Women's Club Entertains Men Friends—Graded School Closed When Cases of Scarlet Fever Are Identified—Business Men's Association at Annual Banquet Addressed by Frank E. Healey and George B. Chandler.

More than 60 were present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Marler in Brooklyn at the men's night entertainment arranged by the members of the Brooklyn Women's club.

GRADED SCHOOL CLOSED

Three Children Have Had Scarlet Fever—Fact Discovered Thursday—School Board Acts Promptly When Notified.

There was no session of the Danielson graded school Thursday because of the discovery that at least three pupils in the school have had scarlet fever.

The sister attending the fourth grade has been ill for the past three weeks. During the greater part of this period she did not come to school, though she returned twice, only to be sent home by the teacher, who observed during the greater part of the time that she had no means of knowing the nature of the child's ailment.

The matter was reported to the town school committee, resulting in a hurried conference and a decision on Thursday morning not to open the school during the day, during which the building was thoroughly fumigated.

Members of the town school committee conferred with physicians in town and the result of these conferences was a decision to reopen the school on Tuesday, March 14. All of the children in the eighth grade in the building may have been exposed to the disease, as many of them surely have, but on account of the lapse of time since the case of any one of the three sisters developed, it is believed that no new cases will develop following the careful fumigation of the building.

The school board has ordered that pupils from this school must not visit other grades of the town while the school is closed.

The fever cases here are comparatively mild, as has been true in a number of other towns in this vicinity where the disease has been prevalent for a year or more.

PATRICK ROCHE WILY

Knew How to Plead in Town Court Thursday.

Patrick Roche, B. C. V., K. C. P., E. T. C., significant of degrees that he might be entitled to for his knowledge of jargon and court procedure, is a wise man of the east. They, twenty charges charged with the duties of getting people before the town court, had him up before Judge Woodward on Thursday morning. Roche charged himself with being a tramp. Mr. Roche pleaded not guilty. Nothing doing, no indeed! Mr. Roche in his hours of research and observation evidently had discovered what could be given him in the way of a jail sentence under that charge—as much as a year—and he wasn't pleading guilty to any such charge, not so you could notice it very clearly. With the charge changed to vagrancy Mr. Roche was more accommodating, for in his storehouse of knowing as to chances of what may happen in police courts he knew his chances were not much more than 50 days, which would mean liberty again about the blue bird season, which season is always very popular for free and open air nature study with him. He got 50 days.

BUSINESS MEN DINE

One Hundred at Third Annual Banquet at Attawaugan House.

The third annual banquet of the Danielson Business Men's association was held at the Attawaugan house on Thursday evening. Covers were laid for a hundred. The dining room was arranged with special tables and the banqueters took their places those who know Danielson were quick to appreciate that the gathering was truly representative of the commercial interests of the place.

Warden Harry E. Back presided as toastmaster and the speakers of the evening were: George B. Chandler of Rocky Hill, member of the state compensation commission and former prominent member of the state legislature.

The association is decidedly valuable not only to its members but to all the people of Danielson. This has been strikingly illustrated twice during the past few weeks through the surprisingly rapid and successful launching of a building and loan association, this new organization getting its chief backing from manufacturers and members of the business men's association.

By winning the first game of the championship series, Putnam High school again has an ace in the hole. The next game is to be played at Danielson, and if a win is necessary it will come out on a neutral floor.

UNRECORDED ENGAGEMENT.

In a local sector (a mill), following an argument about the war, a French detachment composed of one man surrounded a Greek force of an equal number and beat it down with a curtain of fire and feet. The Greek end of the struggle sought legal advice, but finally decided to let the matter drop.

SEWING CLASS ORGANIZED.

Fifteen young ladies, students at the high school, have been organized as a sewing class. They are to meet twice a week at the sewing room in the high school building for instruction under the direction of Miss Osborne of the high school faculty.

DR. PARKER TO ADDRESS FRANCHISE LEAGUE.

Dr. Valeria Parker of Greenwich is to address the members of the Putnam Equal Franchise league at their next meeting, March 16. Dr. Parker is to speak about the dependent children of Connecticut, a subject that she has made a special study of one who she will present in a highly interesting manner.

