

LITTLE PIMPLES ON FACE, NECK

And Hands. Became Scaly and Skin Was Sore, Ashamed To Go Out. Lasted Three Months.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"One night before retiring I was troubled with an itching and in the morning I found that my face was all broken out with little pimples, and then they came on my neck and hands. The pimples became scaly and my skin was so sore that I had to bathe it with cold water to keep the pain down, and scabs and my face became erupted. I was so red and sore I was ashamed to go outdoors at all. It lasted about three months. "I tried... to no purpose. A friend told me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment... and after using three boxes of Cuticura Soap and one-half a box of Cuticura Ointment I regained my complexion, and was completely healed."

Sample Each Free by Mail With 32-p. Skin Book on the treatment of the skin and scalp. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston." Sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world.

Patriotic Exercises at Town Street School—Pupils Addressed by Commander Price—Letter of Appreciation from Mrs. William M. Zumbro.

At the town street school Monday afternoon the pupils of the junior and senior rooms united for patriotic exercises. The salute to the flag, Sheridan's Ride, and songs were given. Then the commander of Sedgewick post, G. M. Price, gave a most interesting address, saying: I was 16 when I enlisted and was mustered into the United States service, and am now a veteran of that war of over 50 years ago. We went to uphold and preserve our country. In a few years the last veteran of the Civil war will be laid away, and the war will pass away, but thousands are left.

The recruiting office used to be under the Wauregan house. Crowds were about there. My father's face was sorrowful when he signed the paper which was required before I could enlist. I was sent for, a week or two later, and went into barracks in New Haven. When the companies had all gathered we took the steamer Elm City for New York. There we boarded a big vessel and crossed the Gulf of Mexico. From there we followed in the wake of the army that took the forts on the Mississippi. We stopped at New Orleans, then crossed the Gulf of Louisiana. After two years there we re-enlisted. The next service was through the battles of the Shenandoah under Sheridan. My father and his men were always ready to follow him. Cedar Creek was the scene of the worst battle. After 24 hours fighting we retook our camp with 50 more, and thousands and thousands of prisoners, which practically annihilated Early's army, one of the strongest armies of its size that the confederates had.

From that region we went to Fortress Monroe, then south, where we stayed the last year, guarding the stuff that Sherman had captured in his march to the sea. From Fort Pulaski we went to New York and then home. The only thing I have that went through the war are these bits of the shot-riddled flag that was carried at the head of our regiment. The rest of the flag is in Hartford with the other army flags of the state.

At the West Town street school all the pupils gathered in the senior room. Poems were recited, also the Gettysburg address, and patriotic songs were sung. All gave close attention to Mr. Price's talk which was of his personal experience in different battles, and an account of the prisons, especially Andersonville.

Letter from Mrs. Zumbro. At the First Congregational church Sunday morning a letter was read from Mrs. William M. Zumbro thanking the church for their part in the gift of the Victoria. It reached the steamer just in time to go with them, otherwise it would have been months longer in reaching Madras.

Westerly Has Medal of Honor Man

Service of James A. Barber Rewarded—Town Council to Prepare for Special Election to Decide Light and Power Problem June 13—Regular Town Election the 6th—Order of Exercises for Today.

James A. Barber is a native of West-erly, a member of Budlong post, Grand Army of the Republic, and the only Civil war veteran in the town whose name is on the medal of honor roll. Recently congress voted a special pension of $10 a month to this class of soldiers and Mr. Barber has his application as prescribed under the law. In response he received the following communication:

The Adjutant General's Office, War Department, Washington, May 19, 1916. Mr. James A. Barber, East Avenue, Westerly, R. I.

Sir: By direction of the secretary of war, I have the honor to advise you that your application for enrollment in the army and navy medal of honor roll, under provisions of the act of congress approved April 27, 1916, has been favorably considered by the war department.

Your name has been entered and recorded on said roll, on file in the war department, and the certificate authorized by the law is herewith enclosed. A certified copy of the enclosed certificate has this day been delivered to the commissioner of pensions, Washington, D. C., with whom all correspondence relating to the special pension granted by the act should be conducted.

Very respectfully, H. P. M'CAIN, The Adjutant General.

