

WILLEMANTIC

A TALE OF TWO CARS.

Hew Dr. Girouard Innocently Gave a Scare to a Meriden Visitor.

The self starter on Dr. Girouard's new Geo was the cause of a little excitement Saturday morning. Friday night the doctor called on a local garage and told them that he had been having trouble with the self starter. The car was taken to the garage and the doctor was told that a special car would be left for him to make his calls in while his own was being repaired. Saturday morning C. J. Vanasse of 173 Liberty street, Meriden, a former resident of this city, came to town in a new Geo car which he had purchased the day before. He left the car in front of Dr. Girouard's office on Union street while he went into the Wood Smoko Shop. While Vanasse was in the shop the doctor came down stairs and, seeing the car standing there, supposed it was one which the garage had sent for his use, got in and started on his rounds. Shortly after the doctor left Vanasse came out of the shop, to find his car gone. He reported the matter to Chief Richmond. An active search was made by the chief and Traffic Officer Grady was told to be on the lookout for the car. Dr. Girouard on his way back from his calls stopped at the garage to see how they were getting along with his car and remarked about the car he was using. To his surprise he was informed that it did not belong to them. He came down Union street and saw quite a crowd gathered there and the matter was straightened out. Mr. Vanasse was overjoyed to find that his car had not been stolen.

FIRE LOSS OF $600 AT SOUTH COVENTRY LAKE.

Owner of Summer Resort Buildings and Manager of Restaurant Had No Insurance.

At 10 o'clock Saturday morning fire practically wiped out the principal buildings at Lakeside park, South Coventry. The buildings destroyed were the pavilion, the restaurant, the ice-house and a smaller building. The buildings were owned by A. H. Johnson of Toland, whose house is estimated to be close to $5,000, with $3,200 insurance. It is not known just how the fire started, but it was first discovered in the rear of the icehouse, which was located on the top of the pathway leading from the trolley terminus about 40 feet from the pavilion. The fire was discovered by Miss Anita Jewett, who was assisting A. L. Croil in getting the casino ready for the opening of the park Memorial day. It was assumed, but could give but little assistance, as there were no means of fighting the fire except to bring water from the lake in pails. The pavilion caught in a little while, then the restaurant began to blaze, and inside of 40 minutes all of the buildings mentioned were burned down. The buildings that escaped were, the bowling alley and candy booth. The restaurant building across the trolley tracks, owned by Lieut. Daniel Killourey, was not damaged, although flying embers went quite a distance. The roofs of the house and barn of E. H. Woodward caught fire but were put out by some of the volunteer firemen.

Manager Croil estimates his loss at $300, with no insurance. George L. Brooks of Toland, who has the charge of the restaurant this season. His loss will be about $200, with no insurance.

FUNERALS.

Mrs. Lois Jordan.
Funeral services for Mrs. Lois Jordan were held from the home at 1230 Main street Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. F. Rowley of the Baptist church officiated. The bearers were relatives of the deceased. Burial was in the Windham Center cemetery. Arrangements were in charge of Funeral Director Jay M. Shepard.

Rev. Leander E. Livermore.
The body of Rev. Leander E. Livermore, a former resident of Lebanon, who died in Florida last January, was brought to Lebanon, where a committal service was held at the grave in the old cemetery, Rev. Hollis Campbell officiating. Arrangements were in charge of Funeral Director Jay M. Shepard.

Michael Shea.
The funeral of Michael Shea, who died Tuesday, was held Friday from the rooms of a local undertaker, with requiem high mass at St. Joseph's church, Rev. T. P. Bannon officiating. The bearers were Michael J. English, William and James Talvey and John Healy. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Rogue Club to Open Season.
The Willimantic Rogue club will officially open its season tomorrow, May 30. Games will be played afternoon and evening. There are several fine players in this city, including A. J. Spelman, president of the local club, who has played in the first division in the national rogue tournament at Norwich the past two seasons. Other players who are taking part in the national rogue tournament in past seasons include Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton, Attorney Frank H. Foss, Charles M. Thompson, George W. Williams, Fred W. Pratt and others. Some of the best players in the country will be present tomorrow afternoon and evening. Among them will be Harold and Eddie Clark of Springfield, Mass., the latter champion of the world, F. H. Stockwell of Norwich and others.

Mrs. Vanderbilt Addresses Spiritualists.
Mrs. Mary S. Vanderbilt was the speaker and message bearer at the Spiritualist society Sunday morning and evening. There was a large attendance, as this was the last service for the summer months.

