Breakwater Spray.

The list of officers recently published as connected with Ladies Aid society of the congregational church was an error. They were the officers of the Baptist society. That talk of motorizing in part of the Stonington fire department, ended about where it commenced, in talk. Although the steamboat wharf property is being cleared of buildings, there is nothing tangible as to the future of the premises which are so well adapted for manufacturing purposes. The board of selectmen held their monthly meeting in the borough Monday. Mrs. Charles H. Davis will give an address on Browning in England, before the Stonington Travel club this afternoon. The justices of the peace elect must qualify by the tenth of January if they intend to perform the duties of the office.

An Attack of Grip Always Leaves Kidneys In Weakened Condition

Doctors in all parts of the country have been kept busy with the epidemic of grip which has visited so many homes. The symptoms of grip this year are often very distressing and leave the system in a run down condition, particularly the kidneys which seem to suffer most, as almost every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as when neglected they often lead to dangerous kidney troubles. Druggists report a large sale on Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root which so many people say is a healer and strengthens the kidneys after an attack of grip. Swamp-Root is a great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, and, being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed in most cases by those who try it. Dr. Kilmor & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., offer to send a sample size bottle of Swamp-Root, on receipt of ten cents, to every sufferer who requests it. A trial will convince anyone who may be in need of it. Regular size bottles 50 cents, and $1.00. For sale at all druggists. Be sure to mention this paper.

WESTERLY TOWN COUNCIL SPEEDY

New Year's Meeting Consumes But Thirty Minutes—New Fangled Card Game to be Barred From Saloons—High School Juniors' Dance—Mills-Holloway Wedding—Brown Alumni Invited to Boston Meeting.

The Westerly town council started the New Year well by holding the regular meeting at the regular time, with every member present, and finished the business in record time, 30 minutes, including the reading of the minutes of the regular and special meetings. President Maurice W. Flynn presided and all the bills for the month of December were ordered paid just as they were presented by Clerk Everett E. Whipple. The bills from the overseer of the poor, which included his salary and that of the keeper of the town farm, and the Christmas dinners to the deserving poor, and aid to the poor generally for the month, amounting to $125.81. This seemingly extravagant amount is perhaps due to the high price of coal and necessities of life.

Councilmen Robinson and Thorp, to whom was referred the petition of Abraham Liebowitz and others for investigation as to the safety of the water in the pond in Central park, reported that the owner of the pond has agreed to fence in the pond, and this satisfied the petitioners. Lewis Stanton, superintendent of health, reported there was no contagious disease in the town during the month of December. Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown submitted his report for December, which showed eight arrests for violent crimes, and one for carrying a concealed weapon and revealing. The chief attached a summary of arrests for the year 1916, totaling 151. A summary was printed in The Bulletin Monday.

President Flynn stated that he had been informed that the major arrests made in the vicinity of saloons kept by Italians, was due to a card game called The Boss. Quite a number can sit in at the saloons and every player must make his chip towards paying for the drinks, but there is one individual winner, and he is designated as the boss. He can drink all that is coming himself, or he can make division of the drinks to his associates, just as he chooses. He sometimes selects a few friends to join him in the drinkfest and ignores others who help pay for the drinks. This frequently creates ill-feeling and usually ends in a row, sometimes of little import, and at other times in a row of much consequence, that results in arrest and prosecution for violent assault with dangerous weapon or carrying a concealed weapon. The Boss has been barred in some saloons, beginning with the new year.

At the December meeting of the town council Frank W. Coy called the attention of the council to the dilapidated condition of the fence that divides the town property in front of the old town hall and the Coy property in Union street. Mr. Coy asked that the fence be repaired. If the town did not claim ownership of the wall and fence, Mr. Coy was willing to do the repairs. The council referred the matter to the school committee, as the old town hall property had been turned over to that committee for school purposes. At the meeting Monday Councilman Haswell stated that Mr. Coy had asked him to bring the subject before the council again, and this he did at the request of Mr. Coy. Councilman Haswell said he told Mr. Coy that the matter had been referred to the school committee, and Mr. Coy replied that he did not know the school committee in this regard, and that his business was with the town.

Mr. Whipple expressed the opinion that the town council had no more to do with the fence in question than do with the fence at the Westerly High school. Councilman Thorp suggested that the retention of a section of the property as a public hitching place left that part under the jurisdiction of the highway committee, and perhaps the council. Councilman Haswell stated that in an annual town meeting the old town hall property, all of it, the building and adjoining land, had been given over to the custody of the school committee. Councilman Haswell stated that the property was not within the jurisdiction of the town council. He said the matter had been formally presented to the committee and the action was expected at an early date.

New Year's day was observed by the closing of banks, the schools and the postoffice, but otherwise business went on about as usual, and with a noticeable decrease in the volume of store transactions. There were several formal receptions in society. The old-time New Year's calls, noted for informality, have become a lost society here in Westerly. The junior class of the Westerly High school will give a party at the entertainment line in school hall New Year's night. Besides the social reception there was an immigration of new and newly known nationalities represented in costume. The party was very enjoyable, was largely attended, and excellently managed by Lester Eberhart, secretary, and president, and vice president, respectively, of the junior class.

Representative David J. White of East Greenwich will succeed Robert Langworthy of Westerly as chairman of the house committee on appropriations. Mr. Langworthy having been elected to represent Westerly in the senate. Mr. White has announced his withdrawal as a candidate for deputy speaker, and it is stated that Richard W. Jennings of Cranston is slated for that position. The Rhode Island general assembly convenes today, and Governor Beaman will be inaugurated at noon with the customary ceremonial.

The fish hatchery authorized for Rhode Island will be located at Block Island and "be devoted to the commercial species of that region," according to the report of the United States Fisheries Bureau, which has been submitted to the board of trustees living the board granted their request. A watch service was held at the Baltic Methodist Episcopal church on Monday night. There was special music by the choir. William Depot of Plainfield is the guest of Baltic friends.
