

Cocoon Oil Fine
For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain multi-fused cocoon oil, which is pure and entirely greaseless, is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get multi-fused cocoon oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

WEDDINGS

Driscoll—Murphy.

On Tuesday morning in St. Patrick's church a military wedding took place when Miss Isabel M. Murphy, second daughter of former Mayor W. C. Murphy, was united in marriage with Lieut. William T. Driscoll, M. R. C. son of Mrs. Margaret Driscoll of Jewett City.

The bride and party entered the church Prof. F. L. Farrell rendered Mendelssohn's Wedding March. The bride entered with her father, accompanied by her maid of honor, Miss Alice E. Murphy, a sister. The groom was attended by John A. Cunningham, U. S. N. R. P., as best man. The ushers were Dr. Edward Kirby of Norwich, William P. Murphy, S. M. M., of Boston, and Charles J. McKay, U. S. A., Garden City, Long Island.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Patrick F. Scully of Albany, N. Y., a cousin of the groom, who sang the nuptial mass that followed. Rev. J. H. Broderick, rector of the church, assisted at the ceremony. Prof. F. L. Farrell rendered To a Wild Rose, and as an offertory Mrs. E. L. Farrell sang Ave Maria.

The bride was gowned in white Georgette crepe embroidered with seed pearls. She wore a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and orange buds.

Her maid of honor wore mauve Georgette crepe with hat to match.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, which the Wauregan Hotel catered. The house was prettily decorated with ferns, palms and cut flowers and a large American flag was draped on the wall. The parlor. Geduldig had charge of the decorations. The bride received many beautiful gifts.

The bride is a graduate of the Norwich Free Academy and of Mt. St. Joseph's seminary, Hamilton Heights. She has a long list of admiring friends.

Lieut. Driscoll, who is now stationed at Camp Shelby, Hattiesburg, Miss., enlisted in the Medical Reserve Corps last November. Prior to that time he practiced medicine successfully in Norwich. He is a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Baltimore, Md., and was an intern at St. Mary's hospital, Hoboken, N. J.

Lieut. and Mrs. Driscoll left in the early afternoon for a short tour. The bride traveled in a blue tailored suit. The groom will return to duty in a few weeks. Mr. Driscoll will be at home at No. 151 Broadway.

Sullivan—Dixon.

A pretty wedding occurred at St. Mary's church, Lebanon, Monday morning at 9 o'clock, when Patrick John Sullivan and Miss Anna Grace Dixon were united in marriage by Rev. Joseph Ford, who also sang the nuptial mass. The best man was James Lomenzan and the bridesmaid was Miss Nellie Dixon, a sister of the bride.

The bride wore a gown of white georgette crepe with brass net veil caught up with a wreath of orange blossoms. A shower bouquet of white roses.

The bridesmaid wore light blue georgette crepe and hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Guests were present from Willimantic, New Haven, Norwich and Fitchville.

The bride received many beautiful presents, including silverware, cut glass and linen. The bride and groom will spend their honeymoon in New York.

The groom is employed in the finishing department of the American Thread company, Willimantic. The bride was formerly employed by the same company.

FUNERALS.

Margaret E. Grant.

The funeral of Margaret Elmiron Grant was held Tuesday afternoon from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Grant, 200 Broadway, with relatives and friends attending. There were many beautiful floral tributes arranged about the casket.

Rev. C. H. Ricketts, D. D., pastor of the Greenview Congregational church, officiated. The bearers were James and John Jack, Ernest Jervis and John Grant. Burial was in the family lot in Taintor cemetery, where a committal service was read at the grave by Rev. Mr. Ricketts. Undertaker C. A. Gager, Jr., had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Jabez Kingsbury.

Funeral services for Mrs. Jabez Kingsbury, 82, who died Saturday morning, were held at her home in Talcottville, Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Rev. F. P. Bacheher conducted the services. Burial was in Mt. Hope cemetery.

Mrs. Kingsbury was born in Vernon Oct. 30, 1835, and was educated in the elementary schools in Vernon and attended a private school in Manchester. Later she taught in the schools in Coventry and there she resided until twelve years ago when she went to live in Taintor.

She is survived by two daughters, Miss Fannie Kingsbury of Talcottville and Mrs. George Royal of Des Moines, Iowa, two grand-children and nine great-grandchildren.

Henry Bellows.

The funeral of Henry Bellows was held from the home of D. Bourque in Franklin on Tuesday afternoon with relatives and friends present from out of town. Many beautiful floral tributes were arranged about the casket. Miss Tinsley of the Spiritual Union in Willimantic officiated. The bearers were Charles Davis, P. Mabrey, D. Bourque and Frank Bellows of New London. Burial was in the Putnam cemetery where Miss Tinsley read a committal service at the grave.

The deceased was born 77 years ago in Franklin where he had passed nearly all his life, being prominent in the political affairs in the town. He was first elected mayor in 19 years and had held other offices.

He married Emily Bliss, who died about 2 years ago. Mr. Bellows is survived by one brother, Frank, of New London, and several nieces and nephews.

Postmaster John P. Murphy has received the accompanying circular addressed to all employees of the postal service, to be observed on War Savings Thrift day, June 28.

WAR SAVINGS THRIFT DAY, June 28, 1918.

The motto of the postoffice department is "Save and Sacrifice. Do Your Duty. Don't Delay."

Office of the Postmaster General, Washington, June 18, 1918.

To All Postmasters and Other Officials and Employees of the Postal Service:

"If the United States can learn something about saving out of this war, it will be worth the cost of the war—i mean the literal cost of it in money and resources."—Woodrow Wilson.

It is the hope of the postoffice department that the postmasters and postal employees throughout the country will do all in their power to put renewed energy into the campaign for the sale of war savings and Thrift stamps.

President Wilson has named June 28th as War Savings Thrift day. This day will mark the beginning of the second stage of the campaign for war savings and Thrift stamps.

Prepare for this day. Put your heart into the work and encourage others to do so.

Posters are being mailed, with instructions to postmasters, to have them displayed at all postoffices and other places conspicuously, as a reminder of how Thrift day is to be celebrated.

Let us make 28th of this month a day which we can remember with pride. Let us all win in this campaign the honorable decoration of Thrift and war savings. It is a badge of virtue and of honor.

Make June 28th, 1918, a day of enlistment for every man, woman and child of America in a great army of Thrift savings—the supporting reserve of our army abroad. Make it the largest, most devoted and effective reserve army in the world.

Every sacrifice made for the purchase of war savings and Thrift stamps represents participation in the sacrifice our boys are making at the front. Take pride in this sacrifice and savings. Buy all the war savings or Thrift stamps you can buy on this day and then keep on buying. Put your heart into the buying. Induce others to buy. Buy for the love of our boys in battle, but for the love of our country; but for your own good and for the freedom and happiness of mankind. Rejoice in the thought that your war savings stamp is a certificate of enlistment in the army of Thrift, supporting the army of right and justice. Be brave enough to sacrifice some comfort, that there may be less sacrifice of our blood.

The buying of these stamps is a blessing in the spirit of helpfulness and habits of Thrift. By such savings you serve your country and yourself. It is not only what you yourself save but what you induce others to save that counts.

Let us learn the art of Thrift: to live frugally and wisely; it is a national duty peculiarly binding at this time, a personal obligation that all good citizens owe to themselves and their families.

A. S. BURLISON, Postmaster General.
