STRUCK BY ENGINE

Abraham Zenchoff, Knocked Down Embankment, but Kept Conscious, Saving Roll of $452.

Abraham Zenchoff, who lives on the North Windham road east of the Natchaug river bridge and runs with his motor a market at No. 193 Union street, was struck by the train from Putnam at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning near the west end of the new bridge while he was on his way over to the city. He was struck by the brake beam of the engine and knocked down the embankment some 40 feet, but he did not lose consciousness. He had $452 with him in various pockets and he had his suitcase sufficiently keen after the accident to hand this over to a friend, Hyman Israel, who called to see him at St. Joseph's hospital. Dr. P. E. Wilcox was called to attend Zenchoff, and he found a fracture of the left side of the pelvis, a punctured wound of the left arm above the elbow, lacerations of one leg and cuts on his face. Wednesday night he was resting well at the hospital. There were no indications of internal injuries and his chances for recovery were favorable.

Zenchoff is 62 years of age and deals in livestock. He uses the railroad as a short cut to upper Ash street and he was part way across the bridge Wednesday morning when train No. 117 came around the curve west of Phelps' crossing. Engineer Foran blew a warning whistle, but apparently Zenchoff did not hear it, for he did not quicken his pace. The engineer slowed down, but just at the end of the bridge the locomotive overtook the pedestrian, who was not quite clear of the track. The brake beam hit him in the thigh and he rolled over and over down the high bank. The train was stopped and the crew hurried down expecting to pick up a dead man. Instead Zenchoff was quite conscious, though in much pain. The crew and some passengers got him up to the embankment into the baggage car and at the station he was placed on a stretcher under the ambulance which came and took him to the hospital.

shaken up and bruised. It was a narrow escape for both of them. The car was coming toward Willimantic and near the old paper mill there instead of making the turn to go over the Natchaug river bridge, the driver ran straight ahead and pitched up at the fence. Strouss's companion was hurled out of the car by the sudden jolt, rolled down the 20 foot embankment and almost got stuck in the river. He had his lip cut and got plentiful bruises. The machine broke through the fence and the driver followed the man down the bank but for a chestnut tree that stopped its progress. The radiator, headlights, windshield and parts of the engine were smashed and the car was towed to the Jordan garage in this city for repairs.

Claim Brooklyn's Town Debt Was Increased. Over in the town of Brooklyn the claim is being made that the indebtedness of the town has been increased, instead of decreased, during the fiscal year that recently came to a close, and that some bills contracted during the year would further increase the indebtedness had they been handed in before the books were closed for the year. CAR STRIKES MOTORCYCLE. Automobile Driven by Alfred Messier Runs into Colvin Brothers' Machine. In a crash between a light touring car owned and driven by Alfred Messier of Wauregan and a motorcycle on which Alanson Colvin was riding, Wednesday night on lower Dyer street, the Colvin brothers were thrown heavily to the ground, Alanson being hurt worse than his brother. The motor vehicles met in a head-on crash.

Riding a motorcycle with sidecar attached, Henry Burnett was leading the Colvin motorcycle up from Quinebaug lake, where the young men had been bathing, when the accident occurred. In telling about the matter Wednesday, Mr. Burnett says that he was driving on the right hand side of the road and the Colvin machine was trailing when he noticed the touring car bearing down upon them. Burnett says he waited until he felt certain that the touring car was not going to turn out and that a collision was inevitable, he swung to the right hand side of the road, and then turned his machine sharply to the left and was struck across the path of the automobile and over on to what was for his traveling direction the left hand side of the highway.

The Colvin machine did not have the same opportunity and the automobile smashed into it, causing a severe cut in the leg. Both motorcycle and automobile were damaged considerably.

At Mr. Messier's home in Wauregan it was said Wednesday afternoon that he was hurt Wednesday, accompanied by his daughter Gladys, who has been visiting in East Hartford.

NO VOTE ON LICENSE. Time Limit for Filing Petition Has Expired. There will be no vote on the license question in the town of Putnam this year. The time limit for filing a petition for a vote on the question as required by law—21 days in advance of the election—has expired, no town meeting will remain in the license column without any further ado about the matter. This year it was up to the voters to decide whether they desired to vote if they so desired by circulating a petition and getting at least 10 per cent of the names of the voters in the town to sign it. Some of the voters are not in the town and the license question is going to be decided by the voters of the town.

The fact that there is to be no vote on the question is, of course, pleasing to the liquor dealers and others interested in having the town license. They will save a considerable sum of money that would have been required to meet the expense of a license campaign as well as the extra labor that goes with conducting such a campaign.

The only thing that remains now as a special subject of interest in connection with the license question is as to whether all of the dealers here will be sufficiently interested in keeping in the business to pay the advance of $300 in the license of $50. Some of the dealers claim that they are making barely a living now and that the extra cost for a license is going to be a hardship upon them. However, it is not expected that any of them will fail to ask for a license renewal.

Putnam has more licenses than it is entitled to on the one license to every 100 of the population by default. The license majorities have been so heavy during the past few years that the no-license forces have tried only rarely to bring the matter to a vote if they so desired by circulating a petition and getting at least 10 per cent of the names of the voters in the town to sign it. Some of the voters are not in the town and the license question is going to be decided by the voters of the town.
