LAST OF Y. M. C. A. SHAKESPEAREAN RECITALS

Good Sized Audience Heard Marshall Darrach in Julius Caesar.

The last of the series of Shakespearean recitals given by Marshall Darrach of New York under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. drew a large audience at Trinity Methodist Episcopal church Friday evening in spite of the stormy weather.

Those who attended the recital were not disappointed in Mr. Darrach's rendering of Julius Caesar as he was fully up to the mark in his performance on the two previous occasions.

Mr. Darrach's rendering of the characters of Caesar and Brutus were exceptionally strong. Mark Antony's speech at the funeral of Caesar Mr. Darrach showed his ability as an orator as well as an actor. The course of recitals which closed Friday night has been one of the best ever held in this city and much credit is due to the local association in procuring such an able lecturer as Marshall Darrach.

Mr. Wallace is well known to railroad conductors in this vicinity.

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

Moving Pictures. A banner bill of motion pictures for the last two days of the week was shown at the Auditorium Friday evening to capacity houses at each performance. The feature picture is the City of Illusion, with Mignon Anderson and Paula Shay in the leading roles. It is a stirring drama of society life in five acts. The twelfth episode of the famous serial Beatrice Fairfax was shown. A rousing good comedy closed the bill.

Implementations have been dug up in Southern California which indicate conclusively that the primitive Americans had an understanding of dental surgery.

OBSERVED TWENTIEH ANNIVERSARY

Nils T. Jensen Re-elected President of Scandinavian S. and B. Society—Svea Annual Reports Read—1917 Committees Appointed.

The 20th anniversary of the Scandinavian S. and B. society, Svea, was fittingly observed on Friday evening in Carpenter's hall, when the annual reports were read and the election of officers took place.

The organization was formed during the latter part of November in the year 1897 with 12 charter members, all of whom are still living and are active members of the society except one.

EGG LAYING CONTEST AT STORRS COLLEGE

First and Second Places for Week Captured by White Leghorns.

In the sixth week of the laying contest at Storrs the White Leghorns captured first and second places for the week. A. P. Robinson's pen from Calverton, N. Y., won first with a yield of 47 eggs which is the best weekly record to date, while Windsweep Farm birds from Redding Ridge, Conn., were second with 40 eggs to their credit.

Merrythought Farm's pen of White Wyandottes from Columbia, Conn., won third place with a yield of 39 for the week. Braeside Poultry Farm's pen of Leghorns from Stroudsburg, Pa., and E. A. Ballard's pen of the same breed from Hill, Pa., tied for fourth place with a production of 33 eggs each. The total yield for all pens amounted to 2004, 191 eggs better than for the preceding week, and a gain of 460 eggs over the corresponding week a year ago. This places the total production at 845 eggs more than at the same time last year. Every thousand eggs gained over last year's total means an increase of one egg in the average production per hen. The management of the birds is usually happy and contented and that is a big factor toward keeping the egg basket filled.

A close watch should be kept of the litter. Keeping the birds busy means that the litter will be stirred up, and will better serve its purpose. The moment the litter becomes damp, soggy and matted down it should be replaced with fresh material for in this condition it is a menace to the health of the hens.

The three best pens in each of the principal varieties are as follows: Pen. Barred Plymouth Rocks
