FERTILIZER PROBLEMS.

War-time Responsibility in Connection With Food Production.

The following statement was issued at the close of the 24th annual convention of the National Fertilizer association held at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., by Horace Bowker, re-lected president of the association for the coming year:

The fertilizer industry recognizes its war-time responsibility in connection with food production and is doing its utmost to render a full measure of service to the country. The action of the manufacturers has been to cut down the number of brands, to eliminate fractional brands, to make shipments in full cars, to use 200 pound sacks when and where possible, to adopt new methods of manufacture involving great changes in plants and considerable investments to develop new American sources of raw materials, and at all times to be guided by national rather than personal welfare.
The problems today are varied and complex, but the industry is awake to its duty and is trying to "do its bit."

The manufacturers recognize that on the supplies of available plant food depend the yields of our food crops, and that during the war every possible effort must be made to increase the production of fertilizers. The eliminating of brands, the changes in shipping, and other more or less revolutionary measures that are being adopted literally turn the fertilizer business upside down. Sacrifices are necessary, but greater efficiency is secured. Waste is eliminated. We must and do recognize that in every branch of our work personal gain and individual convenience are and must be made secondary to patriotic duty.

In the manufacture of sulphuric acid, formerly made from Spanish pyrites, manufacturers are being called upon to change their plants to allow of the burning of domestic brimstone. New sources of sulphur are being investigated and developed, in co-operation with the bureau of mines and at considerable expense. These efforts have already met with a certain degree of success, and must be pushed with all possible speed, to increase sulphuric acid production and insure against such a shortage as will react against our national welfare.

To meet the acute crisis caused by the shortage of freight cars, the industry is having its products moved in cars loaded to marked capacity. This has caused changes in our ways of doing business and inconveniences alike to manufacturers, dealers and consumers, nevertheless, the change is setting free for other uses pressing uses half c the freight cars formerly used in the transportation of fertilizers. It is helping all buyers and shippers, all industries and is assisting the railroads in performing their essential duties as part of our system of national defense.

The supply of burlap in the country is limited. The use of the larger sized bags will conserve the supply by saving annually approximately fifteen million yards of burlap. Here again inconvenience results, but it is justified by the economic gain that is secured.
In some states regulations do not permit of the use of the larger bags. It is hoped that the state authorities will co-operate where necessary to permit of the use of the larger sizes.

Every industry, as well as every individual, is today called upon for full service to the nation. The fertilizer industry is not an exception, and because of its basic importance is doubly responsible to do its full share.
Already, it is working in co-operation with the government, through the advisory commission of the council of national defense, with the bureau of mines, and with the U. S. department of agriculture and other production agencies. It pledges itself to co-operate fully and freely in all ways possible, in any and all movements which will help to win the war.

The National Fertilizer association, as representing the fertilizer industry, is fully in accord with the government on all matters pertaining to the present war conditions. The sub-committee on fertilizers of the committee on chemicals of the advisory commission of the council of national defense has the full support of the National Fertilizer association, which represents at least 95 per cent. of the fertilizer industry.

Largest Potato Crop Ever.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The largest potato crop ever produced in this country is the promise of the monthly crop report just issued. Leon M.
Estabrook, chief of the bureau of crop estimates of the United States department of agriculture, stated this morning that the average production for the previous five years (1911-1915) was 323,000,000 bushels, which represents a fair crop. This year the indications are that there will be a crop of 467,- 000,000 bushels, which is 100,000,000 above the average.

This is equal to one bushel extra for every man, woman and child in the country.

In order to avoid waste, officials of the department of agriculture suggest two ways of taking care of this large increase.

First, all housewives are urged to use potatoes as far as possible as a substitute for breadstuffs.

Second, to preserve the potatoes for winter use by home storage.

These measures, it is stated, will not only use the potatoes to advantage, but will save wheat.

POPE BENEDICT XV

Benedict XV, whose peace proposal is agitating the world, was elected pope on September 3, 1914, to succeed Pius X. He is the two hundred and sixtieth wearer of the papal crown. He was born Nov. 21, 1854, near Genoa, Italy, and is a member of a noble Italian family, the Della Chiesa. His given name is Giacomo, or James. After admission to the priesthood and service in the diplomatic corps of the Vatican he became a prelate in 1906 and cardinal archbishop of Bologna in 1907. He is known as a master of diplomacy and a high scholar of high rank. The world war, involving Roman Catholic nations on both sides, has been a terrible ordeal to Pope Benedict, and he has attempted several times to end the conflict.

The Reason.

The jump in wheat and flour is the cost the country has to pay for the folly and treachery of congress in be-devising the food control bill.—Rochester Herald.
