PLATINUM JUMPS $20 AN OUNCE

Refiners Don't Know Why, But Jewelers Think They Do—
All Agree That the Trade is Chaotic.

New York, Aug. 31—In less than two days the price of platinum has increased $20 an ounce. Quotations which on Monday ran at about $60 an ounce are today from $80 to $86 an ounce, varying with the fineness and hardness of the metal. Jewelers are not able to get enough material to fill Christmas orders for settings, which have just begun, and refiners in the city are dribbling out the metal in pennyweights to their customers. Refiners say that the trade in a state of chaos on account of the embargo set two years ago on platinum from Russia, which before the war was the great producer of platinum ores.

Nothing definite could be learned at the platinum refiners' offices this morning. One or two seemed angry that the news of the rise in price had reached the public, and others refused to give any information on the subject.

IF TOO FAT GET MORE FRESH AIR

BE MODERATE IN YOUR DIET AND REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT, TAKE OIL OF KOREIN.

Lack of fresh air it is said weakens the oxygen carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many of the vital organs are hindered thereby. The best action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

SABBABH NOT GUILTY ON GAMBLING CHARGE

Man Accused of Keeping Gaming Place Freed by Court.

Ten witnesses were called in police court at New London to give evidence in the case of Richard Sabbabh, proprietor of a poolroom, at 159 Main street, New London, which was raided by the police last Sunday. Sabbabh was charged with conducting a gaming house. After three hours had been devoted to taking of evidence the complaint was dismissed by the court, and charges of being present where gaming implements were found in seven other cases were nolle.

Sabbabh testifying in his own behalf denied that gambling is allowed in his place of business. He testified to conducting a Syrian boarding and rooming house and pool room at 159 Main street and said that between meal hours his boarders frequently play cards and dominoes in a small room at the rear of the boarding house which serves as a dining room. He admitted that the men were playing cards last Sunday afternoon to pass away the time, but denied that money entered into the game. The front door he said was wide open, and there was no barricade at the rear entrance. When the police entered upon his establishment last Sunday, he said he had been proprietor of the house since the first of January when he purchased the building from his brother, Michael Sabbabh. He was most emphatic in his statement that no gambling is permitted in the house.

INTEREST STIMULATED BY GRAIN EXHIBITS

Average Fair Offers Excellent Opportunity to Interested Farmers.

One often hears the complaint that the county fair of today is not what it used to be and ought to be. It does seem that the agricultural end of many of our local fairs has suffered a decline, as, perhaps a result of the emphasis placed on attractions—horse racing, acrobatics, etc., which now seem so necessary to attract large crowds. No fair, however, really serves its purpose unless the agricultural, educational and social features of the event are dominant.

grain exhibit. The average fair offers an excellent opportunity to interested farmers in the way of cheaply advertising high-class seed grains by means of a simple, attractive exhibit of a good quality of pure-bred oats, barley, wheat, rye, potatoes, etc. Undoubtedly this would create a demand and local market for the exhibitors' products at good prices. Specialization opens up good opportunities on many of the present-day fairs. Many young farmers have stimulated interest in high-class seed grains by their exhibits at county fairs, not only to the benefit of themselves, but the fair as well.