NEW OFFICERS OF EQUAL FRANCHISE LEAGUE.

Mrs. W. J. Bartlett has resigned as president of the Putnam Equal Franchise league and Mrs. W. L. Bartlett has resigned as vice president. Mrs. Bartlett resigned because of the fact that she will be obliged to give so much attention to her work at the state fair.

Miss Anna C. Levitt has been elected president and Mrs. James B. Tatem, Jr., vice president.

CHILLED, CRAWLS OUT AND SURRENDERS.

David Millett, 28, wanted to answer to a charge of non-support at Northbridge, Mass., was taken to the jail to that place Thursday afternoon by Robert Molt of Millbury, chief of the Massachusetts state police.

Millett furnished a sensation of small degree before he was taken away by an endeavor to escape from Chief Joseph Ryan and Special Officer Gagne.

Millett is a personal friend of Chief Ryan and in consideration of that fact the chief showed him the favor of allowing him to walk down town from the mill where he was taken into custody without embarrassing him by putting on handcuffs.

When on Church street, Millett made a break for liberty from the hands of Chief Ryan and Officer Gagne, and down to the river bank in rear of what was formerly Johnson's shoe shop. The officers took opposite directions to hear him off, and Millett, seeing he was cornered, plunged into the icy water of the Connecticut.

A ducking up to the armpits instantaneously cooled his fevered brain, and at the start, though credit, and much of it, is due to the fact of his not subscribing within a few minutes of approximately $25,000 toward a fund for the building of another mill at Industrial place.

In a word, the association is a medium through which the business men may speak and make their views and the advantage of it is so clear to the patent to everyone. It goes along from month to month, keeping a finger on the pulse of commercial and industrial Danielson and is quick to note many changes and prescribe proper treatment or action. The association is a splendid thing for Danielson.

The annual reception of the Bijou Whist club, usually held on the eve of the Lenten period, took place on Thursday evening in St. Jean Baptist hall in the Hyde building. There were many guests of members in attendance and the evening was spent in whist, dancing and other amusements. Refreshments were served. The club will hold no more meetings until next fall.

Borough Brevities. Miss Jesse Vachon of Jewett City was the guest Thursday of Mrs. Cleopatra Postmaster.

Funeral services for J. Henry Wither were held at his home in Canterbury Thursday afternoon, relatives from Danielson attending.

RICHARD SCHELLENS TO SPEAK IN NORWICH

N. F. A. Graduate Will Tell of His War Experiences.

Richard Schellens, of Groton, who was graduated from Norwich Free Academy in 1905, is to give a public lecture at Slater hall Tuesday evening next, that his Norwich friends may hear his stirring experiences while a member of Lady Paget's relief party in Serbia.

After his graduation from the Academy, Mr. Schellens spent three years at the University of Pennsylvania and while there had the signal honor of winning a Rhodes scholarship, which took him to Oxford for three years. He was graduated from that famous university and had gone into business in Manchester, England, when the war broke out.

Regarding his experiences in Serbia and Serbian Macedonia since the bombardment and occupation of Belgrade in October, 1915, Mr. Schellens says: "Both the central empires and Bulgaria wished to crush out a rival that had become extremely dangerous to them because of its marvelous victories over the Turks in 1912, the Bulgarians in 1913, and over the Austrians themselves in November-December, 1915."

The fall of Belgrade is another very long story. During the bombardment of the city on Friday, September 25th (old style), at 7 o'clock. These three days and nights seemed an age to us, and were fearful to the very last.

At Teschupria we rejoined Admiral Tripkovic, who ordered us to take over a temporary hospital somewhere in the south. We decided on Skopje (Uskub), where we arranged with Lady Paget and General Popovic to take over part of the ladia, a fine old Turkish building, that was then being organized as a military hospital with 1000 beds.

Goldman is said to have gone to the Bay State house Tuesday night and returned at 4:30 o'clock under the name of S. Goldwin, Boston. He was not seen since that time. There were crystals in the bottom of a glass found in the room, which led the police to believe the alleged suicide took place Tuesday night or early yesterday morning.

Hilda Curry, a chambermaid at the hotel, went to Goldman's room yesterday forenoon and found the door locked. She was unable to attract the attention of the janitor, who returned after the management feared there was something wrong and two of the employees, John Walsh and Edward Johnson, were sent to the room.

