The Bulletin

Norwich, Monday, Feb. 5, 1917.

THE WEATHER

The winds along the north and middle Atlantic coasts will be northwest gales.

Conditions. A disturbance of marked intensity was centered over Pennsylvania Sunday night, moving rapidly eastward. The temperature was considerably higher Sunday in the Atlantic states.

The indications are for generally fair weather in the states east of the Mississippi river during Monday and Tuesday except that snow flurries are probable in the northeastern states and along the moderate Atlantic coast Monday. The temperature will be decidedly lower Monday in the Atlantic states but will rise somewhat Tuesday.

Cold wave warnings have been issued for the Atlantic states. Storm warnings are displayed on the Atlantic coast from Jupiter to Eastport.

Forecast. Northern New England and Southern New England: Snow Monday with cold waves; Tuesday fair.

Eastern New York: Snow flurries Monday with severe cold wave; Tuesday fair, rising temperature in the afternoon.

Observations in Norwich. The following records, reported from Seville pharmacy, show the change in temperature and the barometric changes Saturday and Sunday:

GREENEVILLE

Pleasantly Surprised at His Home—Simcox-Matthews Wedding—Mrs. W. J. Sly Speaks at Federated Church—Notes.

A pleasant surprise party was given David Shahan Saturday evening by a number of his friends.

The wedding of Miss Gladys H. Matthews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Matthews of this place, and Nathaniel Simcox took place Sunday afternoon at the parish house of the Central Baptist church.

The bearers were John C. and Thomas J. Donovan, Maurice J. Buckley, Joseph J. and Robert J. Sample and John A. Cunningham.

Burial was in the family lot in St. Mary's cemetery where Rev. Father Fitzmaurice read a committal service at the grave.

Undertakers Cummings and Ring had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Notes. A few venturesome lads were skating on the canal and the river Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. W. J. Sly of Hartford gave an interesting talk at the morning service at the Federated church.

His Fifth Birthday. Master John Murphy entertained nine little guests.

Master John Murphy celebrated his fifth birthday at his home on Peck street Saturday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock.

Selections suitable for the little ones were rendered on the Victrola. Games of various kinds were played.

Dainty refreshments were served. Mrs. Murphy was assisted in serving by Mrs. Frank Brooks and Miss Lena Leahy.

Fair Committee Makes Appointments

Officials of County Agricultural Society Held Important Meeting Saturday Afternoon—Sherwood Raymond Made Superintendent of Grounds—Adelard Morin in Charge of Main Exhibition Building.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the New London County Agricultural Society Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the office of Secretary Gilbert S. Raymond, the Thayer building appointments were made for the fair to be held on Sept. 15-16-17, 1917. Present at the meeting were President James B. Palmer, Secretary Gilbert S. Raymond, Treasurer Charles D. Greenleaf, Arthur D. Leathery, Richard E. Ring, G. G. Avery, G. H. Morgan and Simon Brewster. The following appointments were made: Superintendent of grounds, Sherwood Raymond; superintendent of the main exhibition building, Adelard Morin; superintendent of fruit and vegetable department, E. W. Coe; superintendents of cattle, sheep and swine, James B. Palmer and Sherwood Raymond; superintendents of horse department, L. I. Chapman and Michael B. Ring; superintendent of poultry department, John H. Curry; superintendent of cake and confectionery, Mrs. James B. Palmer; county director state agricultural society, James B. Palmer.

The appointing of the marshals, judges, starter, committee on free attractions, committee on platform and midway was left to the secretary and treasurer.

Several booking agents from New York have already been here in conference with the executive committee regarding the attractions to be secured for the fair. By taking up the matter of attractions at this early date the fair officials hope this year to secure attractions better than ever before.

Law is protective to liquor trade, said Hon. James H. Woertendyke of Taftville, at a meeting held Sunday afternoon in Steiner hall. Mr. Woertendyke has made a careful study of the liquor traffic and is working to bring the national prohibition and national prohibition movement.

At the conclusion of his address, Mr. Woertendyke presented two resolutions to the committee on liquor traffic. The resolutions will be sent to Senators F. B. Brandegee and G. P. McLean, Congressman R. P. Freeman; State Senators John H. Barnes and representatives A. J. Bailey and Joseph H. Henderson.

Mr. Woertendyke pictured a scene when her son came home drunk. The son had promised never to repeat the act he came home again in a drunken state. Soon after the mother died of a broken heart. He told of another incident when he was called upon to take the case of a man who had murdered his son. Mr. Woertendyke emphasized the point that these incidents brought forcibly to the mind of his hearers the need of the fight against liquor traffic.

He said he was in the state of Connecticut representing the National Prohibition Movement and he told of the affiliations of the prohibitionists to bring national prohibition at the earliest date possible. He said that the national prohibition organization throughout the country which are affiliated with the movement.

