WEDDING.

Wilcox—Starkweather.

A very pretty wedding took place Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. S. C. Starkweather of Preston City when her daughter, Helen Anne, was united in marriage to Edwin Eugene Wilcox, Jr. of Groton.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. N. B. Prindle of Shelton, Conn., in front of a huge bank of ferns interspersed with gladioli and other flowers. The house was attractively decorated, the color scheme being pink and white.

A feature of the decorations was a large bell of flowers, the main part of which consisted of white hydrangeas, with the tongue in pink gladioli. During the ceremony the bride couple stood under the bell.

At eight o'clock Mrs. E. P. Barnes sang with great feeling O Promise Me, after which the bridal chorus Lohengrin was played by Miss Rosa S. Wilcox, a sister of the groom. While the march was being played the bride party led by Miss Elizabeth Service and Miss Marcia Zabrickie, who acted as flower girls and ribbon bearers, entered the parlor. These two little girls, who are former pupils of the school, wore dainty pink voile dresses and carried baskets of ferns and pink asters. They untwined the white ribbon that formed the aisle for the bride party as they walked along.

The bride wore a white satin gown with pearl trimmings and her veil was caught up with white roses. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses.

After the ceremony a buffet lunch was served with Miss Mildred and Grace Zabrickie and Anna Yerrington as waitresses. The waitresses were with the dress and pink sashes. The bride received many handsome gifts including china, cut glass, silver and linen. The groom's gift to his best man was a pair of cold cut links and to the boy ribbon cutters he gave a tie clasp and the girl ribbon bearers bar pins set with amethysts.

Guests were present from Fall River, Dartmouth and New Bedford, Mass.; Hartford, New Britain, Jewett City and Norwich, and Brooklyn, N. Y.

USES REVOLVER WITH FATAL EFFECT

Joseph E. Stead, proprietor of Stead's Bon Ton Market at 36 Franklin street, shot himself in the chest and died instantly about 6 o'clock on Sunday morning at his home, No. 748 Main street. His wife had just taken their three-year-old daughter from his arms to dress her when he suddenly secured a revolver and shot himself as he sat in a chair. He had intended going to Ocean Beach with his family and had been in the city for several days. Business and domestic troubles of which his friends were cognizant are believed to have preyed upon his mind and he is believed to have been in a sudden fit of temporary insanity. Mrs. Stead ran from the house to summon help and Dr. N. B. Lewis was called there. Later Medical Examiner G. L. Gillette was called and he gave permission to have the body removed to Gager's undertaking rooms.

Mr. Stead had been a resident of Norwich for about two years, coming here from Waltham, Mass., and buying the meat market formerly conducted by W. A. Somers at 36 Franklin street. He was born at Hermon, Me., in England thirty-eight years ago on June 30th and was still an English subject and had been recently to New Haven to register in the English Consulate. He was married to Mrs. G. Bulgin, a widow.

There are surviving a three-year-old daughter and two stepsons, Carl Futton, U. S. M. C., stationed at Fort Slocum, N. Y., and Wilbur Dutton of this city.

Mr. Stead belonged to a Masonic lodge in Waltham, and was a man who was well thought of in his business and social relations. He had been a resident of this city.

AMERICAN BOYS HAVE IDEALS THAT ARE HIGH. The Sunday breakfast at the Y. M. C. A. for men in the city was well patronized yesterday by three branches of Uncle Sam's fighters, including marines, sailors and soldiers, and much enthusiasm and appreciation was shown by the men. As usual the breakfast was served by members of the "Y" auxiliary assisted by several young ladies. The menu consisted of sausages, scalloped potatoes, scrambled eggs, bread, butter and coffee. The kind friends sent in beautiful flowers which made things attractive.

The brief address of the occasion was delivered by C. Edward Smith of the Cranston Co., and at the close of his talk the fellows applauded heartily. Mr. Smith said, among things, "It is a real pleasure to see so many of you here this morning. It is pleasant to look into your faces. We are proud of the ideals of our American boys of the army and navy. I confess I feared for their moral safety when they were sent to the front. The temptations are awful, but reports that come from reliable sources tell us that our boys are keeping themselves pure and clean. It was reported recently that a Boston woman with her daughter were walking along at night fearful of what might happen to them when they heard footsteps ahead and the mother finally said to her daughter, 'We are safe, for the man is wearing an American uniform; this is certainly a fine compliment to our boys over there. Most of our men are in military uniform and are not families, so long as this did not interfere with supplying families with smaller sizes. With these two exceptions dealers are supposed to serve families, including boarding houses, apartment houses and apartments over stores and offices. For the present no increase in orders will be granted. The municipal gas and electric plant and the chairman of the local fuel committee have agreed that sign lights of any description and window lights of any description are to be used only on Saturday evenings. The exception made relate to the three local theatres. These theatres are allowed to use sign lights for ten minutes only before the opening of each evening's performance, but are not to use sign lights at their first performance until the evenings are really dark. At the close of each evening's performance outside 200 watt lights may be used by the theatres only sufficiently to insure the safety of their patrons. The matter of street lighting is left wholly to the board of gas and electrical commissioners in conjunction with the court of common council. The plan adopted is the minimum of light compatible with public safety.

CUT COAL DELIVERIES TO HALF OF ORDERS. Norwich households who have had the good fortune to be called upon to them two-thirds of their coal supply for the coming winter are the fortunate ones just now as a new order regarding deliveries on orders larger than eight tons cuts the possible amount that can be received to half instead of two-thirds.

The new order is effective at once. It was issued Saturday by Martin E. Jenney, chairman of the local fuel committee, and also bars the use of sign lights of any description and window lights on all evenings but Saturday. Exceptions to this rule are made in the case of the three Norwich theatres.

The following are the new regulations: Beginning Monday, August 26th, 1918, four tons of coal will be delivered on orders running from four tons to eight tons. On orders larger than eight tons only one-half of the order will be delivered. The coal dealers have been notified of this change, which is suggested by the state fuel administrator. The conditions in Norwich have caused the change in delivery up to a degree which the coal dealers had arranged 40 per cent. of its hard coal.

On account of the collapse of one coal dealer in the city it was necessary to deliver about 200 tons of egg coal to consumers not strictly families.

On account of over supply of egg coal in the case of another dealer he has been permitted to deliver to non-family, so long as this did not interfere with supplying families with smaller sizes.

With these two exceptions dealers are supposed to serve families, including boarding houses, apartment houses and apartments over stores and offices.

For the present no increase in orders will be granted.

HARTFORD PASTOR IS GET-TOGETHER SPEAKER. The usual large number of enlisted men attended the Sunday afternoon service at the Central Baptist church. The Rev. C. A. Every, every-day civilians were present and everybody enjoyed the occasion. Lively music by the orchestra was followed by the singing of popular songs.

In his characteristic way, Dr. Peter C. Wright of Hartford gave one of his heart talks, and as might be expected he had his audience with him from the start. After the singing of another song, the ladies of the Central Baptist church served a tasty and hearty repast. The service was partaken of with a relish.

During the "get together" which lasted about two hours, the men were made very comfortable by the two large evergreen fans in the center of the lobby; these were presented recently to the association by a kind lady friend of the institution.