Police and Fire Departments Marked High.
The annual inspection of the police and fire departments of the city was held Saturday afternoon by the city officials. The first place visited was the police station, where 11 policemen and Lieut. Daniel Killourey and Chief Richmond presented a fine appearance. Mayor Daniel P. Dunn and Corporation Counsel Thomas J. Kelley made short addresses, complimenting the men on their excellent work of the past. A visit was then made to each of the fire houses, where the members of each company were inspected. Mayor Dunn said nothing but words of praise for the firemen and said that he hoped the already excellent efficiency of the department would be increased in the near future with the installation of the new motor power to the apparatus.

The attention of the fire committee was called to the condition of the tower of the Bank street engine house and they were instructed to make an investigation of the same. The moving picture men were on hand and snapped both the police inspection and the fire inspection.

Brief Mention.
E. P. Johnson of Springfield, Mass., Miss Priscilla Billings of Stonington, Miss Grace Reade and Miss Hazel Swift of this city spent Sunday at the Indian Hut in Franklin.

Twenty members of San Jose council, No. 41, K. of C., journeyed to New Haven Sunday, where the fourth degree was worked on a number of candidates. There were five candidates from this council: Michael Danahy, George Hickey, Edmund Hurley, Dr. Leo McKenna and Harry Lester. About 12 made the trip by auto and the rest went by train.

Mrs. Otto L. Pritz of Lebanon, who was brought to St. Joseph's hospital last week for an operation, is recovering and expects to return home shortly.

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD AT METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. R. S. Moore Delivered Stirring Address.

The memorial service held at the local Methodist church Sunday evening was largely attended. Francis S. Long post, G. A. R., The Spanish War Veterans, the Women's Relief Corps, and Company L, First Infantry, C. N. G., attending a body. A splendid musical service was arranged by the choir, led by Mr. Harry Lester. Jordan sang "Tenting Tonight," accompanied by a male chorus in fine manner.

Adjutant Schaffer delivered Lincoln's Gettysburg address. Rev. R. S. Moore, pastor of the church, delivered a stirring address. He said in part: "I give you the grating pleasure to extend to you tonight a most hearty welcome to this place, and to this service. There are no political or religious faiths tonight, we are all one at this time in this place, citizens of a common country, inheritors of a common blessing, legatees and trustees of a great faith. No difference divides us, no differences separate us but there is a true unity in gratitude in the memory of a life of service. I salute you, I bow to the memory of the dead."

To some of us this service means more than others. Some of us are most remotely connected with that great event. That great struggle which men made for the people and for the freedom of the people and for the rights of men. Yonder in the valley of the Susquehanna sleeps my father who fought for freedom of men. I remember that at the battle of Antietam Creek the 130th Pennsylvania went side by side with the 14th Connecticut. That 130th was my father's regiment. So when I speak to Connecticut men I speak to men who were comrades to my father in arms. Nearly 60 years ago our nation began that long, long journey of hers through the shadow of the valley of death. That weary march every foot of which was wet by blood and by the pouring of sacrifice. That long, weary march began with exaltation, carried on with painstaking sacrifice and completed with some profound militancy. It is fitting that just once a year at least we should come together and think upon the sacrifices of our fathers. No wonder we recall their community should meet in a special commemorative service and let men wander back through the past and recall and read over that which men have walked with bleeding feet, their sacrifice forever paid. We commemorate men, peace loving, law abiding men, who at the call to duty went forth to keep the faith. No wonder as the faces of many of them come to us our hearts beat with more tumultuous gratitude. No wonder we recall their lives, their achievements, sacrifices, toil, our hearts are filled with gladness that comes to us, a profound sense of loftiness and greatness of life. People are apt to be forgotten in these days. Just as good blood, my brothers, came over in the steerage as came over in the Mayflower. All men by birth are sons of the most high God and before the face of our judge eternal there is no black, white, red or yellow, but all men are His children. No man is great enough to own any other man, body and soul. No man is wise enough or great enough to be the keeper of another man's conscience. No man strong enough to enslave another man anywhere. They are all my Father's people.

So, my dear friends, it is with a sense of a great obligation to you, with a sense not as deep as it ought to be, because we can not realize the debt we owe to men who saved the Union, who saved liberty, saved poor men from slavery. It is with a sense of gratitude we welcome you. May God in His infinite grace spare you for long, long years to come. May His peace rest upon you, may His blessing make you glad.

The service closed with the singing of America, the congregation standing while the invited guests passed out.

OBITUARY.

Miss Augusta Thomas.
Miss Augusta Thomas of 130 Chapman street died Sunday morning after an illness of pneumonia. Miss Thomas was born in 1862 in this city and has taught school in this city and vicinity for number of years. She was a member of the Baptist church and of the Willimantic Woman's club.

