THE Y. M. C. A. SPEAKERS—J. M. CLINTON AND ARTHUR RUGH OF INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE

Told to Norwich Congregations by Y. M. C. A. Speakers—J. M. Clinton and Arthur Rugh of International Committee Tell of Opportunity and Responsibility in the Far East—America and China to be the Coming Leading Powers of the World But Not in Military Sense.

Special addresses by J. M. Clinton and Arthur Rugh of New York City, members of the Y. M. C. Mr. Clinton and Mr. Rugh, who are in the far east and they are of the opinion that America has not only a responsibility in China, but also a great opportunity.

The meeting was led by General Secretary Edward R. Clinton, who read a hymn, was short by Rev. George H. Strouse, pastor of the Central Baptist church, after which Rev. Joel B. Slocum, D. D., pastor of the Central Baptist church, offered prayer.

Responsibility and Opportunity. Mr. Rugh, who is a secretary of the Y. M. C. A. committee, was first introduced by Secretary Hill. Mr. Rugh in his opening remarks referred to the statement of a noted statesman who is quoted as saying that in future years America will be the greatest of two great powers of the world. Mr. Rugh said that it is true that America and China are the coming leading powers of the world, but he did not speak of "power" in the military sense. America has a great responsibility in the world, he said, and America is teaching the world that nations can live together in peace. In speaking of the older folks, too, Chinese he referred to them as men of culture, of ability and as a very efficient race in general.

The New China. Mr. Clinton, who was then introduced, spoke of China as the New China. He said that the Chinese are turning to Christianity as a new faith. In forming a Y. M. C. A. building in China, he said, he had a sign which would be practically all the men in the city to join. This he refused to do, and convinced the man who suggested the idea that Old Saybrook Cows Getting Well. Old Saybrook farmers and dairymen who had a scare the last month on account of their sick cows feel much relieved to hear that the disease is getting along remarkably well, but their owners have been unable to learn the cause of the trouble. The experts called were unable to inform them only that it was not the disease known as "mad cow" but the animals dying every symptom of that disease made its appearance as they saw the stock owners knew from what they read.

CONNECTS SCHOLZ WITH NORWICH BOMB EXPLOSION

Lindsay G. Smith Says He Has Traced the German Conspirator.

Lindsay G. Smith, who has been working the past few months in the federal department of justice, has traced the German conspirator who was connected with the explosion in the Federal grand jury which met in New York city on Wednesday, Nov. 1.

Mr. Smith is sure the photo of Scholz is that of a man he has been looking for the past seven months. Mr. Smith is positive that Scholz is the man who placed a bomb on March 25 in the yard of John M. Bamford, No. 16 Grosvenor place at the Falls, which was about the size of a stick of dynamite. When it was placed in the stove by Mrs. Bamford in the belief that it was firewood an explosion occurred in which she was badly hurt.

Mr. Smith says he has traced the movements of the man, a German, who was in the city and who was the location of the mill and also from his presence near Grosvenor place in the night before the bomb in the Bamford stove exploded.

His theory is that the placing of the bomb was with the intention of intimidating workmen in the mill where Mr. Bamford was employed.

FINDS ESCAPED PRISONER FROM SOUTH CAROLINA.

Chief Linton Lands a Safe Blow Who Broke Jail Also.

After about a week's investigation carried on by Chief Linton, Lester Sanders, aka Rufus Hitt, was arrested on Saturday by Constable Michael Hickey at the farm of Lincoln Hickey in Montville. Sanders has been employed for about 6 weeks under the name of Rufus Hitt.

Saturday he was arrested by Sheriff John W. Davis of Wallhalla, Oconee county, South Carolina, for safe breaking. He escaped from the Oconee jail on August 15.

After he had been brought here on Saturday he confessed that he was the man whom the South Carolina sheriff is looking for. It is expected that an officer from the South will be here to take him back.

Some suspicious circumstances about the hand at the Rogers farm were communicated to Chief Linton and he got into correspondence with the South Carolina sheriff, who sent him a picture of a man he was looking for. The picture was a man's man's identity and Chief Linton finished up his good work by directing Constable Hickey to go to the Rogers farm and make the arrest. The South Carolina authorities thanked him heartily for his assistance in detecting the escaped prisoner whom they very much wanted to locate.

ADDIE BURNS WILL TRY FOR PARDON.

Is To Appear Once More Before State Board of Pardons.

Addie Burns of New London who is at the state prison at Waterbury, serving a 12 to 15 year sentence for a carnal assault on 15-year old May Burns of New Haven, has applied for a pardon. The former New London woman has engaged counsel and hopes to make this application for pardon successful.

Three times Addie Burns has applied for a pardon, but has twice withdrawn the application before the time for hearing arrived.

Addie Burns has been at the state's prison since her arrest. She was arrested Jan. 22, 1909, which makes a time served by her six years and nine months.

The pending application is based on the claim that the woman is not guilty of the crime charged against her. It is also argued that the penalty was too severe and that sufficient punishment has been given her even if guilty.

Addie Burns is 27 years old and it is advanced as a reason for granting the pardon that she is now reaching an age that prison confinement imposes extraordinary hardships since she has been at the prison she has been employed most of the time in the prison laundry.

VILLA TROOP FOUR

MILES EAST OF DOUGLAS

Incensed Because Carranza Troops Were Permitted to Enter United States.

Douglas, Ariz., Oct. 31.—Three thousand Villa troops, mounted and afoot, and driving pack animals apparently loaded with machine guns, on unmounted cannon, were tonight at a point four miles east of Douglas and about the same distance south of the international boundary.

Villa himself was with his cavalry, which passed along the border, ready to take position in case of an attack on the garrison. It was during this march that he learned that Carranza reinforcements had been transported over American territory.

"Agua Prieta will be mine," he asserted, "and I will get my finger in it. Pointing his finger to the town, he added: "There is food and rest for our men. We may have to fight the whole American army if necessary, but no matter, it will be ours."

RED CROSS STATION IS DESIRED

New Plan Discussed at Annual Meeting of Norwich Branch.

A possible extension of the work of the Norwich branch of the American Red Cross in the current year was discussed in the annual meeting held Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the common council chamber in the form of a report by the secretary, which stated that a small store or some room in the business section might be secured where the Red Cross station could be placed where persons who wanted to help in the work could do so. It would be a place where ladies could meet to roll bandages or to do their knitting or articles to be sent to the Red Cross for use in the European war fields and also from which work could be done at home by those who wanted to help could be given out and received again when it was finished. This plan of having a Red Cross working place or station has been successfully carried out in many American cities, and it is felt that it would be a great help in the work of the local branches.

Chairman Francis J. Leavens presided at the meeting and the scope of the past year's work was covered in the reports by Mrs. Robert W. Perkins, secretary and treasurer. These reports showed that the Norwich branch had sent about $1,800 to the American Red Cross for the coming year. Each contributor was asked for through the local Red Cross. All cash contributions made here had been forwarded directly as cash to the national Red Cross. The sale of the Christmas seals had realized $400 for the tuberculous fund.

It was pointed out that the American Red Cross fund has been greatly depleted by the demands that have been made upon it through the European war and that unless the fund is replenished it will be necessary to curtail the work abroad. Altogether about $1,400,000 has been expended, the American Red Cross having maintained from 900 to 400 doctors and nurses at work besides sending large quantities of hospital material. This means that for the coming year Red Cross contributions will be needed more than ever before.

The sale of the Christmas seals is a feature of the Red Cross work. The sale of the Christmas seals is a feature of the Red Cross work. The sale of the Christmas seals is a feature of the Red Cross work.
