

ROASTING CHICKENS
CUCUMBERS AND ASPARAGUS
SMALL GREENING APPLES, 35c
FULL LINE OF CANNED GOODS
SOMERS

The Bulletin

Norwich, Thursday, March 30, 1916.

VARIOUS MATTERS

Light motor vehicle lamps at 6.40 this evening.

Justin Denison of Mystic has purchased a herd of cows from North Stonington owners.

Today is Anniversary day at Lee & Osgood's. Free souvenirs—adv.

Fishermen are buying tackle, hoping for warmer weather Saturday, with the beginning of the trout season.

Walks and streets had reached a condition Wednesday where it was possible to get about dryshod, after weeks of bad walking.

At 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, in St. Patrick's church, a month's mind Mass of Requiem for Mrs. Mary Magrath was sung by Rev. J. H. Broderick.

Mi-Cerame Whist and Entertainment, Thursday evening, Sprague hall, Baltic, benefit St. Mary's church—adv.

Thames Towboat company's tug Aqueduct has towed the coal laden schooner J. J. Fenner to the Red Cross wharf at the wharf of the Edward Chappell company.

Comfort circle of the King's Daughters met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. William E. Baker of Laurel Hill, school members and three visitors being present. Mrs. A. T. Utley presided.

Alpha Sigma society of the Second Congregational church, through Mrs. D. S. Haviland, returned a quantity of completed work to the Red Cross room Wednesday, receiving more work to be done.

A former Yantic rector, Rev. E. H. Kenyon, rector of St. Paul's church, Bridgeport, has returned. He is now in the Adirondacks in impaired health, having recently suffered an attack of apoplexy.

"A Tale of Two Cities." Lecture by Bishop Quale for Retired Preachers' Fund, Trinity M. E. church, Friday evening at 7.45 p. m.—adv.

Many farmers are preparing to go plowing as soon as the snow disappears, and there is very little frost in the ground to prevent the soil from being turned over at this time a large quantity of seed had been sown.

The state board of control met at the capitol Tuesday morning in the east main building. The board is now in the Adirondacks in impaired health, having recently suffered an attack of apoplexy.

According to present indications the Cotton road will not be ready for use before July 1, and the added summer traffic which comes with the opening of the Eastern coast colony early in June will be seriously interrupted.

Representatives of the Union Drydock company of New York city have been in Noank for the purpose of purchasing any available vessels that can be converted into river boats to carry freight in and about the harbor of New York.

Bishop Wm. A. Quale will lecture at Trinity M. E. church Friday evening at 7.45 p. m.—adv.

The first trip of the supply train of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company to Rockville main, Rev. C. A. Northrop, Norwich secretary-treasurer, Miss Elsie Osborn, New Britain.

After the reports of committees and reading of the minutes Probation Officer Leysapf called upon Prof. William B. Bailey of the Organized Charities who advised the board of the advisability of adopting a uniform system of keeping a record of cases that come under their care. Cards were distributed for the purpose, according to Professor Bailey, who urged the association to make the system as simple as possible consistent with the complete and readily understood record.

Frank A. Arnold, of Hartford, also spoke. After discussion by the members it was voted to adopt a two color card system, one color for adults and another color for juveniles.

The members had luncheon at 1 o'clock and the afternoon session Miss Elsie Osborn, New Britain, spoke on "Probation Work Among Women" and Charles A. Northrop of Norwich spoke on "Probation Work with Rounders." The election of officers followed.

PLACED OBSTRUCTION ON CENTRAL VILLAGE LINE

Providence Man is Being Held by Local Police for Griswold Authorities.

E. Leonard, who gave his address as Providence, is being held by the local police in the Board of Trade rooms on a charge of placing an obstruction on the tracks. Subject, A Tale of Two Cities—adv.

Farmers report that at Preston Plains and at Pendleton Hill the snow is four feet deep in some places, according to the highway. In some parts of the highway the snow is so deep at the present time that teams pass over the tops of the stone walls.

Connecticut people are being asked to contribute toward the purchase of St. Ignace Island. The money is being raised by the Unitarians and Congregationalists of the country, as a place for holding summer religious conferences, and with purchase the last $9,000 is being raised.

At Red Cross headquarters Wednesday morning Mrs. J. Eldred Brown and Miss Katherine E. Brown were in charge. During the afternoon the circle members, Miss Elizabeth Hall, Mrs. Charles Wheeler, Mrs. Herbert R. Kind and Mrs. Louis Geer, were in charge.

Railway construction work in four-tracked line to Midway and beyond, laying the present tracks near the station is under way. The grading of the Norwich and Western line rails has been leveled near the station and digging has begun preparatory to laying the spur track.

The national superintendent of the W. C. T. U., through the White Ribbon Banner is asking temperance unions to have a general observance of June 9 as Flower Mission day, by visiting prisons, and by holding public institutions, holding services in the latter, if possible.

