The vote for representatives in the second year of the coming year was markedly close, the low vote being 200 the highest 207 for any of the four candidates.

The temperature ran up to 68 in Danielson Thursday, making an ideal summer day.

Candidates in this town for political office in Tuesday's election are filing accounts of their election expenses with Town Clerk Frank T. Preston.

Clubhouse Finished. The new social clubhouse at Attawaugan is erected and inside work on the structure is underway.

Plans were being discussed here on Thursday for election celebrations, subject of course, to the announcement of the final result.

A Hughes-Wilson Supper. That Hughes supper at the Lins Store church on Thursday evening became in some degree a hypochondriac affair—a Hughes-Wilson combination.

All dealers who have been in business here during the past year were given renewals of their liquor licenses by the county commissioners.

Three After Postmastership. Dependent upon the outcome of the election, three republicans, are candidates for appointment as postmaster to succeed George M. Pilling at the expiration of his term and have petitions ready.

Still Betting on Election. Election bets continued to be placed here Thursday, a strange occurrence two days after the polls had closed.

Final Link in Road Building. Getting State Highway Commissioner Charles J. OBITUARY

Mrs. Moses Chandler, 73, wife of Moses Chandler, died at her home here. She was a native of the nearby border town of Foster, R. I.

Deacon Frederick E. Lovering died Thursday at his home here. Deacon Lovering was born in the New Boston (now Fairbanks) section of the town of Thompson.

During his early life he was employed in that section and at North Groveland as a worker at the mill, later he re-entitled and saw service as a member of the First Connecticut cavalry.

For a half century was employed at the mills now operated by the Nichols-Morse corporation, and was the only man to be retired by that concern on a pension.

In 1875 Mr. Lovering was elected a deacon of the Putnam Baptist church and continued as a deacon from that time. George M. Morse, was also a deacon at the same time as Mr. Lovering.

Deacon Lovering, born April 27, 1845, is survived by his wife, Mrs. Clara Augusta Whitney, and by two daughters, Mrs. Nellie E. wife of W. J. Turner, Providence, and Mrs. Bertha Brewster.

suitability of any place for doing a liquor business.

Judge Harry E. Back is counsel for the remonstrants, Attorney Charles L. Torrey of Putnam for Mr. Dagenia, a hearing on the remonstrance will be set by the county commissioners for November.

Everybody inquiring "What's the Latest?"

The tension due to indecision as to the outcome of the election here became so acute in this town Thursday as to take men's minds off their business affairs and special matters demanding their attention.

The telephone came into play as a much used medium for getting at persons and places where it was believed something definite could be learned.

As to confidence in the final outcome, there was little to choose between the ardent republican and vainglorious democrat, newspaper offices conceding anything. The majority of the democrats seemed to pin their hope of victory on the possibility of the final count showing California and New Mexico in the democratic column.

The republicans here were expressing confidence that they would hold Minnesota and that their chances in California were as good as those of the democrats, and that if their hopes prove to have foundation that Hughes would win.

Ready for State Convention. The following was given out here Thursday by suffrage workers:

All the affiliated leagues of the Connecticut Woman Suffrage Association have now elected their delegates to the convention which will open at the Hotel Taft next Thursday. Lists of the delegates are being received at headquarters and it is plain that the convention will be very much larger than any previous suffrage convention ever held in the state.

This is due partly to the greatly increased number of affiliated leagues and partly to the quickening of interest in woman suffrage due to the prominence of the question in the recent election and to the certainty of all political parties that the question is now an active issue in both state and national politics.

There are over eighty leagues now affiliated with the C. W. S. A. besides these fully organized leagues there are suffrage committees in a large number of the towns. These will not be entitled to send delegates with voting powers, but a representative from each of these committees will be allowed on the floor and given the privilege of speaking.

The larger leagues are entitled to from thirty to forty delegates, and the smaller ones to anything from six delegates upwards. If all the leagues send full delegations the convention would include six or seven hundred women. The smaller and more distant leagues will not be able to send their full quota, but every league expects to send at least one or two of its members to the annual state convention.

Thursday evening there will be a public meeting to be held in College Street Hall, opposite the Taft Hotel.

Members of the National American Woman Suffrage Association and also President of the International Suffrage Alliance will be the principal speaker and her subject will be "The Crisis." Mrs. Catt will give her reasons for believing that the enfranchisement of women will be accomplished within a very short period.

As she is an eminent and very practical and capable political thinker this analysis of the present situation will be well worth attention from the anti-suffragists as well as from suffragists.

Before the public meeting there will be a dinner at the Hotel Taft. Mrs. M. Toscan Bennett will be the mistress, but the speakers will be men. A prominent politician from each of the political parties will be there to issue on "Votes for Women" as a political issue. Hon. E. J. Hill of Norwich was the first to promise his aid in this part of the programme.

Thursday afternoon at 1.45 in the town hall, County Agent F. C. Warner of Norwich addressed a meeting of milk producers from Sprague, Franklin and other nearby towns.

The object of this meeting was to ascertain the milkmen in this town were willing to form an organization to cooperate with other organizations in this section, such as Preston, North Stonington and other towns where an organization exists and to send delegates to meet representatives from wholesale markets and to fix a price for their milk, and to later organize a market for retail purposes.

town reported that Hughes was elected by three electoral votes. A young lady who is an ardent supporter of President Wilson denied the rumor.

A large crowd gathered at the Baltic Pharmacy to learn by telephone if President Wilson had been defeated. This young lady was so sure that her favorite nominee would win, she proposed the following wager to the young jollier who was aggravating her: Should Mr. Hughes be elected, she would marry the young man, who is paying her attention before the Year is over, and publish it as a Leap Year Proposal.

If President Wilson is re-elected, the young man will have to stand on a box on Jodoin square and deliver an address in favor of the suffragettes and advertise the night on which he is to speak or forfeit the price of a lady's hat. The winner to select one at a cost of about twenty dollars. When last seen the young man was asking a friend to explain the meaning of the electoral vote.

It was claimed at republican headquarters that the voters cast their ballots for the presidential candidates rather than for electors. The vote for electors this year was made for the

Will pay for the chance to heal Catarrah

After an experience of 25 years, during which time 50 million Americans have used Kondon's Catarrah Jelly, the manufacturers of this remedy feel so sure that it will relieve catarrah—that they offer to pay for a chance to prove its benefit to any catarrah sufferer.

They announce that any resident of this community can get to almost any drug store and get a complimentary trial can at the expense of the manufacturers.

If the druggist has no gratuitous packages, the person may buy a 25-cent tube with the unqualified understanding that if that first tube does not do that person more than a dollar's worth of good, he or she can get their quarter back from either the druggist, or the Kondon Company at Minneapolis.

Over 35,000 druggists know Kondon's Catarrah Jelly is effective, harmless, clean and pleasant to apply—and they know the Kondon people will gladly live up to this offer—"quarter back if not worth a dollar." Address—
