Manufacturers Discuss Labor Question
An Effort to Be Made to Get Federal Employment Director Korper Here to Outline Situation—Coal Situation Also Discussed By Bureau.
Friday evening the Manufacturers' Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce held their July meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms with twenty of the leading manufacturers of the city and vicinity in attendance. Chairman Von Wagenen opened the meeting and the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting which were approved. Secretary Arthur H. Fleming presented the following firms as having taken out associate memberships in the chamber: Marlin-Rockwell corporation, Shore Line Electric Company, American Pharmaceutical, Winchester Bottle company, Winchester Woolen company, Norwich Woolen, Eastern Connecticut Power company, J. B. Mather company, Norwich Bell Manufacturing company, Litchwartzbach-Huber company, Atlantic Carton Corporation, United Metal company, Crescent Fire Arms company, Joseph H. Centeno Versatile Public Works Corporation, Saxton Woolen Corporation, Max Gordon Sons Corporation, Chelsea Fire Works, Hart Transportation Corporation, E. I. Dupont de Nemours company.
There was a discussion of the transportation problem, especially in relation to the coal situation, from data compiled by the chamber. Since the coal strike has taken place, the roads there has been what is considered a great advance in the charges for the shipment of coal and other commodities. This matter was thoroughly discussed by the public service commission in Boston July 16. The consensus of opinion at that meeting seemed to be that McCauley was acting unjustly. At the present meeting the manufacturers expressed their opinion on this matter and discussed steps which might be taken to remedy it.
The question of labor also came up for discussion at the meeting. The employment service of the U. S. department of labor is trying to organize the demand for labor in each community so that there will be no aimless wandering from place to place in search of jobs. California draws its unskilled labor from points as far east as Buffalo and New York, and as far west as the Mississippi for its unskilled labor. It is the aim of the employment service to do away with this chaotic having the needs of each community tabulated and supplying the needs through a central labor board. In this sense the officers of the United States employment service will act as exchanges for unskilled labor.
The chamber of commerce through its manufacturers' bureau is considering co-operating with the United States employment service of the department of labor. The matter was first taken up with Joseph W. Alsop of the state council of defense and he turned it over to Leo A. Korper, federal director for Connecticut of the U. S. employment service. Mr. Korper has furnished the secretary of the bureau with instruction concerning the formation of a war community board. After considerable discussion it was decided to have the secretary communicate with Mr. Korper and invite him to appear before the chamber and give his views on and explain the operation of the community board.
The matter of putting another steamer on the Norwich-New York line operated by the Hart Transportation company was discussed but no action was taken.
The meeting adjourned about 10:30.

NORWICH CELEBRATES ALLIED VICTORY WITH FIREWORKS.
Chappell Company Furnishes Beautiful Display in Honor of American Drive.
Although a trifle late, Norwich on Friday evening celebrated the allied victory in France with a large display of fireworks from Chappell's which were witnessed by thousands of people who cheered each bursting aerial bomb. The fireworks were the gift of Arthur H. Brewer and Willis Austin, members of the firm of Edw. Chappell & Co., of New York. Several weeks ago propounded an allied victory and had made arrangements for the celebration, but the news of the victory arrived before the fireworks set off by Dominick Americano of New Haven, who was sent here for the occasion by the company manufacturing the fireworks. The display included red, white and blue rockets and star shells such as are used in night raids in the trenches "over there." These shells would go up and burst in the air, and the light of a burning substance would light up the city for several minutes. These shells are used in the trenches when an enemy raid at night is feared.
White and blue rockets were sent heavenward by the orchestra at the roof garden played The Star Spangled Banner. A freight train on the Norwich and Tatfield line which went down during the celebration and red signal fires burning on the rear end of the caboose. The Girl Scouts from Trinity Methodist church were present at the celebration and cheered for General Pershing and for the boys over there.
The display lasted for half an hour and was one of the best seen in this city in many years.

Judge Howe Advises Prisoners to Get Someone to Defend Them in U. S. District Court.
When George C. Morgan, a New London lawyer, told Judge Howe in the United States district court at Hartford Friday noon that he had been personally unable to decide whether his clients were really guilty or innocent, but that he had advised them to plead guilty, Judge Howe told him that his clients had better get another lawyer to protect them from himself.
The prisoners changed their pleas from not guilty to guilty. Mr. Morgan intimated there was a doubt about their guilt. Judge Howe said if that was the case the court would not accept such a plea.
After some discussion Mr. Morgan told the court he had been unable to form an opinion on their guilt or innocence.
"Then they have the wrong lawyer," said Judge Howe. "They should get some one else to defend them. It is a serious thing for two young men to plead guilty to a larceny they have not committed."
Mr. Morgan finally said he thought they were guilty. They had been in jail forty-two days, and both the married and the children.
Mr. Crosby thought to date sentence had already spent in jail would be sufficient. Mr. Morgan asked the judge a nominal fine would not relieve the stigma.
"Why do you recommend that?" asked the judge. "You have already won your case, and I am willing to let them go."
They were then discharged.

Rev. George H. Strouse is to perform the ceremony. Both Miss Zera and Mr. Latoy are members of the theatrical troupe now playing at the local theatre.