After trying to attract the attention of Goldman, they forced an entrance and found him lying on the floor, fully dressed. They also found the bottle labeled carbolic acid, a glass and three notes.

One of the notes was to David B. Isenberg, 105 June street, a real estate dealer, and was written on a plain card. The note said to notify Mr. Isenberg and he would take care of him. It also mentioned the fact that it might look foolish to Isenberg for him, Goldman, to commit suicide, but he could not help it.

There was a sealed note left for David Lewis, 6 Lenox street, a brother-in-law, and a sealed note to his wife, Eva Coakley.

Besides his wife, Mr. Goldman leaves two children, Harvey, 9 years old, and Janis, 4, two brothers, Harry and Savell, a sister, Sophie, and his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Goldman, all of Worcester, and another sister, Mrs. Abraham Siskies, New Bedford.

Medical Examiner Frederick H. Barker viewed the body last night at city hospital morgue.

JEWETT CITY

Wednesday Afternoon Whist Club Meets With Mrs. G. H. Jennings.

The Wednesday afternoon whist club met with Mrs. G. H. Jennings, hostess, at the home of Mrs. Jennings and Mrs. F. E. Williams were the hostesses.

The first prize, a china teapot, was taken by Mrs. H. E. Paul. The second, a china cup and saucer, went to Mrs. Sherman Waters. Refreshments were served and a pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by all.

The actual taking of Uskub was a comparatively tame affair, after Belgrade, though there was an interesting engagement in the hills to the north of the city in the direction of Koumanovo, which we could see very well with glasses from the windows of the hospital. The occupation of the city was not without its humorous side but I shall not go into details. It would take too long.

Distribution of Food and Clothes. For two months after the Bulgarian occupation I helped Lady Paget organize the distribution of food and clothes among the refugees who had stayed behind. They were absolutely dependent on us, and I do not like to think of what might have happened to them if we had not been there. During that time I managed to get an insight into the objects of the Bulgarians in their treatment of the Serbian civilian population in those parts of Macedonia. These can be summed up in the phrase "forcible repatriation," that is to say, all Serbs who had moved into Serbian Macedonia after the autumn of 1915 were being forced to return to the north, to the old kingdom of Serbia, whether they had homes there or not, whether the homes they had were still standing or were destroyed. The Bulgarians wished to see at a certain date: "There is not a Serb left in Serbian Macedonia who is not a military prisoner of war."

My views were confirmed at Soda in January, when the Bulgarian general staff refused to allow a committee of the American Red Cross, of which I was then a member, to go on with the relief work in Macedonia. There was no question of the need of that sort of work. I had seen starving Serbian prisoners, and a starving man is not a pleasing sight, I can tell you.

I came home over the high mountains that separate Bulgaria from Macedonia by motor car to Sofia. Thence to Lom Polanka on the Danube and further by steamer through the Iron Gates to Orsova in southern Hungary. By slow degrees I arrived at Budapest and Vienna. On the Swiss frontier I was detained and sent back to Bludenz in Vorarlberg. Why, I don't know, for ten days. Then I was allowed to go to Switzerland and proceeded to Paris by Bern and Poutarber.

Admiration for the Serbs. And now may I express my admiration of the Serbs? I cannot put it too strongly. They are a marvelous people. They are magnificent fighters, but hate war. It is imposed on them by necessity. Their dearest possessions are their democracy and their homes, both of which they have paid for with their blood in centuries of struggle with the Turks from the battle of Kosovo Polje in 1389 onward. The Serbs were finally driven from old Serbia and Macedonia in 1912, but the successes of the Serbs arrayed against them two other enemies as deadly, the Second Turkey in the north (Austria-Hungary), and Bulgaria in the south.

A gallant and heroic nation now lies stricken. But what I saw was not its death agony. The future of Serbia is now being decided on the plains of France, and I am quite confident that a new Serbia will arise out of the ashes of the old—a new Serbia with its frontiers enlarged to include the millions of Serbs in southern Hungary, in Bosnia and Herzegovina; a Serbia that will be secure from the attacks of envious and unscrupulous neighbors.