Mr. Woertendyke said the law is protective to liquor traffic. In a careful study of law and government I have come to the conclusion that law protects the liquor traffic, he continued. He said that there are three things that Mr. Woertendyke suggested for consideration: revenue, license and prohibition. The first of these is revenue to the state.

Revenue is protection for the manufacturer of liquor and the revenue law is divided into three departments, first the manufacturer, second the manufacturer to manufacture liquor. Now if the federal government refused a permit the manufacturer to manufacture liquor, the manufacturer would be turned over to the collector of revenue when the goods are ready for sale.

Some extent told of the revenue laid on liquors. Thirdly comes the sales end of the license that is granted. The individual who sells liquor must have a receipt. He cannot be prosecuted by the Federal government but he can be prosecuted by the state or city government.

The Federal government last year acquired $245,000,000 from revenue and every dollar of that revenue goes into the federal treasury. From the standpoint of law pure and simple, the law fixed now means protection to the liquor traffic. You do away with prohibition, you do away with the revenue and you do away with the protection.

In looking at the word license what does it mean? It means protection. It means that you do away with prohibition, you do away with the revenue and you do away with the protection.

He said that the national prohibition movement is a movement to remove that legislation that means protection he said. We have got to reach the source. How can we change the law? You do away with prohibition in favor of the putting away of the saloon which would eliminate temptation for our boys and girls. But that does not get to the policy of government in the matter of protection. That policy of government that permits such a thing as protection must be open saloon and you do away with the treating system which has helped to destroy many. We had in this state a saloon law for 24 years.

In the state of Connecticut there is a bill pending in the house for amendment that means prohibition. But that does not get to the policy of government. The question is put to the people for vote. We must inaugurate the movement to get the signatures of about 50,000 voters in the state who want prohibition. In the fight for national prohibition we can get the signatures of who can put prohibition on the law books. A committee of sixty noted men in the country are obtaining the names of the leading manufacturers in the country who are in favor of prohibition. These names will be brought before the present congress. But if congress does not make the proposition we will have to go back to the people and insist that the prohibition is the only policy of government in their platform. We will organize our dry forces and go to the party organizations. Mr. Woertendyke said that he would carry out his plan if he could not get the necessary number of signatures for the movement. The cooperation of the people and the group money that carry out his plan.

The following resolutions were presented by Woertendyke and were adopted: That we, citizens of the Town of Norwich, Conn., in public meeting assembled on this fourth day of February, 1917, request the Hon. Richard P. Freeman, member of Congress for this district, and the Hon. Frank B. Brandegee and the Hon. George P. McLean, U. S. senators, to vote for the passage of the National Prohibition bill to prohibit the transmission of liquor advertising through the mails, and for the passage of the National Prohibition amendment as follows:

Hair Often Ruined By Washing With Soap

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mild coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonsful will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and leaves the scalp soft and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified coconut oil at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few quoness will supply every member of the family for months.

ably reported by the Senate Committee. S. Howard Mead, chairman of meeting.

The we, citizens of the Town of Norwich, Conn., in public meeting assembled on this fourth day of February, 1917, respectfully request the Hon. John H. Barnes, Senator from this district, and the Hon. Albert J. Bailey and the Hon. Joseph H. Henderson, representatives of the town, to support and vote for the bill now before the General Assembly, granting the right to women to vote on questions relating to the liquor traffic, and that the representatives from this town be requested to support and vote for the passage of the proposed amendment to the State Constitution to prohibit the alcoholic drink traffic. S. Howard Mead, chairman of meeting.

Cattle Commissioner Jeffrey O. Phelps had a conference Friday afternoon with Attorney General George E. Nimman in relation to his power to enforce the observance of the dog law in towns where local authorities refused to act or to prosecute offenders. The commissioner received complaints from dog wardens that they were hindered in the enforcement of the commissioner's muzzling orders by the hostility of the selectmen in the muzzling of dogs. In one instance the dog warden was threatened with the disfavor of the selectmen if he persisted in enforcing a muzzling order, and he was advised not to be too particular.

Commissioner Phelps received Friday forenoon a letter from Norwich that a mad dog was at large in that town, and a verbal notice from Plymouth in reference to a dog supposed to be mad, was frightening that community. If the authorities request, the commissioner will issue a muzzling order in such towns.

The commissioner has issued letters to the towns from which reports concerning mad dogs have been received. With all eagerness and zeal, the questions in relation to the circumstances of the case such as if the dog had bitten any persons or animals, etc. When he has received answers from all the towns he will prepare a statement which will contain information in reference to the dog scare and which will be valuable data for the members of the general assembly in enacting an amendment to the dog law.
