$1,822.15 VERDICT FOR A. P. TURNER

Jury Finds For Him in Suit Brought Against Executrix of His Adopted Father's Estate—Lebanon Case is Last of Superior Court Trials This Week.

At 3:05 o'clock Thursday afternoon the jury in the superior court here brought in a verdict in the case of Arthur P. Turner, administrator, of Lebanon, against Thessa Gladman Turner, executrix, which has been on trial since Tuesday morning. Through Foreman John H. Stedman of North Stonington they reported that they found for the defendant on the first count, but for the plaintiff on the second count and that they assessed the damages which he was entitled to recover at $1,822.75. The verdict also carries costs. Judge William L. Bennett reminded the jury that he had instructed them that if they found for the plaintiff, Mr. Turner, he would be entitled to interest from the first of July, 1912, but that they could not find for a larger amount than the $1,600 on which the suit was brought and the $100, which he advised the jury to retire and look over their figures again. It was explained to the judge by several of the jurors, without leaving the court room, that they had deducted $150 from the sum claimed and had allowed interest for the time stated and they believed their figures were correct. Judge Bennett then accepted the verdict and after the attorneys on both sides had figured on the interest, all expressed themselves as satisfied that the figuring was right.

BRIDGE WORK INDICATED. Work on Railroad Abutments on the Groton Side Has Been Started.

Indications that the commencement of operations on the new bridge across the Thames is near at hand are seen in the new work just begun by the contractors who are in charge of the relocation of the main line of the New Haven road from Hallam street, New London, to the river. They have begun the erection of four abutments in Groton which are essential in making the track changes there, and it is understood that the first abutment on the contract for the first abutment of the bridge itself on the easterly side of the river. This abutment will be built on land, while that on the New London side is in the water. It is believed that the contract for the bridge proper will be awarded shortly.

The count in the complaint upon which the jury found for the defendant was that in which it was claimed that a trust was created in the matter of the estate of A. P. Turner, in the hands of Rev. Robert E. Turner from his first wife, Mary A. Stodard Turner, but the count upon which they found for the plaintiff, who was the adopted son of Rev. Turner was the one based on the claim that Rev. Turner had converted the money to his own use.

It is believed that the case may go to the supreme court.

When court opened on Thursday morning, Major Hull concluded the final argument for the defendant and was followed by Attorney W. A. King, whose argument for the plaintiff occupied an hour.

Judge Bennett took a few minutes less than an hour to charge the jury, which was given the case at 12:32. After they had given their verdict they were excused by the judge until Tuesday morning.

One of the matters to be heard is the petition from Receiver A. A. Browning of the Thames Loan and Trust Co. for an order to declare another dividend for the depositors in the commercial department of the Trust company.

STARTING NEW SERIES IN BUILDING ASSOCIATION Norwich Organization Announces Its Second Series to Start January 1st.

Five hundred letters have been mailed to prospective subscribers to shares in the Norwich Building and Loan association and also to 200 members of the Norwich Chamber of Commerce, announcing the fact that a new series in the Norwich Building & Loan Association, Inc., will open on January 1, 1916. The association was incorporated in April, 1915 and about 200 shares in the first series were subscribed for.

The circular states that the two principal objects of a Building and Loan association are to encourage the habit of saving among the people, particularly the wage earners, and to help these same people secure homes of their own. There is at the present time an urgent demand for moderate-priced, modern homes in Norwich and a prospect of a still greater demand in the near future. The Building and Loan association should, therefore, appeal strongly to the working man who finds his rent steadily advancing from year to year while his earning power is growing less.

The Building and Loan association idea is not a new one. There are 18 associations in this state at the present time, and all are in a flourishing condition. The association in the town of South Manchester has over 11,000 shares outstanding and has an income of about $15,000 monthly. The Willimantic association has been in existence for over 25 years and has never lost a dollar on its investments. At present the shares are on a 6 per cent. dividend basis. The New London association, incorporated only about three years ago, is at present paying 5 per cent. to its members and has constructed, or has under construction, ten modern dwellings.

The officers of the Norwich Building and Loan association are: Frank H. Smith, president; William H. Trickett, first vice president; E. C. Jewett, second vice president; A. Ernest Cherry, secretary; Herbert R. Branche, treasurer; Charles I. Smith, assistant secretary.

The board of management comprises C. S. Holbrook, T. C. Murphy, Otto E. Wolf, G. L. Hewitt, C. W. Pearson, D. T. Shea, W. F. Lester, Robert McNeely, John E. Vaughn.
