Hard Fought Matches at Forest Hills

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 28.—In a series of bitterly fought matches in which endurance played as prominent a part as skill, the majority of the leading tennis players of the country forced their way to the fore in the third day of the annual national singles tennis championship being staged on the courts of the West Side Tennis club.

But two of the more prominent players escaped the necessity of going through a fourth or fifth set before victory was theirs. The two outstanding favorites, R. Lindley Murray, the Californian expert, playing for Niagara Falls, and W. T. Tilden, Jr. of Philadelphia, were onces to demonstrate their cause without delay.

Murray disposed of Theodore R. Pell of New York, noted for superiority of his left hand, in straight sets at 6-3, 6-0, 6-0. Murray showed the result of his play and practice during the past week and appears to be rapidly rounding into the form which has made him so formidable in the past few years.

Murray's terrific service and smashing forehand pull on the defense the greater part of the time. Tilden in eliminating Conrad B. Doyle of Washington at 6-3, 6-1, 7-5 can be said in a general way to have been in the same category with Murray. Doyle put up a gallant fight against the towering Philadelphiaer, but the superiority of the latter was entirely too great to be overcome.

The break of the draw gave Ichiro Kumasaga an off day but his countryman, Selychro Kashio, figured in another extremely long drawn-out court battle which twilight found unfinished. Early in the afternoon he resumed the uncompleted match of yesterday.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—The world's series in Chicago will be played at Comiskey Park, the home of the Chicago American League club. This was announced today by Secretary Walter Craighead of the Chicago Nationals. What do you look for in a cigarette?

Smoothness? Yes. Fragrance? Yes. Body? Yes. "Pep"? Yes, to let you know you're smoking. No one tobacco grown combines them all. That's why, to make the Mecca cigarette, they have to use 12 tobaccos—7 American and 5 Turkish. They mix these 12—in just the right proportion—but mixing is not enough. For 50 hours they pass moist heat through them all and thus draw the smoothness and fragrance of the Turkish into the American and the body and "pep" of the American into the Turkish. This is the famous Still-Blend process. This is why over a million Mecca smokers have found all they look for in a cigarette.

FRANK VAN NESS RETURNED. The old time driver, Frank Van Ness, who has been in France for the past ten or twelve years, and who has been in the battle zone as a veterinary dentist since the beginning of the war, returned to America August 5, in charge of eight race horses owned by John S. Ford of Amsterdam, N. Y.

Van Ness is getting along in years as he was born in Fairport, N. Y., in 1850, and began racing in Grand Circuit company in 1872, when he bought out the Gooding's Champion gelding, St. James, which he raced from coast to coast and sold to Lucky Baldwin for $13,000, after he had given him a record of 2:22 3/4 and won over $15,000 with him.

Albermarle was his next pupil. He was succeeded by Bonessier, Little Brown Jug, Robert McGregor, Fred Douglas and Franco's Alexander, better known as the greatest trotter in the world, to Lexington, Ky., and began developing the get of George Wilkes, which was then attracting world-wide attention.

While in Kentucky Van Ness brought out The Kings, Alcayone, Albert France, Lumps, Isaac and Sister Wilkes, while Harry Wilkes the greatest trotter in the family, Frank made his first campaign with him in 1884 when he won sixteen out of nineteen starts, one turned loose in the box stall as soon as he got to Hartford. At that time the horse was owned by W. C. France.

After going over to the runners Van Ness had a fine run of success, but his greatest triumph was scored in 1892 when he won the Futurity with the hundred dollar colt Murelio. Later on he located in the west and raced 1844 World Pacer, which he won at Toledo with 2:00, 2:05 shares.

THE RIVALS. Mabel Trask and St. Frisco are the most evenly matched pair of trotters that were ever seen on the turf. Both of them carry race records of 2:01 3/4 and while the number of victories are in favor of the mare, it looks as though Geer's horse has the best of the argument and is very apt to step to the front in a two minutes or better in the free for all at Hartford on Labor Day. In order to bring these trotters together again at Charter Oak Park, the Connecticut Fair Association of ferred a $2,500 purse and while Miss Bertha Dillon declined the battle, Cox came forward with a second Richmond in Lu Princeton, the stout battler that won in 2:03 1/4 and 2:03 3/4 at North Randall. These three great trotters present a peculiar study for those who are interested in the whims of stars from prima donnas to game chickens. St. Frisco is a plain everyday body in the horse world. His bump of curiosity is well developed but as soon as he familiarizes himself with his surroundings he never shows a disposition to make a rough house so long as he gets what is coming to him in the way of hay and oats and a few carrots. Lu Princeton is so lazy that he will not move out of his tracks unless ordered and sometimes persuaded to do so with an application of the whip. He trots all of his races under protest and never breaks away flying until he is satisfied that everyone is ready for business. In the stable his only worry is a constant fear that the man with the feed box will fall to come early and often. If he was not owned by a rich man, he would eat him out of house and home. On the other hand Mabel Trask is as demure and polite as the horse king can be and while as wild as a spoiled child, those in control of her make it a point to see that she is not crossed in anything so long as it does not interfere with her racing. When being jogged if she stops to look around a minute or two, no one disturbs her until she is ready to move on. Also when being trained or raced she is treated differently from other horses. Instead of being tied both ways or walked she is turned loose in the box stall as soon as she comes in from the track and allowed to eat all the hay she wants or to take a drink if she feels so disposed. Her groom also manages to take care of her physical wants as she moves about in the stall and when the race or work is over instead of having an empty stomach, she is ready to have a snooze as soon as she has cooled out.

The Seaview Golf Club of Atlantic City, N. J., the finest club along the coast, has installed traps and pokeys which have another sport to enjoy when it is impossible to make use of the links.

The Crescent Athletic Club, of Brooklyn, has turned over its rifle and revolver range for the instruction of army officers, enlisted men, sailors and police reserves.

Forty-one of the States and Canada were represented at the Grand American Handicap at Chicago early in August. Connecticut sent three shooters. A large proportion of the shooters were the uniforms of either the army or navy.

John D. Henry of Elkhart, Indiana, who won the Grand American Handicap purchased the gun with which he shot only a few hours before the shoot. The gun was such a perfect fit that he broke 97, tying with H. J.

being at Georgetown University in Washington. At last report Lieut. Ed. McKay, former Trinity and N. F. A. athlete and later coach here was at Camp Custer, Michigan, not in France. Some soldiers in France write home not only to their families but also, saying he had met Ed over there.

A suggestion has been made that fairgrounds which normally are used only one week in 52 be turned over to shooting clubs for the other 51. The shooting can be arranged so that the spectators can sit in the grandstand. Too few shooting clubs make any provision for an audience and the sport is one which is not only patriotic but healthful to the utmost.
