A cocoa box cover is the nicest thing to scrape a kettle and pans with; scrape the sink; wash off any board; kneading board or shears scrape with cover. Fine! LUCY ACORN.

USES FOR AMMONIA.

Dear Cornerites: Here are a few unusual signatures new writers might like to take: Pickaninny, Tickle Toes, Topsey, Toots, Kewpie, Dainty Dinah, It, Blue Jay, Chop Suey, Midget, Indian Maid, Kiddie, Chickadee, Dutch Boy, Dynast, Sleepy, 1914, Daffy Down, Dilly, Safety First, Nutmeg, Undiscovered, Tadpole, Squaw Man, Rubber Boots, New Moon, Deacon. There is a chance for men in this list.

As housecleaning time is here, I am giving a list of helps that will be useful.

Uses for ammonia: Paint—One teaspoon to one quart of warm suds.

Marble—One teaspoon to one quart of warm suds.

Windows—One teaspoon to one quart of water. No suds.

Mirrors—One teaspoon to one quart of water. No suds.

Stings—Apply full strength to beestings.

Blisters—One teaspoon to one quart of water. No suds.

Blister—Use full strength.

Cold—Five drops to one gill of water. Small ammonia until you can feel it in your throat.

Headache—Bathe head and smell of ammonia. Careful not to blister.

Disinfecting—Ammonia is an alkali, dissolving grease.

Dish Cloths—Boll in ammonia and water.

Flowers (cut and wilted)—A drop or two of ammonia in water will revive them.

Toothache—Saturate cotton and apply to cavity.

Dandruff, etc.—Apply as strong as can be borne.

Frostbite—Silver—Ammonia and whitening put on with a brush.

Bloodstains—One tablespoon in a gallon of warm water. Let stand for half hour. Then boll in hot suds.

Some of the above hints do not apply to housecleaning, but in their place they are valuable.

I wonder what has become of Dreamer, Icicle, Wandering Jew, Fuchsia, Gladys, and the writers from California.

SUNBONNET SUE.

DEAR SOCIAL CORNER SISTERS: I hope the old Sisters had a good time at Club No. 1's meeting April 12.

Although the weather was doubtful in the morning, the sun shined brightly.

Juliet and Jennie: I think you enjoyed yourselves together.

Ketling: What were you? I missed seeing you there.

Am sending directions for my lemon cake and filling, which I find are very good.

LORETTA.

DIANA A FAVORITE WITH MOTHER HUBBARD.

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Will you read before we start sociating, for then I will be too busy to write.

Reason: In paper dated March 30, 1912, you wrote that you didn't think we could beat Maine for snow.

I had been in Connecticut this winter, but don't know what snow Connecticut wasn't so far behind.

Tiny: Certainly you may ask how I am getting on. I am well and could be just as good as telling you who I am, will let you keep on guessing, for I am not there, and had my full share of every day.

Lucy Acorn: Put me wise at the next club meeting. I will give you a couple of summers and enjoyed it very much.

I cross the ferry and trolley down towards your section, so look out for me, please.

Photographer: How fortunate we flowers of the Corner are to be photographed by you.

Now we are all here, and we will get a fine picture in a group if you only popped up during dinner and the social after-noon.

Yours for the Corner, CALLA LILY.

GREETINGS FROM READY.

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I have kept still about as long as I can and if one made use of the space I offered for your notices, I would cut up and I went to the gathering April 12 and if nothing had never been said about former gatherings I might have been present; but, as it was, I enjoyed myself so much and was so pleased to meet so many of the Sisters.

How "The Devil" Changed His Name

An Easter Story by the Nannie Hawkins

The name "Watertown," was the cause of many a joke as water was seldom used as a beverage in the small village of Watertown.

There was a small mill that paid small wages, and employed a small force of laborers.

This last place had been started some two years before by a young fellow who gave his name as "The Devil."

Several children were hired to bring arbutus and evergreen and put it up under the eaves.

"The Devil" mailed a letter on the morning train and received a large bill in the evening and curiosity run high.

Simple Inexpensive Remedy Checks Early Tendency to Constipation

About the first thing impressed on the young Mother is the necessity for regularity in her baby, which brings up the question of the most desirable laxative for children's use.

Mrs. Jesse Richardson, Philpot, Ky., writes: "My little son, William, Jr., just loved it because it is so pleasant to take, and everybody talks about his being such a fine healthy boy."
