EARLY MORNING CALL FOR FIREMEN. Defective Chimney Starts Fire in Boswell Avenue House.

About 1 o'clock this (Monday) morning Ernest Myers of 470 Boswell avenue heard the crackling of flames and smelled smoke. On investigation he found his cellar a roaring furnace with the flames licking their way up to the next floor. Mr. Myers rushed out of the house and rang in an alarm from box 261, corner of Boswell avenue and North Main street.

When the firemen appeared on the scene volumes of smoke were pouring through the rooms, windows and doors. The fire started from a defect in the chimney in the cellar and worked its way up through the partitions to the attic, and by excellent work of the companies it was prevented from breaking out on the roof.

As the fire was confined to the partitions it was hard to get at. Stanton telephoned for the Main street chemical. They made the run to the scene in a very short time. The Greenville company responded and laid hose.