FOUND DEAD IN BED

Pierre D. Moreau Died of Heart Failure.
Pierre D. Moreau of 250 Jackson street was found dead in bed Sunday afternoon by his brother who was visiting the family. Mr. Moreau had been in usual health up to the time of his death and his sudden death was a shock to his family and friends. Heart trouble was the cause of death. Sunday morning he went to the cemetery to place some flowers on his sister's and father's graves and on his return went up stairs for a nap. He had been in the habit of taking a nap at that hour and has family thought nothing of it. His brother was only here for the day and when he was about to leave he went upstairs to bid him good-bye and discovered that he was dead.

Dr. O'Neill and Parker were called and Medical Examiner Marsh of Hampton viewed the body.

The deceased was employed by the firm of Brick & Sullivan and was well known. He was born in this city in 1874 and had lived here all his life. He attended the parochial schools and was a faithful attendant at St. Mary's church. He was connected with a number of organizations, being Eastern Loyal Lecturing Knight of the B. P. O. Elks of this city. He was formerly a member of the Garden order of Elks, being transferred here when the local lodge was instituted. He was also a member of the Garden Fortinon St. and the Baptist Union, and was formerly a corporal in Company E, Third regiment.

He survived by his mother, Mrs. Virginia Moreau, six sisters, Victoria Moreau, Mrs. Albert Fournier, Rose Moreau, Mrs. Laura Hornberger, Mrs. William B. Sweeney, Florina Moreau of this city; and two brothers, Fred Moreau of Lawrence, Mass., and Arthur Moreau of this city.

Mr. Moreau was a cheerful, happy man, one whom everyone liked to meet. He was faithful to his family, his church and his work, and was a good citizen.

William Martin Dies.
William Martin, who tried to commit suicide by cutting his throat and wrists at the almshouse Friday, died at St. Joseph's hospital Sunday afternoon. While it did not seem fatal at

JEWETT CITY

Six Veterans, Members of Sedgwick Post, Attend Memorial Service at the Congregational Church—Funeral of Miss James R. Armstrong.

At the Congregational church Sunday morning an audience which numbered but a few of 200 attended a union memorial service of the Methodist and Congregational churches. The altar and choir loft were draped with American flags, the flowers being white lilies. The sermon was by the Rev. Albert Donnell, pastor of the church. He spoke on "The Evening-time Light." His remarks were almost wholly along the line of the great sacrifice and achievement of the soldiers of fifty years ago. His three divisions touching the reason for the evening-time light for the veteran, an illustrious past, a luminous present and a glorious future, were most ably handled.

Not a few in the audience will recall when the veterans filled three pews, and that not many years ago. Sunday there were but six, all members of Sedgwick Post, No. 1, of Norwich: J. H. Lee, G. A. Hankell, G. W. Blake, L. A. Thornton, Hugh McLaughlin, R. M. Brown. The only other from Jewett City, who is alive, is W. H. Tift, who was unable to attend.

A notable feature of the service was the music by the combined choirs, a special number being "Tenting Tonight," by Mrs. L. G. Buckingham, Miss Mary Tinker, E. F. Burleson and T. A. Robinson, the solo being by Mrs. Buckingham.

Attended Moosup Conclave.
The Knights of Birmingham held a grand conclave at Moosup Saturday evening, followed by a buffet lunch and smoker.

Seven from Jewett City received the degree. Four automobiles took the local representatives, J. H. Tracy, E. B. Cheney, R. F. Cheney, B. R. Gardner, G. H. Prior, E. M. Gray, W. H. Payne, P. D. Morgan, A. D. Tripp, F.

FUNERAL

Mrs. James R. Armstrong.
The funeral services of Mrs. James R. Armstrong were held from her home Sunday afternoon. The house was filled with relatives and friends. The funeral discourse was by Rev. J. W. Payne. Prayer was offered and the Scripture was read by Rev. J. Allen Spidel, pastor of the Baptist church. A quartette from the Baptist choir, Mrs. G. H. Prior, Miss Ida I. Foster, E. R. Gardner and G. H. Prior, sang "Silent and Low, Kindly Light." The bearers were the three sons, John, Benjamin and Charles and the son-in-law, Fred Grigor of North Attleboro, Mass.

Relatives present from out of town included John Armstrong of Brookfield, Mass.; Miss Sarah Armstrong of Lakefield, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Armstrong of Providence, R. I.; and Mrs. Fred Grigor of North Attleboro, Mass. Miss Susan Armstrong of Hermon, Mass., and a nephew, Benjamin Carpenter of Westbury, R. I.

Out of town friends included: Mr. and Mrs. Courland York of Westbury, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert White, and Mr. and Mrs. Abial Browning of North Franklin, Misses Amy and Alice Lillis of Willimantic, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Park of Hanover, Miss Addie Smith of New London, Chester Apply and Andrew Davies of Norwich. There was a multitude of beautiful flowers from the Jewett City Baptist church, relatives and friends.

Burial will take place today at Ferrisville, R. I.
