THE KIND THAT IS NEEDED.

A week from today will be held the annual city election and it is a contest to which the people of Norwich should be looking forward with deep interest.

Determined that Norwich should have an administration of its affairs that will be both efficient and economical, that they should be run on a business basis for the welfare of the community first, last and all the time.

From first to last it is made up of men who have made a success in their respective callings. They are men who have been faithful in whatever trusts have been imposed upon them.

Headed by Allyn L. Brown as candidate for mayor, an active young man of the highest standing in the community and whose qualifications for the office and ability to conduct the city government cannot be questioned.

HELPING THE SUFFERERS.

Once again has the Rockefeller Foundation come to the assistance of the war sufferers in Europe and appropriated a million dollars for the purpose of helping the people of Serbia, Poland, Hungary and Albania.

This course is not the only financial assistance that has been extended to these sections. The conditions which prevail there have been repeatedly set forth in the columns of this paper.

Millions in money and provisions have been sent for the relief of the Belgian people. They needed it and they still require assistance.

A million a day for the navy is proposed and it better be that for a year and provide something to prevent war, than to spend many millions daily for a number of years in an appalling conflict through unpreparedness.

The member of the MacMillan expedition who has returned and declared Crocker land to be a myth will probably be given no peace by Dr. Cook until he searches for the pole and proves that Dr. Peary never saw that either.

In view of the failure of the senate to confirm the recess appointment of Mr. Babbey, those who are put in office by the President hereafter will be anxious to know whether they are going to get paid for their services before accepting.

PORT DEVELOPMENT.

Port development is a matter of such concern along the entire coast of this country. It is closely allied with commercial activity and when it is shown in a department of commerce report that there has been a considerable increase in port facilities, ties, such as piers, improved railroad connections and deepened channels, it is as it should be. Such of course means that there has been some benefit derived from the appropriations made for rivers and harbors by the federal government, and that municipal and state grants for this purpose have contributed in no small way to the improved showing, but while this has been done to make the ports better and to give greater accommodation to ocean going steamships there has been a serious disregard for the necessity of increasing the merchant marine of this country.

Instead of lending encouragement in this direction, federal legislation has taken the opposite course, and at a time, as conditions over which it has had no control show, when the transportation interests have needed the very stimulus which they have been denied.

The war and the demand for American goods have resulted in the serious congestion of the railroads of the country because there were not vessels enough to carry away the cargoes as fast as they were delivered at the different ports. Capital has responded to this abnormal condition generously, in spite of the handicaps which are encountered under the seaman's law. The response would have been still greater if it was not understood what the conditions are that must be met after the war when the full effect of the legislation will be felt.

Port development is an excellent thing and indicates progress in the right direction, but there ought to be as much attention given to securing American vessels to make use of it.

GENERAL GALLIENI.

Great regret was manifested in France when General Gallieni retired from the office of minister of war because of ill health and greater regard is now being expressed throughout that republic from the fact that he has passed away.

Specifically valuable service was rendered in the island of Madagascar, which island he conquered, where he was made governor general in 1895 and general of division on his return in 1899. His promotion to the war council came in 1908 and he was entitled to retirement before the war opened but France could not spare his services, and the part which he played in the defense of Paris, when the Germans were at its very door, showed the wisdom in retaining him.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The man on the corner says: Few married delegates go to a convention wholly unattached.

Berlin claims that the French never retook Fort Douaumont, which if it is so simply means that they have not been driven back out of it again.

However much dissatisfied the amateur gardener may be over backward spring it cannot be expected that it will interfere to any extent with the June wedding crop.

When one stops to think that Colonel Roosevelt made the present administration possible, there are now further reasons for believing that he is doing his best to continue it.

The suggestion that von Igel be released and sent to Germany for punishment is what might be expected from von Bernstorff. Such punishment would likely mean a medal.

It is of course all right for a bank president to say that money was never so plentiful in the United States, but there are a great many who haven't as yet become millionaires.

Chicago has a shaveteria, a barber shop where everybody is his own tonsorial artist. That will never be popular with the fellow who depends upon such places for his new supply of stories.

Black straw hats, as a rule, only need rinsing. Use a little sweet oil and rub it off with a piece of black velvet.

NOVEL HANDBAGS.

There is a surprising variety of novel handbags, both in shape and material, shown in all the shops just now.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

To make marmalade look clear without skimming it, add a piece of butter the size of an egg before removing the fruit from the fire.

Scrambled eggs on toast make a very good breakfast dish.

Cereals with fruit make very good and economical luncheon dishes.

Warm a lemon before squeezing it and you will get much more juice.

Never fold an umbrella when it is wet, but keep it folded when it is dry.

