stamford 25, Bridgeport 53, New Haven 490, Saybrook Junction 15, Crescent Beach 20, New London 1,360, Norwich 11, Stonington 102, Providence 60, Boston 247, 12 other stations 123, cash fares from New London 326, cash fares to New London, 132, total 3,313.

In addition to the above there were 711 full fare tickets sold on the steamer Chester W. Chapin, 1,057 full fare tickets for the steamer Richard Peck, and 226 full fare tickets on the steamer Block Island.

PRESTON FARMER SEARCHING FOR SON

Louis Segee, Whose Wife Was Injured in Auto Accident, Wants His Boy Home.

An effort is being made by Louis Segee of Preston to locate his son Louis, 21 years of age, who left his home on Sunday morning to look for work. Mr. Segee asked the Norwich police to help him Wednesday morning. The boy's mother is in a critical condition at her home as the result of injuries suffered when a wagon in which she was riding was struck Monday morning by the automobile owned by Ray Burton of Glasgow. Mr. Burton's machine and a machine driven by James Austin, chauffeur for Attorney Charles W. Comstock of Montville, seemed about to collide when Mr. Burton turned out. His machine struck one of the wagon wheels as he turned to his right in order to avoid hitting Mr. Comstock's car and Mrs. Segee was thrown out. Her back, hip and ankle were badly bruised and she is slightly injured. The two lower ribs containing a magnificent restaurant and the grand lobby and second floor with numerous private parlors are for both men and women.

The service is of that even, careful kind; nearly all the employees are women, the telephone and paging system is developed to a science; the chambermaid is accustomed to assisting guests in their rooms and all the little things necessary to the comfort of a woman traveler can be secured and are offered graciously and at all times.