John E. Leahy of New London filed a petition at Hartford Tuesday and the court has ordered him to have money to pay the filing fee. His liabilities all unsecured, are listed at $2,950. His assets consist of $1,450, described as being money in the name of John M. Malton, his partner.

The certificate of incorporation of Isaac Champeau & Co., Inc. of Putnam, to conduct a general dry goods business, has been approved by the state secretary. The company will start business with $15,000. The incorporators are Isaac Champeau, Jr., and Isaac Champeau.

The engagement of Miss Mary Green, daughter of A. W. Green, of Greenfield, to Norman P. Ream, son of the late Norman E. Ream, of New York and Thompson, has been announced. Ream and his mother live at No. 303 Park avenue. Miss Green's father is president of the National Biscuit company.

Copenhagen has prohibited the wearing of unprotected hairpins by women in street-cases.

PERSONALS

Charles Harris of Salem was a visitor in town Tuesday.

William Elliott returns today from a few days' visit in Providence.

Malcom McKean has returned home from a few days' visit in Providence.

Maurice Peck of Norwich has been at his home in Hamburg for a brief stay.

J. G. Rainey of 111 Hamilton avenue is confined to his home with the grip.

Miss Hazel Hendrick of Norwalk, is a week's visitor with Miss Margaret E. Olsen of Chestnut street.

D. L. Browning has completed the six room cottage for F. L. Lathrop on the Elizabeth Street extension.

Mrs. Frederick Condon of Norwich is visiting at the home of her parents on Winthrop street, New London.

Mrs. Ward T. Alling of Norwich has gone to Portland to visit her mother, Mrs. James Cooie, for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Holbrook and family, who have been residing at No. 10 Lincoln avenue have moved to Winsted, Conn., where they formerly resided.

Irving Button and family, who have resided at Pendleton Hill for three years, are to move to Hartford. Mr. Button is to enter the employ of the Hopkins & Allen company.

Miss Josephine Armstrong, assistant principal at the Central Village High school, returned Tuesday for a ten days' trip to Bermuda for her health.

STORRS PROFESSOR AT PRESTON CITY GRANGE

Prof. Esten Delivered Address on the New Agriculture—Norwich Visitors Present.

The Preston City Grange held a very interesting meeting Tuesday evening with several out of town guests present.

The following program was carried out: Devotional services, reading of the New Agriculture, Prof. Esten of the Connecticut Agricultural College; solo, Miss Helen Hill; duet, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Adams; feature, consisting of a word guessing contest, entertainment committee.

Out of town guests present and who made remarks were G. Warren Davis of Norwich, Herbert Knox Smith of Hartford, Prof. Jones of Storrs and County Agent P. C. Warner of Norwich. Mr. and Mrs. Kollogg of Hartford were also present. Refreshments, cake and cocoa were served by the ladies of the grange.

NORWICH MAN ELECTED.

Rev. C. A. Northrop Chosen Secretary-Treasurer of State Probation Officers.

The Connecticut Probation Officers' association, at its annual meeting in New Haven Wednesday, elected the following officers: Chairman, Rev. C. W. Simpson, Bridgeport; vice chairman, Rev. C. A. Northrop, Norwich; secretary-treasurer, Miss Elsie Osborn, New Britain.

After the reports of committees and reading of the minutes Probation Officer Leysapf called upon Prof. William B. Bailey of the Organized Charities who advised the board of the advisability of adopting a uniform system of keeping a record of cases that come under their care. Cards were distributed for the purpose, according to Professor Bailey, who urged the association to make the system as simple as possible consistent with the complete and readily understood record.

Frank A. Arnold, of Hartford, also spoke. After discussion by the members it was voted to adopt a two color card system, one color for adults and another color for juveniles.

The members had luncheon at 1 o'clock and the afternoon session Miss Elsie Osborn, New Britain, spoke on "Probation Work Among Women" and Charles A. Northrop of Norwich spoke on "Probation Work with Rounders." The election of officers followed.

PLACED OBSTRUCTION ON CENTRAL VILLAGE LINE

Providence Man is Being Held by Local Police for Griswold Authorities.

E. Leonard, who gave his address as Providence, is being held by the local police in the Board of Trade rooms on a charge of placing an obstruction on the tracks. Subject, A Tale of Two Cities—adv.

Farmers report that at Preston Plains and at Pendleton Hill the snow is four feet deep in some places, according to the highway. In some parts of the highway the snow is so deep at the present time that teams pass over the tops of the stone walls.

Connecticut people are being asked to contribute toward the purchase of St. Ignace Island. The money is being raised by the Unitarians and Congregationalists of the country, as a place for holding summer religious conferences, and with purchase the last $9,000 is being raised.

At Red Cross headquarters Wednesday morning Mrs. J. Eldred Brown and Miss Katherine E. Brown were in charge. During the afternoon the circle members, Miss Elizabeth Hall, Mrs. Charles Wheeler, Mrs. Herbert R. Kind and Mrs. Louis Geer, were in charge.

