FATALLY BURNED AT GRASS FIRE

Mrs. Clarence E. Hill Dies at Backus Hospital From Burns Received Monday Afternoon—Was Trying to Put Out Brush Fire When Her Clothing Caught.

Frightfully burned while attempting to extinguish a bonfire in the rear of the barn on the property formerly owned by C. W. Briggs at No. 175 Broadway, about 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, Mrs. Clarence E. Hill was removed in the ambulance to the Backus hospital where she died about two hours and a half later.

Mr. Hill, who is caretaker of the property, had started a huge bonfire in the rear of the barn and the wind fanned the flames so that the fire got away from Mr. Hill's control. He called Mrs. Hill to assist him in putting out the fire and she ran from the barn right into the flames. Her clothing immediately caught and almost instantly she was enveloped in flames. In an effort to save his wife Mr. Hill tore her clothing from her body as fast as he could, receiving serious burns about his hands and fingers.

While Mr. Hill was trying to relieve his wife from her burning clothing the bonfire continued to spread rapidly and neighbors sent in a telephone call to the fire department and to the auto chemical. Both the fire pump and the auto chemical responded promptly. Dr. E. H. Linnell who was called was on the spot very soon to attend to Mrs. Hill.

Mrs. Hill was born in County Kerry, Ireland, in 1856, the daughter of Michael and Mary Connors. She came to this country at the age of 15 years and resided in Jewett City for a period of five years and then moved to Norwich where she had since resided. She was united in marriage with Clarence E. Hill of this city at St. Patrick's church, Rev. Daniel Mullin on June 9, 1872.

She is survived by her husband and one sister, Mrs. Ann Shea of this city and one son, Rev. Daniel Mullin of this city. Her daughter, Elizabeth E. Hill, both of this city.

Following the business session, the officers of the Norwich Building and Loan association, consisting of Frank H. Smith, Secretary Ernest C. Cherry and Treasurer Herbert R. Branche, addressed the men, explaining the merits of the association and the advantages of a building and loan association.

Secretary Cherry, the first speaker, spoke in part as follows: "The association, Inc. is at present in its infancy, I shall necessarily have to speak in general terms, but I shall attempt to particularize on our own association."

Associations of the nature of building and loan associations in general have started in England about the year 1793 and are still thriving there. They have accumulated assets of about $200,000,000 and assets of about $300,000,000.

These associations were first introduced into the United States about 1813 by the Rev. William C. Miller. They are more numerous in Pennsylvania than in any other state in the United States.

Among the advantages of these associations is that they are not subject to the fluctuations of the market and they are not subject to the fluctuations of the market.
