SUPERIOR COURT

Short Calendar Session Friday—Continuation in $75,000 Damage Case of Conley vs. Hunt, Executor—Automobile Hearing Case On.

A short calendar session of the Windham county superior court was held in this city Friday, but no cases were assigned, as Judge Malbie will be unable to attend the court next week.

In the cases on the short calendar list, those which were not settled were continued on the next list. In the two cases of William A. Abner and of Alice M. Alford against Daniel P. Dunn, Thomas P. Foley and the City of Willimantic, the City of Willimantic was dropped as one of the defendants.

Delay in Divorce Case. In the anticipated divorce case of Mabel U. Anderson vs. George K. Anderson, Commissioner P. J. Danahy filed his briefs, but the case was not argued as Mrs. Anderson's attorney, W. A. King, was given two weeks which to file briefs and amend the complaint.

Stock Purchased by Late Edwin Milner.

The case of John Conley, et al, vs. Horatio H. Hunt, executor, which was assigned for trial by jury, next Tuesday, the plaintiff's attorney asked that the case be continued until next fall. The defendant's attorney opposed this motion, as the case has been on the docket four years.

Judge Malbie said that he did not think the case was for a jury, but should be tried without one and when court adjourned he decided not to summon the jury for next Tuesday, when the case was to have been started, so it will probably be tried at some later date without a jury.

Automobile Case Heard.

The case of Lawrence V. Sweeney vs. August Lindheim was then taken up. This case had been continued Friday and had been continued. Some of the evidence was very conflicting, as the high autoist claim that they were on the right hand side, stopped, when the accident happened, but in some way the cars came together. The cars would have been five feet apart when the accident happened. It both when the accident happened, the road was hugging the side of the road.

Mail Unclaimed.

Unclaimed mail at the post office for the week ending May 23 is addressed to Mr. E. J. Minot, Mrs. Sanello Piatello, Mr. David H. Purvis, Mrs. Lantano Smith, Mr. John E. Whitney and The Willimantic P. O. H. Co.

Arrested in New Haven on Theft Charge.

The New Haven police arrested Tomy Belko of this city on a warrant charging him with the theft of $180 from Mary Dury of this city. The alleged theft occurred last March. He was brought to this city by Chief Killourey and will be in court this Saturday morning.

The Saturday morning session of the police court plans to be a long session as there are three cases which were continued from a big docket last week, two saloonkeepers charged with selling liquor on Sunday and one man charged with keeping a house of ill fame. It is possible that the court may be in session all day.

ITALIANS OF CITY OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Of Italy's Entrance in the War by Parade and Mass Meeting. The anniversary of the entrance of Italy into the war was celebrated in this city in a fitting manner Friday evening with parade and rally. The red, white and green flag of Italy was very prominent, most of the stores and many homes having the colors displayed.

Up to Thursday there were little, if any, plans for a parade, but as this would stimulate enthusiasm in the Red Cross campaign which is now in progress it was decided to have one, and invitations were issued to local fraternal societies to take part, many of which did.

The parade formed on Union street with the right on Lincoln square. At 7:45 the word was given to march by Marshal Frank P. Fenton. The parade was headed by Chief Killourey and Lieutenant McArthur and platoon of police. They followed by the Italian band, flanked by some Boy Scouts carrying the flags of the allied nations. The only band in the line was the local American band which was followed by Company M, Connecticut State guard. Next in line was a large auto truck converted into a float, showing a Red Cross nurse sitting in a side stretcher on which lay a man, wounded. The fraternal division followed with delegations from San Jose council, K of C, Ancient and Improved Hibernians and Willimantic lodge of Elks. Lyman Maine's drum corps led the delegation from the Willimantic branch of the Sons of Italy. Italian marchers carried both American and Italian flags. Several automobiles, including a Buick, a Packard and a Ford, were in the parade. Representatives from the town and state governments, preachers of the gospel, and invited guests and speakers.

The parade disbanded in front of Labor Union hall, opposite the Liberty cottage, and the Sons of Italy marched to the junction of Railroad street. At the rally the following speakers were heard: Attorney General George B. Hughes, Mayor of Norwich, W. A. King, Daniel P. Dunn and Philip Testastrossa, the latter speaking in Italian. The speakers told of the present struggle, both in their native land and in the land of the free—America. The great work of the American Red Cross was also pointed out to the large audience.

Our efforts, said Mr. Wilson, should be measured by what we can do according to our circumstances.