Railway construction work in four-tracked line to Midway and beyond, laying the present tracks near the station is under way. The grading of the Norwich and Western line rails has been leveled near the station and digging has begun preparatory to laying the spur track.

The national superintendent of the W. C. T. U., through the White Ribbon Banner is asking temperance unions to have a general observance of June 9 as Flower Mission day, by visiting prisons, and by holding public institutions, holding services in the latter, if possible.

John E. Leahy of New London filed a petition at Hartford Tuesday and the court has ordered him to have money to pay the filing fee. His liabilities all unsecured, are listed at $2,950. His assets consist of $1,450, described as being money in the name of John M. Malton, his partner.

The certificate of incorporation of Isaac Champeau & Co., Inc. of Putnam, to conduct a general dry goods business, has been approved by the state secretary. The company will start business with $15,000. The incorporators are Isaac Champeau, Jr., and Isaac Champeau.

The engagement of Miss Mary Green, daughter of A. W. Green, of Greenfield, to Norman P. Ream, son of the late Norman E. Ream, of New York and Thompson, has been announced. Ream and his mother live at No. 303 Park avenue. Miss Green's father is president of the National Biscuit company.

Copenhagen has prohibited the wearing of unprotected hairpins by women in street-cases.

SECOND DAY OF THE CONFERENCE

Bishop William A. Quayle Opened Devotional Service Wednesday Morning—Reports of District Superintendents Read at Afternoon Session—Anniversary of Deaconess Work, Board of Education and Board of Sunday Schools.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

The Little Sunday School Deaconess. "The Little Sunday school deaconess" was the name they gave Dwight W. Adams when he was laid, said Rev. Walter J. Yates at the memorial service in eulogizing Mr. Adams, who was laid to rest in the New Bedford district, and from 1902 until his death last year was recording secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York city. He was the son and the grandson of Methodist ministers.

PREACHER, LECTURER, POET AND AUTHOR

Bishop William A. Quayle Never Fails to Draw Capacity Crowds.

Bishop William A. Quayle, the presiding officer of the conference, is famous as a preacher, lecturer, poet and author. The more announcement of a sermon or lecture from him never fails to draw capacity crowds to the largest churches. Blessed with the gift of humor, he has the faculty of clothing the commonest truths in a new setting. There are few new preachers or public speakers today with so large a command of our English tongue. The

Bishop William A. Quayle, the presiding officer of the conference, is famous as a preacher, lecturer, poet and author. The more announcement of a sermon or lecture from him never fails to draw capacity crowds to the largest churches. Blessed with the gift of humor, he has the faculty of clothing the commonest truths in a new setting. There are few new preachers or public speakers today with so large a command of our English tongue. The

Bishop William A. Quayle, the presiding officer of the conference, is famous as a preacher, lecturer, poet and author. The more announcement of a sermon or lecture from him never fails to draw capacity crowds to the largest churches. Blessed with the gift of humor, he has the faculty of clothing the commonest truths in a new setting. There are few new preachers or public speakers today with so large a command of our English tongue. The

Bishop William A. Quayle, the presiding officer of the conference, is famous as a preacher, lecturer, poet and author. The more announcement of a sermon or lecture from him never fails to draw capacity crowds to the largest churches. Blessed with the gift of humor, he has the faculty of clothing the commonest truths in a new setting. There are few new preachers or public speakers today with so large a command of our English tongue. The

Bishop William A. Quayle, the presiding officer of the conference, is famous as a preacher, lecturer, poet and author. The more announcement of a sermon or lecture from him never fails to draw capacity crowds to the largest churches. Blessed with the gift of humor, he has the faculty of clothing the commonest truths in a new setting. There are few new preachers or public speakers today with so large a command of our English tongue. The

Bishop William A. Quayle, the presiding officer of the conference, is famous as a preacher, lecturer, poet and author. The more announcement of a sermon or lecture from him never fails to draw capacity crowds to the largest churches. Blessed with the gift of humor, he has the faculty of clothing the commonest truths in a new setting. There are few new preachers or public speakers today with so large a command of our English tongue. The

Bishop William A. Quayle, the presiding officer of the conference, is famous as a preacher, lecturer, poet and author. The more announcement of a sermon or lecture from him never fails to draw capacity crowds to the largest churches. Blessed with the gift of humor, he has the faculty of clothing the commonest truths in a new setting. There are few new preachers or public speakers today with so large a command of our English tongue. The Bishop William A. Quayle, the presiding officer of the conference, is famous as a preacher, lecturer, poet and author. The more announcement of a sermon or lecture from him never fails to draw capacity crowds to the largest churches. Blessed with the gift of humor, he has the faculty of clothing the commonest truths in a new setting. There are few new preachers or public speakers today with so large a command of our English tongue.