Powdered starch if applied immediately to fruit stains will remove them.

To bleach handkerchiefs, add a little of lemon to the water they are boiled in.

A bottle of dried-up glue will become soft if a little vinegar is placed in the bottle.

Brass if rubbed with sweet oil after it has been polished will not tarnish so quickly.

Always put the scrubbing brush to dry with the bristles down. This will save the brush.

Keep a watchful eye on the children's school lunch; if they have good, nourishing lunches they will be better able to stand the strain of school work.

Save all the tissue paper that comes into the house. It is excellent for drying and polishing lamp chimneys and mirrors when they are washed.

You can produce a brilliant polish on your glassware by adding a little turpentine to the washing water, about a couple of teaspoonfuls to the gallon.

If potatoes are kept in a place where the light strikes them they will turn green. If they must be in a light place cover them with newspapers.

WASHABLE GLOVES.

Washable gloves such as women are wearing now are an economy in two ways. Supposing they are white or a color shade, they are the walking costume a well cared for and dainty affair, and they are healthy because they require constant cleaning.

The process can be undertaken at home and only demands a few moments' work. Take the gloves (two) to those made of washable kid, coselin, chamol or soft-surface doecin and chamol gloves, as the glazed surface does not hold the dirt so readily.

When the gloves are clean rinse them thoroughly in fresh water, and then immediately rub on more soap. Let this soap dry into the gloves, and it will be found that they will be pliant and comfortable to wear when they are put on.

SAILOR IS SMART.

One of the best types of hat for present wear is the perfectly plain sailor rather broad in the brim and rather small and low in the crown.

A good tonic for the eyebrows is made with two ounces of red vaseline, one dram of tincture of camphor, fifteen drops of oil of lavender, fifteen drops of oil of rosemary. Apply night and morning with a tiny brush.

There are many causes for falling hair. Indigestion in children generates diseases that are incompatible with a healthy growth of hair.

CLEANING HATS.

To clean a white felt hat: Fill a kettle with flour, and put it in the oven until it is quite warm. Then quickly wash white flannel rub the flour into the felt very thoroughly, and dust it off with a perfectly clean brush or a white cloth.

The hat will be as new. White straw hats can be cleaned, and the sunburn removed, as follows: Warm a lemon, squeeze it into a saucer, and add a teaspoonful of powdered sulphur.

Brush this well on the hat, rinse several times in cold water, wipe with dry cloths, and finally dry in the shade. That hat will be as when you bought it.

Artificial flowers may be restored in many cases, not the alloy holding them for a couple of minutes in the steam of boiling water.

Black felt hats can be made quite nice if well rubbed with benzine. Dry in the open air.

Black chip hats, as a rule, only need rinsing. Use a little sweet oil and rub it off with a piece of black velvet.

Black straw hats, if faded, should be treated as follows: Get a piece of good black sealing wax (one-half ounce), powder it, and add to it two ounces of pure spirits of wine.

Stand the bottle in a basin of hot water until the wax is quite dissolved, then brush it on the hat with a toothbrush. Do this near a hot radiator. The hat will be quite stiff and glossy.

DICTATES OF FASHION

Silk crepe de chine is used for elaborate sports coats.

Some of the new sport coats have smocking on the hips.

Nearly all the dark grays this season have a brownish cast.

A great deal of stitching is used on suits, coats and dresses.

Sleeves are mostly wide and gathered into a cuff at the wrist.

Paris women are wearing cocleades on their hats.

One's frock may be ruffled from girle to frock.

Chuddah cloth is used for separate skirts.

New silks are in large and striking checks and daring stripes.

Fancy coats are usually made of silk with ruchings and cordings.

Embroidered net, white and blue, makes a delightful lingerie dress.

It looks as though ornamental hats would soon be in favor.

The sleeveless nightgown is a new idea which is meeting with success.

Satin pinnings make a quaint trimming for the dress of georgette crepe.

Newest of all combs is the Spanish comb, fan shaped, that fits into the high form of hairdressing.

CARE OF GLOVES.

If you want chamol or doecin gloves to any great extent, a pair of excessive heat shrivels them. It is best to wash them in a solution of borax and water.

The washable dressed kid gloves are another boon. They should be washed in cool, soapy water, and it is best to wash them on the hands.

If the washing is carefully done, the gloves come out of it in admirable shape. They need less frequent washing than the soft-surface doecin and chamol gloves, as the glazed surface does not hold the dirt so readily.

For a good plan to have a chunk of kneaded rubber eraser in the handbag. With it a soiled spot on the glove can be removed, or at least made so unobtrusive that it is almost unnoticeable.

To renovate a shabby serge skirt sponge it over with hot vinegar until all the stains and grease marks disappear. Rinse thoroughly press on the wrong side with a fairly hot iron.

NEEDLEWORK NOTES.

The bluebird, emblem of hope, is a general favorite with needleworkers. It is worked in blue and makes an attractive design.

A washable corset bag can be made of white poplin. Embroider a wreath in cross stitch in any desired color and let the bag at four inches from which is stitched to form the casing for a ribbon.

A pretty bag was made of dark green poplin and a cretonne with green background scattered with gay flowers. The cretonne was sewed to the bag at the top and was not attached to the sides or bottom. It was finished in six scallops bound with braid beneath which the plain green was visible.

An effective breadsack can be made from coarse unbleached sheeting. A conventional or any other design is worked on it in French knots with heavy cotton. The sides are finished with a cotton fringe and the finished spread is a thing of beauty.

CHIFFON MOTOR VEIL.

A new idea in automobile veils is one of chiffon with an elastic band, the veil falling well down on the shoulders and edged with a twelve inch border of shadow lace. It is worn with the opening directly over the face and is drawn back when not in use. It is also suitable for evening wear.

DRESSING THE HANGER.

The most alluring coat hangers have a feminine head, quaintly bonneted in the center, with the wings that the shoulders of the coat hang on so extending from the shoulders of the head as to suggest arms.

FOR HER COIFFURE.

Much attention to the tresses is paid these days. To wear the smart hats one's hair must be fashionably arranged.

A NEW LAUNDRY BAG.

A very simple laundry bag is made by taking a square of cretonne of any desired size (a breadth and a half makes a bag of good size).

This is because of the superior medication of Sykes Comfort Powder, which has made it the standard nursery and sick room healing, soothing and skin protecting powder of New England for more than 20 years.

Calgary, Canada, has two women judges. Syracuse has a woman stenographer's union.

Pennsylvania has nearly 1,300 women physicians and clergymen. Forty out of every 100 women in Massachusetts work for a living.

Women can now vote at all municipal elections in Fallersme, Fla. The rates of pay for women as a whole in Oregon have been increased.

MADE WITH RUFFLES. There are plain silk petticoats to wear with walking frocks that are plain petticoats, no more, no less. They are made with ruffles to give the ruffled fullness at the bottom, and some of them are stiffened with crinoline or a reed.

WILTED VEGETABLES. The juice of a lemon added to a pan of water will freshen wilted vegetables. Let them stand in it for one hour.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Month of June. Mr. Editor: The month of June, 1916, is to be a month long to be remembered by agricultural people, as one of the most profitable months for all branches of farming.

The electrical storms (thunder showers as we call them here), will come up, very suddenly and be very fierce.

Hustle in your pole beans as early as possible after Monday, and you may rest assured that with proper care you will have a bountiful crop.

Those farmers who make a practice of raising late cabbage and cabbage for winter use should get the plants started early this June in order to have them well started before the drought of August strikes them.

This continual fall of rain cannot be expected forever, and the man who gets ready for it is the man who wins. Cabbage well headed when the dry weather comes, gathers enough moisture at night to help out considerably while those just heading wilt so badly in the day that it requires all the night moisture to keep them alive and none left over for growth.

Some years ago I visited Mrs. Archibald Tattersall, the Texas squash queen, at her farm near Richmond, just west of Houston. I had tried for years to raise squashes and failed. I went all over her plot of 15 acres of Hubbard squashes and was surprised to find such a wonderful growth of vine and vegetable among huge weeds.

She quickly proved to me that the weeder was the key to success. I have since tried it and it has proved to be correct.

Don't misunderstand me. I don't mean for you to plant squashes and let the weeds strangle them, nothing close to a weed, just let that weed alone. If you don't believe me, try a hill or two and you will see that there is one fellow who knows a little (if not much) about a number of things, even if he does sign his name, THE CLOUD DIGGER.

NEW BOOKS Defenseless America, by Hudson Maxfield. Published by Hearst's International Library company, New York. Cloth, 324 pages. Price 50 cents. The main object of this book is to present a phalanx of facts upon the subject of the defenseless condition of this country, and to show what must be done, and done quickly, in order to avert the most dire calamity that can fall upon a people—that of merciless invasion by a foreign foe, with the horrors of which no pastille can be compared. It is the aim of this work to weaver truth to the reader, at the same time to avoid personalities, and our members of congress should take heed and furnish the funds to guard the United States against foreign invasion. Leading Opinions, Both For and Against National Defense. Collected and arranged by Hudson Maxfield. Paper, 121 pages. Price 50 cents. This is a handbook and guide for debaters and public speakers presenting both sides of the question with absolute impartiality. It contains letters by eminent leaders of American thought, and opinions by men who know whereof they speak.