LIQUOR DEALERS DISCUSS HIGHER BEER PRICES
At Convention in New Haven Held Recently.
That the members of the association of brewers and other points throughout the state will not be surprised to see a number of the smaller saloon keepers forced to close their doors within the next few months because of the increase in the price of beer and other alcoholic drinks, caused by the increased federal taxes as well as for material and coal, was apparent at the recent meeting of the State Liquor Dealers' association. It has been estimated that 50 New Haven saloons may be forced to close by early fall and it is expected that at that time numbers of owners of saloons will not make application for renewals.
Fearing in the event of another special federal tax the brewers will raise the price of beer per keg to such a figure as to prohibit the sale of beer at the bar for five cents, the association appointed a committee to confer with the principal brewers of this state on the situation and if possible to secure a uniform price per keg for the entire state. The convention took no action, however, as to raising the price of beer to the consumer nor on reducing the size of the glass.
Appointed on the committee to confer with the brewers were State President Frank P. Quinn, New Haven; State Vice President Leo Guthrie, Hartford; State Secretary Thomas F. "Stimmons," New Haven; State Treasurer P. J. Griffin, Waterbury; Thomas Schumaker, Ansonia.
Daniel J. McCormick of this city was local representative at the meeting.
Liberty Choruses.
The council of National defense has turned to the Connecticut State Council of Defense for advice on the subject of community singing as a force in winning the war and also in the matter of suitable music for community war choruses.
The first state in the Union to mobilize its singers as a war force was Connecticut, according to information secured by the state council's section of the council of national defense. More than 130 "Liberty Choruses" have been organized in Connecticut to date under the division of Liberty Choruses, which is a department of the publicity committee of the council.
The director of this division, James S. Stevens of Hartford, has been invited by Arthur H. Fleming, chief of the state council's section, to attend a conference to be held in Washington this week to discuss Liberty Chorus organization on a nationwide scale and to consider the matter of suitable song books for the choruses.

Manufacturers Discuss Labor Question
An Effort to Be Made to Get Federal Employment Director Korper Here to Outline Situation—Coal Situation Also Discussed By Bureau.
Friday evening the Manufacturers' Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce held their July meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms with twenty of the leading manufacturers of the city and vicinity in attendance. Chairman Von Wagenen opened the meeting and the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting which were approved. Secretary Arthur H. Fleming presented the following firms as having taken out associate memberships in the chamber: Marlin-Rockwell corporation, Shore Line Electric Company, American Pharmaceutical, Winchester Bottle company, Winchester Woolen company, Norwich Woolen, Eastern Connecticut Power company, J. B. Mather company, Norwich Bell Manufacturing company, Litchwartzbach-Huber company, Atlantic Carton Corporation, United Metal company, Crescent Fire Arms company, Joseph H. Centeno Versatile Public Works Corporation, Saxton Woolen Corporation, Max Gordon Sons Corporation, Chelsea Fire Works, Hart Transportation Corporation, E. I. Dupont de Nemours company.
There was a discussion of the transportation problem, especially in relation to the coal situation, from data compiled by the chamber. Since the coal strike has taken place, the roads there has been what is considered a great advance in the charges for the shipment of coal and other commodities. This matter was thoroughly discussed by the public service commission in Boston July 16. The consensus of opinion at that meeting seemed to be that McCauley was acting unjustly. At the present meeting the manufacturers expressed their opinion on this matter and discussed steps which might be taken to remedy it.
The question of labor also came up for discussion at the meeting. The employment service of the U. S. department of labor is trying to organize the demand for labor in each community so that there will be no aimless wandering from place to place in search of jobs. California draws its unskilled labor from points as far east as Buffalo and New York, and as far west as the Mississippi for its unskilled labor. It is the aim of the employment service to do away with this chaotic having the needs of each community tabulated and supplying the needs through a central labor board. In this sense the officers of the United States employment service will act as exchanges for unskilled labor.
The chamber of commerce through its manufacturers' bureau is considering co-operating with the United States employment service of the department of labor. The matter was first taken up with Joseph W. Alsop of the state council of defense and he turned it over to Leo A. Korper, federal director for Connecticut of the U. S. employment service. Mr. Korper has furnished the secretary of the bureau with instruction concerning the formation of a war community board. After considerable discussion it was decided to have the secretary communicate with Mr. Korper and invite him to appear before the chamber and give his views on and explain the operation of the community board.
The matter of putting another steamer on the Norwich-New York line operated by the Hart Transportation company was discussed but no action was taken.
The meeting adjourned about 10:30.

RULING ON RAILROAD FARES FOR CHILDREN
Between Providence and Points on its Bristol, R. I., Branch.
Washington, July 19.—The Interstate commerce commission today ordered the New Haven railroad to cease maintaining commutation and special fares for school children between Providence and points on its Bristol, R. I., branch, when such commutation and special fares are lower than are now maintained for like service between Providence and Fall River, Mass. The fares as at present were declared in the commission's opinion to be unfair to South Swans Falls, R. I., and other towns on the Fall River branch of the road.
