DRUMMERY FIFTY YEARS AGO

Third Regiment Planned Camp Wait at Allyn's Point in Honor of Norwich Boy Killed at Sharpsburg—C. B. Rogers Resigned as President of Pequot Machine Company—Old Court House Ruins Were Being Torn Down.

In Norwich fifty years ago, C. A. Thompson was drowned while swimming in the Yantic river. A small child was also drowned in the canal at Jewett City. The Third Regiment of Connecticut National Guard voted to hold their encampment near this city about the first of September.

The class of 1869 in Harvard university. August 21, 1867—A severe thunder storm passed over Norwich about four o'clock Monday morning. A cow of great value belonging to the Pequot machine company was struck by lightning and killed.

The buildings of the Richmond Radiator company, on Thames street, are now nearly completed and the work that remains to be done is being rapidly pushed. The machinery will be added immediately and it will not be long before the company will be in full operation.

C. B. Rogers Resigns Presidency. August 22, 1867—The directors of the Pequot Machine company held a meeting at the office of C. B. Rogers, Esq., efficient president of the company, which was relieved at his own request and A. C. Hall appointed to fill the position. John Hall, Jr. was appointed secretary.

Men were put at work Wednesday morning on the ruins of the old court house. Those who have occasion to pass will feel that their craniums are not as solid as the masonry of the ruins. There are thousands of bricks in the ruins which after cleaning may be used for other purposes.

The Third Regiment, Conn. National Guard, will hold an encampment here for three days, beginning September 3. The camp is to be located on a ten acre lot near Allyn's Point and will be known as Camp Wait in honor of a Norwich boy who was killed at Sharpsburg.

On Monday afternoon a young man by the name of C. A. Thompson was drowned in the Yantic river near the old paper mill dam. Mr. Thompson in company with several other young men had been in the bath of going there to bathe. He dove into the water and failed to appear. It is thought he was overcome by cramps. Mr. Thompson was the son of C. C. Thompson who resides at the Falls. He was a member of the Norwich Free Academy two years ago and entered there.

DAIRYMEN'S DAY Seventy-five Were Entertained at the East Side Farm.

As Lucas farm, conducted by N. E. Whiting, East Great Plain, 75 enthusiastic dairymen and women gathered here for the annual meeting of the reading, thinking and doing. He knows how much it costs to raise a cow and how much it produces.

Prof. Karl E. Musser of Connecticut Agricultural College gave an interesting address on the feeding of hogs, laying particular emphasis on the growing of roughage, stating that with forty pounds of corn and soy bean silage and 12 pounds of mixed hay and two pounds of grain would fill the requirements for a cow giving 25 pounds of milk per day.

GIRL REFUSED AID. Yacht Captain Threw Rachael Epstein a Life Preserver and Line. Capt. William Healy of Pleasant street, Groton, is probably the last person to see Rachael Epstein who was drowned Saturday at Ocean Beach, alive. The captain says: "Saturday afternoon we were coming in from the incident. He said the name of which I do not feel free to give, just ahead of us. All at once the yacht was struck by his course and I remarked to my company that he was going to tack and there was no need of my doing so. I saw my mistake and in a minute it looked as if he had lost something overboard. Just then I saw the head of a swimmer in the water at the stern of the yacht and supposed it was some one of the party who had gone over for a plunge as they frequently do from the boats. "I was surprised to see the boat go away from the swimmer and was minded to stop but took my eyes from the figure for a minute to look at the light-house and in that time it was gone. I must have been the last one to see her alive, for that it was Miss Epstein is certain to my mind. "The yacht I spoke of laid up at Eastern Point and I talked with her captain about the incident. He said he offered the girl aid and it was refused. He told her she could never make the light-house but she said she had done it before and could again. At that time she was only just commencing to swim."

What Drafted Men Will Be Expected to Do. Early in September Connecticut will send thousands of her sons to the national army cantonment at Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass. There to fraternize with the boys of other states of New York and New England states and learn the art of soldiering under Uncle Sam's Prattsburg graduates and army officers well versed in military art as practiced today in Europe. The national army will be composed of drafted men between the ages of 21 and 21. These men will for the most part be fit physically to undergo the course of training which has been prepared for them. Their surroundings will be ideal. Everything will be done to make their life as comfortable as possible. There will be plenty of warm clothing, wholesome food and amusements will be provided, also good barracks to live in and the very best of sanitary conditions. For the most part this army of men will have had no military experience. Just what will be expected of them beyond the general term discipline and obedience to the rules of the most of them. In time all will know what are their duties and the rules and regulations under which these duties are to be performed. There are many men however, who always have been in insight into his future. When there is something which has long concerned him he wants to get posted in advance. Therefore he will be interested in the less than the other. The rules and regulations are that have been prepared for his information and to make him a member of a company of the national army. All men will be held strictly accountable for their actions and all court-martials issued to them. Rifles and pistols when not required for duty will be kept in the armory and in the places provided for them. Articles of equipment will be kept clean at all times, free from rust and dirt and in perfect condition. Arms will not be taken apart except