Medal of Honor Certificate issued under the provisions of the act of congress approved April 27, 1916. To whom it may concern: This is to certify that James A. Barber was enrolled on the 11th day of November, 1861, to serve three years, re-enlisted as a veteran volunteer Dec. 29, 1863, to serve three years, and was discharged on the 24th day of June, 1865, by reason of muster out of battery, while holding the grade of corporal in Battery G, First regiment of Rhode Island Light artillery volunteers; that a medal of honor was awarded to him on the 18th day of June, 1866, for gallant and meritorious conduct in action at Petersburg, Va., April 2, 1865, being one of a number of artillerymen who voluntarily accompanied an infantry assaulting party, and turned upon the enemy the guns captured in the assault; his name was entered and recorded on the army and navy medal of honor roll on the 7th day of May, 1916, as authorized under the provisions of the act of congress approved April 27, 1916, and that he is entitled to receive the special pension granted by that act.

By authority of the secretary of state, H. P. M'CAIN, The Adjutant General.

James A. Barber's war record: Enrolled Nov. 11, 1861; mustered in Dec. 2, 1861; re-enlisted as veteran Dec. 29, 1863; wounded and in general hospital 35 days in 1864; mustered out June 24, 1865.

There are two other medals of honor men in this section, Charles D. Ennis of Potter Hill, a member of the 1st Maine Infantry, who served in the same battery with Mr. Barber, and David Naylor of Ashaway, a member of Logan post, who served in the navy.

At a special meeting of the Westerly town council a communication was received from the Westerly Board of Trade in regard to a hearing before the public utilities commission on the rates charged by the Westerly Light and Power company. The matter was referred to Town Solicitor Harry B. Agard, for an examination and report. A deed was received from Stephen W. Collins conveying land at Watch Hill to the town of Westerly for highway purposes, which was received and approved for record.

It was voted that a special election be held Tuesday, June 13, for the purpose of approval or rejection of an act to establish the first drainage district in the town of Westerly, and providing for the construction, installation and maintenance of a system of public drains or sewers in said district. The council will meet as a board of canvassers, Friday evening, June 9, to canvass and correct the voting list for this special election. Eugene B. Pendleton was selected as moderator, Everett E. Whipple clerk, and Russell L. Stoum and Clarence E. Clark, supervisors for the special election.

The annual town election will be held on Tuesday next, June 6, and election officials were selected as follows: First representative district: Everett A. Kingsley, Carl E. Burdick, republicans; Clarence E. Clark, Edward A. Farrell, democrats. Second representative district: Russell L. Stoum, James A. Dunn, republicans; Bernard E. Christie, Rodney Rhodes, democrats.

It was voted that the board of town councilmen be paid their salaries as councilmen and board of canvassers, and that orders on the town treasurer be issued for $112 to each of the following: Councilmen William Culey, Maurice W. Flynn, Francis G. Robinson, Frank L. Larkin and Howard Thorp. The sum of $150 was also voted to Councilman Harwell and $50 each to Councilmen Flynn and Craig for their extra service and expenses on the highway committee. The sum of $50 was voted to Councilman Culey for services and expenses as a member of the street light committee.

A permit was granted Edwin H. Blacker to locate a wagon in Dixon square, on Memorial day, for the purpose of selling pop corn. The Woodland Realty company and Julia W. Anderson were given permission to close sidewalks on the westerly side of Misquamicut road, Watch Hill, for the purpose of rebuilding the sidewalk. Louis Levas was granted permission to place two bridges across the gutters on the southerly side of the Watch Hill road.

Tavern licenses were granted to the following applicants: Victor Gervasio, for the Bradford house; Frank L. Purves, for Rhode Island house; Frederick C. Buffum, for Westkapung inn; Charles H. Ray, for Watch Hill house; A. E. Dick, for Colonial hotel; Helen M. Ryan, for Columbia house. A victualing house license was granted F. M. Spooner, of Pleasant View.

Councilman Culey was appointed a committee to confer with the town solicitor in regard to the application of the New England Insurance Exchange for it to send an engineer to Bradford to investigate the necessity and feasibility of installing a water system in that village for the protection, and that he have power to sign said application if he deems such action for the best interests of the town of Westerly.

Guilford—At a meeting of the physicians of Guilford, Madison, Clinton, Saybrook and Essex, held in Saybrook Thursday evening, it was decided that the physicians of these towns, shall raise their fees beginning June 1st.

