Men Working at Gravel Bank Run to Safety When 75 Foot Oak Falls—Red Cross Work During April—Boys in Service Appreciate Outfits.

Men employed in getting out gravel from a bank in the eastern section of the town a short distance from Arthur Lucy's farm narrowly escaped death when an oak 75 feet high and five feet in diameter fell on them Thursday about 1:30 o'clock. A large autotruck which carries the gravel had just backed in so the men could fill it. The workers had been shoveling but a short time when gravel and large stones began falling from the top of the bank. The stones were cleared away and the men looked over the bank to see if it was safe. For the past two weeks loads of gravel have been hauled from this spot and a deep hole has been made. The top of the land on which the tree stood was about 60 feet from the ground and contains several other large trees on the northerly side. This gravel bank holds a number of large stones, and several times Thursday these loosened and came falling down on dirt with them. When the landslide occurred Thursday the only warning given was the creaking of the tree. One of the men who fell was killed; he lost his footing on the stones, slipped and rolled under the truck. As the last three men reached a place of safety they saw the oak fall across the street, carrying with it about 75 feet of dirt. It fell in a northeasterly direction, escaping the truck by a narrow margin and came falling down the way with a crash that could be heard a long distance.

Thursday the men were working directly under this tree. Arthur Lucy loaned the men saws and axes and the obstruction was removed and taken to the side of the road.

What do you look for in a cigarette?

YOU want fragrance, of course—and smoothness—and body, so you know you're really smoking. No one tobacco can give you everything you want.

You can get these different qualities only by combining the flavors of different tobaccos. It takes twelve different tobaccos—five Turkish and seven American—to produce the flavor that has made Mecca the favorite cigarette of over a million smokers.

These different tobaccos are not just mixed, but are still-blended. The twelve tobaccos are placed in the blending-still, and moist heat is passed through until all the different flavors are drawn into one, much as the full flavor of tea is drawn out by steeping. Only in this way can be obtained the true Mecca flavor.

Guaranteed by The American Tobacco Co.

THE TOTAL POPULAR VOTE IN 1916 WAS 16,538,248

Enough Mecca cigarettes are produced in less than two days to give a smoke to every man who voted.
