JUST LIKE THIS 50 YEARS AGO

September Had a Hot Spell Then—Police Force Made Its First Appearance on Duty—Temporary Headquarters Near Breed Hall—Steamer Launched and Built at Thamesville About to Sail—Treadway Hall Hired For Superior Court.

September of half a century ago was considered one of the hottest months experienced in years by the people of Norwich, the mercury ranging anywhere from 80 to 90. On Monday of the second week in September, 1865, Norwich's new police force was organized and they made a splendid appearance in their new uniforms. The police station was located in the building next the Breed building where temporary headquarters were taken up by the department. The same week the Wauregan steamer was held business meeting at which they elected Gilbert L. Hewitt as clerk and George H. Woodworth as treasurer. Extracts from the files of the Norwich Morning Bulletin of that week are as follows:

Monday, Sept. 11, 1865.—The propeller Charles Osgood which formerly ran from this city to New York is advertised to be sold by the government at Brooklyn, L. I., on Thursday next. At the auction sale of government vessels in Boston Friday the wooden screw steamer New London, formerly of the New London, New York line, was purchased by Mr. W. Comstock for $9,000.

Took 60 Year Lease. George Pratt Esq., has agreed with Mrs. Mary P. Rockwell and the heirs of the Rockwell estate, for a lease of the property upon Main and Water streets, above the post office, for a term of fifty years, with the privilege of purchasing within ten years. Mr. Pratt will raise the same to the Bulletin association, and the latter intend at once to erect upon the upper half of the lot a substantial, commodious and handsome building for the accommodation of their business. This movement on the part of the Bulletin association is in part of necessity inasmuch as their present premises are not sufficiently commodious for their business.

A boy named John Robinson fell through the railroad bridge at the Falls Sunday, but fortunately fell on the rocks and not into the river, spraining his wrist.

Our New Police. Wednesday, Sept. 12, 1865.—The new police force went on duty on Monday. They make a fine appearance in their new uniforms and it looks now as if we should have an active and efficient force. The temporary headquarters in the police court room in the building next Breed hall, where some one will always be found to attend the business.

We understand that the railroad commissioners met at Montville Monday to investigate the accident on the New London Northern road to the Norwich and Worcester steamboat bridge. The officers of both roads were present but the commissioners arrived at no decision but adjourned to some future date. The public are anxious to hear their opinion as to the accident.

From Thamesville Shipyard. The steamer Hunter, built and launched at the shipyard at Thamesville, is nearly ready for sea, and probably will leave the river in about a week. She will take her place on the Pioneer line to New York and New York on the 28th inst. for that city.

Dog-day Article. Wednesday, Sept. 13, 1865.—The Star publishes a dog-day article on the court House, in which Norwich is accused of lying, cheating and general swindling. The article is entitled "The Star will have to mend its manners in discussing this question if it expects to impress the people it stigmatizes as dupes. Likewise shorten its ebullitions. Two columns is too much for fly-time. The "Norwich trick" as the Star calls it, won't be taken by that deal.

Forest Spafford of this city, formerly Sergeant Major of the 8th C. V., who lost an arm at Antietam and was till recently a clerk in the Provost Marshal's office in this city, has been appointed to a clerkship in the office of the adjutant general in Hartford and enters on his duties there this week.

Lights Out on Tollbridge. We have received a communication signed a Number of Norwich Citizens, advising that the fact that the lamps on the toll bridge are not lighted and that a sidewalk be laid in connection with the bridge. The present condition of the bridge, is said to be very filthy.

Thursday, Sept. 14, 1865.—Special efforts were made on the occasion of the regular monthly meeting of the

The members of the Encampment, by which is meant the business organization of the Grand Army, will attend the construction above stated body and assist the President in the exercises.

One of the features in connection with the Grand Army Encampment in which the Woman's Relief Corps and the Ladies of the G. A. In the planting of the trees the first spadeful of earth will be turned by David J. Palmer, the president of the Grand Army, while Mrs. Sarah E. Fulton, the President of the Woman's Relief Corps, will form a similar spadeful in the planting of the second tree.
