LOYAL TEMPERANCE REGION

Now Has 37 Members—Mrs. J. J. Fields, of Norwich, Leader.

The Loyal Temperance Legion of Willimantic held their last meeting for the season at the W. C. T. U. rooms on Valley street Sunday afternoon at 8 o'clock. There was an unusually large attendance, 75 being present. The Willimantic Legion is the banner legion of the state and does splendid work. This season they have voted money to many good causes, among them being the Francis Willard Memorial Fund, The Free Will Offering, Anna Adams Gordon, Japanese Fund, the local W. C. T. U. flower mission. The legion spent nearly $7 this year in flowers for the sick. This legion has 37 members and has had an average attendance of 35 each Sunday. The members pay their own dues. Sunday Mrs. J. J. Fields of Norwich, the leader, gave a souvenir to each member who had attended for three Sundays without missing, and 18 members were rewarded. A religious service was held during the afternoon.

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD

BY NATCHAUG LODGE, K. OF P.
Address by Attorney E. C. Terry, of New Haven—Graves Decorated.

The memorial services of Natchaug Lodge, No. 21, Knights of Pythias, held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the lodge rooms in the Jordan building, were very largely attended. The service was in charge of Acting Grand Counselor John Williams and was carried out in fine form. The services opened with a selection by Helmsold's orchestra, which played Schubert's Ave Maria. George Williams and John Hardman led the singing of Bless Be the Tie That Binds, in which the audience joined.

In presenting the speaker of the afternoon Brother John Williams said: My friends, Brother Knights of Pythias, we have convened here today to pay a tribute of respect to the departed and to attest the good deeds and honorable life and to devote an hour to the memory of those brothers whose lives have gone out, but whose brotherhood is with us, enduring as the principles upon which our fraternity is founded which will never die.

The roll call of the deceased brothers was read by the keeper of records and essie, Leo Thompson, during which the orchestra played Trauered, by Schubert. This was followed by a vocal solo by John Hardman, He Wipes the Tear From Every Eye. Attorney E. C. Terry, of New Haven delivered the address of the afternoon, paying a tribute to the deceased brothers and to the lodge. Commemorative of the deceased members is but one of the many fraternal devotions that perpetuate the universality of our brotherhood, he said. Many other fraternal devotions of this order encourage the belief in Christian principles and the performance of each devotion has a hold upon the human heart.

The brothers whose names have been called and answered have made the world brighter and better by their example of true manhood. They made us, their associates and bonded brothers, feel for having known them. Should we not then pause as we have from our pleasures and place a flower of love on their last resting place? Should we not consecrate this day to their memory? Because of their faith in the hereafter let us practice with patience the faithful duties and sacrifices they did so that when our names shall be called and we are not here to answer, some one will say of us: "He lived to bless mankind."

The orchestra then played Berceuse, Jocelyn, by Godard. George Williams sang Face to Face with much expression. The prayer's charge was given by W. C. Drescher. The services closed with the singing of Nearer My God, to Thee, by the audience.

The lodge then turned to the Willimantic cemetery to decorate the graves of the deceased members. The parade was in the following order: American band, Frank P. Fenton, marshal, and his aides, members of the lodge in column of twos, carrying flowers, automobiles carrying those unable to walk and sisters of Purinton Temple No. 2. On their return to the lodge rooms a luncheon was served by Purinton Temple, Pythian Sisters.
