

SOCIAL CORNER.

lost from the world. This we do not believe.
SUCH MONKEY SHINES.
Dranford
KNOWS A FEW CORNERITES.

Dear Editor and Cornerites: I happen to know a few of you people, and I would like to meet you in these papers as well as personally, for I do not see any of you very often.
I don't want to tell you by my first effort, but I do want to ask Hiddy if she doesn't live very near to the new public library, that is across the way from a post office. If you do, Hiddy, did you not once have a bet that played ball and rang a bell when she was hungry? If these things are, then I am sure that I have placed you, and I hope you will try "spot me."

Dranford. FIGGIE
THE DREAMER TRIES ONCE MORE.

Dear Social Corner Friends: If the story that started so rudely at Merry Andrew is a real live flesh and blood brother and one of the prize men, why does he not speak up for his rights?

Why doesn't he come back at Merry Andrew for the manner in which she turned him down—refused flat to extend the placid—on which the Corner is famed? Could he explain that what appeared to Merry Andrew to be rudeness was only interested curiosity in which the Corner abounds?
He was in a place we might expect any minute to bump shoulders with a live Cornerite. How should he know when he stared at Merry Andrew that the chip on her shoulder was intended for her, and not for the "spot me"?

How thankful we should feel that there are no "horrid men" among the Corner brothers; all prize men. Married and Happy declares all sisterly brothers, ever ready and willing to extend the glad hand wherever they meet.
When Merry Andrew meets another sisterly inclined brother, perchance she will not mistake the winning smile for the rude stare.
There should be no sex to true Social Cornerism.

Therein lies the charm.
The Crank: My score was in the ring with the Bull's eye you say. I'll sit again. Don't H. P. hit the Bull's eye? If not, I most give up and think of you only as The Crank.
Hortense: Can you surprise me? The Crank with my identity? Would I be surprised to know yours?
Sunshine No. 2: Yes, initials M. V. were on and are yet my initials. I simply added another initial. Did you know M. V. when she lived in the House of New England? She wasn't one of the roses.

Keshiah Doollittle: You will hear from me directly before many moons. A happy Thanksgiving and a bounteous one for each Corner Friend.
DREAMER.

MORALITY OF DUBLIN'S AMUSEMENT HOUSES

Only Way of Punishing Improperly Is by Police Court Prosecution.
Durlin, Ireland, Nov. 19.—Dublin is at present greatly exercised about the morality of its theatres, music halls and moving picture shows. There is no censor in Ireland, and the only way of punishing impropriety on the stage is by a police court prosecution.

No such prosecution has been instituted and the only occasions when the police court discusses the matter is when a member of the audience is prosecuted for disturbing the performance by expressing disapproval.
One such case has just occurred where a man was brought before the magistrate for protesting at the exhibition of a film called The New Magdalen. The evidence of some influential citizens was given as to its objectionable character, balanced by the evidence of other members of the audience, including some ladies.

At Grace Episcopal church, Yantic, Rev. Reginald R. Parker of Hartford will preach morning and evening.
At the Second Congregational church the minister will preach at the morning and evening services. Sunday school at noon.
At Trinity Episcopal church, Rev. J. E. Brown, pastor, holy communion subject, The Emphasis for Today Upon Thanksgiving. No evening service except Y. P. S. C. E. at 8.30.

At Park Congregational church, morning sermon upon The Morality of Language. Vesper service sermon upon Conversion of Destructive Forces into Constructive Forces.
At the First Congregational church, Norwich Town, morning sermon subject, The Emphasis for Today Upon Thanksgiving. No evening service except Y. P. S. C. E. at 8.30.

At the Church of the Good Shepherd Rev. Joseph F. Cobb will preach on the subject, Grateful Remembrance. Sunday school at noon. P. C. U. service at 6.15, subject, An Evening with the Psalms.
At the Federated church Captain C. H. Phillips of the Salvation Army will occupy the pulpit in the morning; Subject, Evening of Gratitude. Evening sermon by Rev. Walter E. Langhorne of Hartford, representing the Connecticut Temperance union.

At the McKinley avenue A. M. E. Zion church, Rev. E. George Biddle, pastor, morning subject, The Witness of the Spirit. Sunday school at noon. Prayer service before evening service. Sunday school roll call at evening service. Subject, The Modern Sunday School.

At Mt. Calvary Baptist church preaching by Rev. Dennis. Morning subject, Job's Integrity. Special sermon in the evening. Sunday school and Bible class at noon. Bible and Literary in the afternoon, where a digest of the State Sunday School convention will be given.

18,000 Jews With British.
Out of 411,000 Jews in the British empire, the London Daily Express estimates that 200,000 are ineligible for enlistment by reason of alien nationality. Of the remainder nearly 18,000 are serving with his majesty's forces.

HETTY GREEN REACHES EIGHTIETH MILESTONE

Nov. 21, 1915, is the eightieth birthday of Mrs. Hetty Green, but perhaps there is no special significance in that fact since Mrs. Green has always maintained that birthdays meant for nothing but strict attention to business. "The richest woman in America" was born Nov. 21, 1835, at New Bedford, Mass., and now makes her home in New York city.

special exhibition was given all to himself. He did not see anything wrong in the film, and the defendant then alleged that the performance for the magistrate was a fake and that he did not see the same film. This suggestion was scouted out of court and the defendant was fined and has served notice of appeal.

It is, however, the revues which have provoked most agitation. They run at several theatres, including the principal ones and have almost banished the legitimate drama from the Dublin stage. The costumes are often very scanty and the songs and business sometimes beyond the border line of the decent. Lately in the newspapers vigorous protests were made by individuals. The manager of one of the leading houses expressed his willingness to remove everything considered objectionable, and incidentally revealed the fact that the first performance in each week was in the nature of a trial trip. If the public on which it was tried stood it without protest it went on the week. This has been remedied and the trial trip takes place in camera before a manager of the leading houses expressed his satisfaction at this improved arrangement called attention publicly to what is even a greater scandal, because the leading houses expressed his willingness to remove everything considered objectionable, and incidentally revealed the fact that the first performance in each week was in the nature of a trial trip.
