THE WEATHER.

Conditions.
The western disturbance has remained central over Wisconsin, while a secondary disturbance has developed over Virginia. These two disturbances have been attended by general rains in the last 24 hours east of the Mis-ward over the Great Lakes and generally fair in all other regions. Moderate temperatures will prevail except in the north border states from New England westward to Montana, where the weather will be cool. There will be rain Saturday and overcast weather Sunday in New England and New York.

Storm warnings are displayed on the Atlantic coast from Sandy Hook, N. J., to Boston.
The winds along the north Atlantic coast will be strong shifting, probably of moderate gale force off the southern New England coast. The Atlantic strong shifting, becoming west.

men in the church of England, was the pastor of the Shetucket National Bank. The bank was burned out freighters between here and New York was burned off Huntington and a Cleanings from the Bulletin files of '68 follow: April 16, 1868—The switch house at the ex-ville station on the New London Northern road, was burned Saturday morning. Cause of the fire was not known. The property lost started from the sparks of a passing train.

The English papers announce the death of Rev. John Koble, one of the most accomplished clergymen in the church of England, and the well-known benefactor of the city.
The New Bulletin Building.
The new Bulletin building on Main street and Water street, is rapidly approaching completion. The stores on Water St., are already finished and occupied—one by Cardwell and Wawer grocers, and the other by Kline and Hinckley, wholesale provision dealers. The rooms in the upper portion of the building are partitioned and lathed, and plastering will be commenced this week. The stores on Main street, which were burned out will probably be ready for occupancy about the first of June, so that we think we shall be able, before the end of July to re-open to our friends, best newspaper and job printing office in New England.

priate remarks by Mr. Dana, he reasons therefor. The resignation was

FAST DAY OBSERVED

At Park Church.
Special Music Added to Impressive Service of the Service.
Park Congregational church was well filled on Friday morning at the usual Fast Day service held at 11 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Howe's Scripture lesson, from the 27th chapter of St.
Matthew and his text was the 41.2 verses of the chapter. "Likewise also the chief priests mocking him, said, He saved others; himself he cannot save."
Every type of man was at the cross on Good Friday. The white robed priest, the man on the street with his ribbons, the man in the cycle with his wagging head and tongue, the brutal savage who revelled in the spectacle, the sweltering and sweat-soaked man, the mocking and derisive man, the man with the grating Sad-duce, phrethoric with all gotten the breath and the young Prophet who cleansed the befouled temple, the cold-blooded rationalist—the ancient modern—who would dig him out of history. There were the Roman eagles and the heartless le-gionaries who nailed him to the cross, the Roman soldiers, the two hearted women, the penitent criminal and the believing centurion looking with wonder at the two customed scene. All humanity was then acting out its worst and its best.
At that time were the conflicting verdicts. There was the verdict of expediency and Pilate's cringing compromise and his wife's warning.
And there was the verdict of the Scriptures. "This was the Son of God." There was the thief's testimony in his sentencing position, and there was the verdict of loving souls who saw the ineffable beauty behind the storm of accusation, as do also the great souls of all his kind, who have seen the able was the unconscious verdict of softer and bitter foes who blundered and staggered in their verdicts.
As if an angel parried the blow and stayed the fatal arrow and compelled testimony from all purposes accusation. "He saved others; himself he cannot save," meant as a term of mockery, was turned to take the office of testimony to the most sacred verity of our faith. They love a great testimony to the truth. They stated as an actual fact, that He saved others. No nobler designation could be found for a great career and service than that which he gave to himself. It carries the case for the Crucified One.
The testimony of sceptics ever since to carry out plans of the Mill Julian. The bitter jibe was turned into the fine note of testimony before it left the lips of the man who —and in this they uttered the verdict of history. Nobody has ever contradicted that. The supreme characteristic of His work was that He saved from a great peril. His name shall be called Jesus, for He shall save His people from all unrighteousness. He could not save Himself.
Here unconsciously they struck into the unmeasurable depths. He could not save except under the law of sacrifice.
You can save and serve only by letting out your own blood. The mother knows this. The child knows this.
The servant of the world is the surfer for the world. The battles of liberty and the battles of fields are cloth of gold or with swords of paste board. The nations of Europe are not guarding their frontiers with paper protocols. They are fighting with their best blood into the trenches, dug not for the combatants, but for the slain. Yes, His foes spoke truly. He
