A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color. These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

WESTERLY GERMAN DEBT

Sum of $360, Which the Late S. J. Reuter Borrowed From Kinswoman, Reserved by Executor—Everett Willis Stole Everything Handy—Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John Parker—Another Limit Man.

Judge Edward M. Burke held a regular session of the Westerly probate court Tuesday afternoon. The first account of the Washington Trust company executor of the estate of Simon J. Reuter, was presented to the court and was allowed and ordered recorded, with this unusual proviso, in explanation of the balance in the account: "The executor has reserved the sum of $360 due to Anna Lembers of Mainz, Germany, a creditor of the estate, for the reason that the laws of that State do not allow the transfer of money to Germany during the present war, said sum to be deposited in the savings department of the Washington Trust company. The late Mr. Reuter, his wife and daughter Mary were visiting relative in Germany when war was declared and they were forced to remain in that country much longer than necessary. Mr. Reuter's funds became exhausted and he was compelled to borrow the sum from his relative to pay for the home message. The legatees are desirous that the sum be paid back and therefore decided to leave the payment with the executor, as the surest method under the circumstances."

Philip Gallagher was appointed administrator of the estate of John Gallagher, Esq. $500. Albert H. Langworthy, appraiser. The inventory of the estate of Eliza Wilcox was received and ordered recorded. James Clancy was given leave to withdraw his petition for appointment as administrator of the estate of Timothy Clancy, presented because the administrators appointed were disqualified. The original appointees have now qualified and filed bond.

The petition of Martha Tefft for appointment as guardian of the estate of James A. Tefft was continued to the next session, with order of notice. Mr. Tefft is an irresponsible person and is now confined in a state institution.

The will of Amanda M. Champlin, who died in St. Augustine Jan. 14, was admitted to probate. All her estate, real and personal, is bequeathed to her husband, John E. Champlin, and he is nominated as trustee. The nomination was confirmed by the court. Bond $5,000, without surety. Everett E. Whipple was appointed appraiser.

In the estate of Charles O. Chapman, the widow's petition for dower was continued to the next session of court. It is now believed by interested parties in Westerly that the late Mary J. Crandall, by mistake, destroyed her second will, the one drawn by Eugene B. Pendleton believing it to be her first will. There is the belief that Mrs. Crandall never saw the alleged will sent to the probate court by a New Jersey woman. This is the will that Attorney Davis declared to be a forgery. The first will and the New Jersey will are now in the possession of the court, and action has been deferred until the first court session in May.

Miss Sallie M. Frankenstein of Westerly, who was studied in Germany in the early part of the war, and who was detained there for a time, has been actively engaged in war work since her return. She is a group pictured in a New York newspaper in connection with the women's work for women strangers at Camp Dix, Wrightstown, N. J. Thousands of country visit the camp every week to see relatives and friends, and this has raised a problem for the military authorities and social workers. Women have come to the camp in great numbers in this work. The Young Women's Christian association, which has a hostess house near the camp entrance, and the war department commission on community service, as represented by the Travelers' Aid society, have become the chief factors in the work.

Representatives of these organizations meet every morning in the camp at all times and are called when emergency cases need attention. There are scores of these calls every day, from cases where women have arrived in camp without money, or where their men, only to find that son or husband or brother has been transferred to another division, or possibly to overseas service; also to the more numerous cases where young girls have wandered into camp out of curiosity and are in need of protection until they can be sent home.

On a warrant sworn out by Police Chief Thomas E. Brown, Pasay Vito, for an assault committed upon John Mills of Bradford some two months ago, was arrested by Policeman Michael Curran. Before Judge W. J. Brown in the Third district court Vito pleaded not guilty and the case was continued to the regular Friday session. He furnished a bond of $500 for appearance.

William Gilooly, arrested by Officer Curran for intoxication, pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $22 and costs of $3.80. Officer Curran arrested Chris Ferraro and in the district court he pleaded charged with revelling. He entered a plea of guilty and paid a fine and costs amounting to $5.80.

His brother, Joseph Ferraro, was also arrested by Officer Curran in court he was charged with intoxication and also with operating an automobile while intoxicated. He pleaded not guilty and the case was continued to next Friday's session. He furnished a bond of $100 on the charge of violating the automobile law. He is operator of a public service car and in the event of being convicted his license as an automobile operator is liable to be revoked.

George Barker, of South Kingstown, was in the Second district court before Judge Nathan B. Lewis, on complaint of Henry S. Proctor, Jr., agent of the Rhode Island Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children. He entered a plea of not guilty to five counts with having committed a crime and possession of a child. His wife and children were in court and Mr. Proctor asked for their custody. The boy, he stated, was with the grandmother, and the baby with the mother. The hearing was continued to next Monday.

John K. Jacey, died Monday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George

Whitford, in South Kingstown. He was born in North Kingstown April 23, 1837, and prior to 1890 was employed as a stone mason. Since then he had a watch repairing shop. He is survived by two sons, J. Alonzo Jacey of Wakefield and Isaac Jacey of Clayville, also by four daughters, Mrs. George Whitford, Mrs. David M. Knight of Washington, R. I., Mrs. Frank Potter of Providence and Mrs. Daniel S. Holland of Wakefield.

Sheriff John R. Wilcox arrested Everett Willis, Tuesday, and brought him into the district court, where he was given a hearing before Clerk Clarence E. Roche, on several counts. He was charged with breaking and entering the garage of Joseph Champlin at Quonoctaug, and stealing therefrom three bags of phosphate, an automobile tire and rim, a plush robe, auto pump, tire chains and auto tools. Also, with the theft of two pigs from Oliver Savitt on the Post road. Also a clock from the Quonoctaug schoolhouse. From Jeremiah Brown a nine months' old child.

A grindstone from Charles Rathbun. The sheriff has not only recovered all the stolen property, but also considerable more, taken from other persons, in endless variety, but did not press any additional charges at this time. Willis pleaded not guilty and was held hearing next Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Parker observed the golden anniversary of their wedding Tuesday at their home in School street and there was a general family reunion. Among the guests were John Keast, of Quincy, Mass., Mrs. William Oliver, of Barre, Vt., and Mrs. William Hill of New London, who were at the wedding in Luxury in Rosewelling, Cornwall, England, on April 2, 1868. Children and grandchildren, numbering nearly forty, were in attendance at the anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Parker came to Westerly thirty years ago. Mr. Parker was employed for twenty-five years as a stone cutter and now conducts a store. Both Mr. and Mrs. Parker are members of Grace Methodist church.