Loyal Order of Moose, composed of the lodges throughout the state, the Westerly lodge being among the largest, was meeting here Sunday in Providence. Constitution and by-laws were adopted, and officers elected as follows: Patrick A. Cunningham, of Providence, president; Frederick Ponlot, Woonsocket, vice president; John T. Sutton, Cranston, secretary; John F. Baldwin, Pawtucket, treasurer; Charles T. Bunch, of Cranston, George Smith of Wakefield, James Freelove, of Pawtucket, board of trustees; John O'Neill, Newport, sergeant-at-arms.

National District Director William C. Carroll, of Philadelphia, gave an address on the week being commemorated by the lodges throughout the country, and short speeches dealing with the welfare of the order in Rhode Island were made by the newly-elected officers.

It was proposed to start a boom for a New England Field day to be held in Newport, next month, and a committee for that purpose was appointed as follows: George Martin, of Cranston; George Smith, of South Kingstown; Joseph H. Charron, of Warwick; John Callahan, of Providence, and Frank Belliven, of Bristol.

Rear Admiral Herbert O. Dunn is in Westerly for a few days in connection with the opening of his summer home at Dunns Corners. He is in command of the third squadron, fifth division, of the Atlantic fleet. His flagship, the Minnesota, and the other vessels of the division, Westham, South Carolina and Vermont, are at Newport. Admiral Dunn is a native and resident of Westerly and whenever there is opportunity he comes to his home town, dons his negligee civilian dress and enjoys the comradeship of friends of his schoolboy days.

Budlong post, department of Rhode Island, and Hancock post, department of Connecticut, will, according to established custom, unite as members of the Grand Army of the Republic in the observance of Memorial day, as will also Brucker camp, United Spanish War Veterans. The grave of every deceased soldier and sailor of the two wars, located in Westerly and Pawtucket, will be visited in the morning and a potted plant placed on each. In the afternoon the procession will form in Broad street and march to St. Michael's cemetery in Pawtucket and then to River Bend; Chief Marshal Charles H. Ledyard, Assistant Marshals Everett Whipple and Arthur N. Nash; Westerly band, Charles O. Gavitt leader; Fifth company, Coast Artillery defense, Rhode Island National Guard, Lieut. Robert M. Freestone commanding; Budlong post, No. 18, G. A. R., Amos P. Chapman commander; Hancock post, No. 31, G. A. R., Joseph Smith commander; Brucker camp, U. S. W. V., Daniel S. Harrington commander; Westerly troop, Boy Scouts, Charles Foster, scoutmaster; fellow veterans, clergy and guests in automobiles.

A halt will be made on the Pawtucket bridge, where the members of the Woman's Relief corps perform the impressive ceremony in memory of the men of the navy who are buried at sea, by casting flowers upon the waters.

At River Bend the exercises will be as follows: Nearer, My God, to Thee; Westerly band; Memorial day Grand Army service; benediction, Rev. Frederick A. MacDonald; taps.

In the evening there will be Memorial services in the town hall, the exercises being as follows: Assembly, Boy Scout bugler; scripture reading, Rev. E. J. Curry; prayer, Rev. F. The more a man knows about motor cars, the more eager he is to own a Cadillac

WHEN a man becomes the owner of his first motor car, even an inferior product represents to him—for the time being—the acme of elegance and the height of enjoyment. It is such an innovation that he feels almost as if he were living in a new world. He revels in its achievements. He excuses its faults and dismisses any forebodings which may arise in his mind—with the honest belief that it is a good car. But, after a while, conditions change. He makes observations; he contrasts his car with others which he might have owned—and the contrast disturbs him. Now that his first enthusiasm of owning a car has faded, he begins to feel that his car is not entirely befitting his station, and that it does not measure up to the standard of what he would like it to be. He inquires into the merits of various cars—he traces their "ancestry." And, as he becomes more familiar with motor cars in general, the greater becomes his desire to own a Cadillac. He recognizes, in the Cadillac, the car that has been passing him on the roads and on the hills. He recalls the testimony of shop men about the very few Cadillacs which come under their care. And, ultimately, he graduates. He becomes a Cadillac owner. He lives over again the enthusiasm of his first days' motoring. Driving a Cadillac is such an advance over his previous experience that, again, he feels as if he were in a new world.

It is a world of new beauty, and of fewer limitations. Where, before, he felt restricted, he now feels the utmost freedom. The fascination of driving, which had faded somewhat, returns with renewed charm. He finds that his Cadillac possesses an abundance of reserve power, instantly at his command. He finds that it does more of the things which he wants his car to do. He finds that it runs more slowly on direct drive, and does it without expert manipulation. He finds that it negotiates bad roads better, more easily, with less attention, and with greater comfort to himself and passengers. He finds that it is much easier to handle and control, and that after a long drive, instead of being exhausted, he is rested and invigorated. He finds that hills which—in the past—had compelled his car to strain and labor, now seem almost to melt away before him. The thrill which attended the first "speeding up" was never so pronounced as that which surges through him as he feels the quick response of the Cadillac's engine. The confidence which, before, was buoyed up by the belief that his car was a "good" car, is now a permanent conviction that he owns a car which has made history, whose prestige is an asset, and whose performance is unapproached. He is no longer merely a motor car owner. He is a Cadillac owner.

Lindeman-Franklin Marriage—Maybasket Surprise—Memorial Sunday Services.

Saturday at the home of Miss Ella King, Mrs. A. Franklin was united in marriage with Albert Henry Lindeman of Stoum, R. I., by Rev. A. H. Withee. The bride wore blue silk and carried a bouquet of roses and carnations. The parlor was beautifully decorated with potted plants, ferns and honeysuckles.

Mr. Lindeman recently bought a large farm at Stoum, R. I., where he and his wife will make their home.

Guests at Parsonage. Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Middleton and son Herbert of Foxboro, Mass., called at the Methodist parsonage Saturday morning en route by auto to Waterbury. Mrs. Middleton is a sister of Mrs. A. H. Withee.

Memorial Sunday Services. At the morning services at the Methodist church, Sunday, Rev. A. H. Withee's subject was The Hand of God on Our National Life. There was special music by the choir. The church was beautifully decorated with flags and carnations by the members of the Epworth League. The evening service was led by Mrs. Samuel Lewis.

The subject was Ministry of Good Cheer. George Dawley of Plainfield read a brief paper on the subject. The pastor gave a brief address.

A farce, The Fival of Filly, will be given by local amateurs soon.

Letters unclaimed at Moosup post office are addressed to Velo Bonnet, Rev. Geo. Clarke and Rose L'Haureux.

Ethel Barber of Westcott, R. I., and Lizzie Miller of Moosup attended the Memorial day exercises at Oneco.

Surprised by Friends. A pleasant surprise was given Leona Gaudin Saturday evening when about twenty-five friends hung her a well filled Maybasket. Games and refreshments followed instrumental music and singing being a feature of the evening.

From the Consular Reports. Tasmania has no facilities for apple storage, so that the growers have to accept prices offered when the fruit is ready. This year's crop is being sold at prices that are unremunerative.

Russia's Caucasus district, with a population of more than 12,000,000, offers an excellent market for toilet soaps and perfumery.

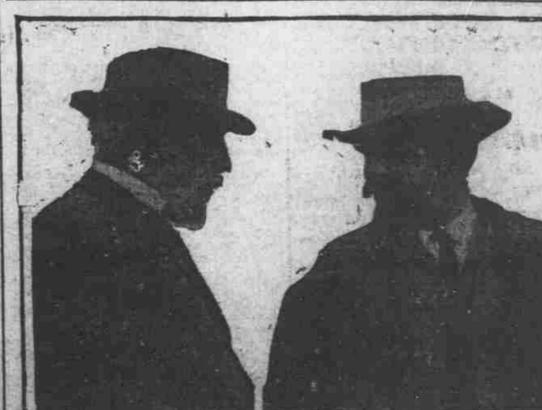

In Denmark the cost of living continues to advance. Considering the selling price of foodstuffs, textiles, metals, lumber, oils and labor as 100 in 1913, the index number last March was 182.2. It is not believed that the end of the war will result in great relief.

Butter's constantly increasing price in France has led the authorities to consider various remedies. The sale of oleomargarine has been authorized temporarily where butter is ordinarily sold.

Great Britain proposes to pass a law prohibiting the importation, sale or use of any paint material containing more than 5 per cent of its dry weight of a soluble lead compound.

Canada's 1915 crop yield is valued at $500,000,000 with wheat heading the list at more than $12,000,000.
