WESTERLY

Ethan Wilcox, librarian of the Memorial Public Library on Broad street from 1894 to 1908, died at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning at his home on Grove avenue. He had been in failing health for two years but not until three months ago was he confined to a home. He was out for the last time in November when he presided at the meeting of the Westerly Historical society.

Mr. Wilcox, the son of Elias and Eunice Swan Wilcox, was born July 5, 1841, in Norwich, Conn. His father died when he was two years old, leaving the mother with six children to care for.

Ethan, next to the youngest child, although early put to work to help in the support of the family, managed to complete the rudiments of an education. For a time he attended the Westerly High School when A. J. Foster was principal. At that time pupils had to pay tuition.

Mr. Wilcox began his career in Westerly in the White Rock mill in 1857. His fidelity to duty was soon recognized, and he was made general manager of the company's store in White Rock, where he remained for many years. In 1877 he moved into Westerly and started in business for himself in the old Barber building on High street. He conducted a general merchandise store until a fire was burned out in the big fire of 1881 when three blocks were destroyed. He then became manager of the Smith Granite company store on Quaker Hill, where he remained until called to take up the duties of librarian of the Westerly public library in 1894.

Mr. Wilcox's interest in library work began many years ago when the old Pawtucket library, at that time in existence. In 1882 he served as a member of the re-organization committee of the association. From that time he served as librarian of the association until its disbandment. All the books of the old Pawtucket library were purchased by Stephen Wilcox and made the nucleus of the present public library.

From 1894 to 1908 Mr. Wilcox served as librarian, during which time the library grew from 5000 volumes to nearly 21,000. In 1908 he was made librarian of the city. He served as president and president of the Rhode Island Library Association, and was for many years one of the officers of the Rhode Island Library Bulletin. He was also a member of the American Library Association.

Mr. Wilcox was a charter member of the Westerly Historical society and its president since 1915. For years he was a member of the New England Historical and Genealogical society. From 1891 to 1901 Mr. Wilcox served the town as assessor of the poor. He declined re-election. He was also superintendent of health from 1894 to 1897. For years he was one of the record commissioners with the late A. L. Chester.

He became a member of the White Rock Sunday school in 1857, served as its clerk and treasurer, vice superintendent and superintendent. He was baptised into the membership of the First Baptist church by Rev. Frederick Denison, March 18, 1858. He was ordained deacon of the church in December, 1875. He was elected clerk of the church in 1895, and served for 20 years.

For over 25 years he gave his untiring efforts to the work of overhauling the school. On retiring from the superintendency in May, 1917, he was made honorary superintendent for life. He married Ruth Johnson Greene of Westerly, November 24, 1863, and she died May 10, 1908.

He leaves a sister, Mrs. Dwight T. Coates of Middleboro, Mass., who is 81 years old, a son, Frederick B. Wilcox, clerk in the freight office of the New Haven road, a daughter, Miss Fannie E. Wilcox, reference librarian at the Westerly public library, and three grandchildren.

Vern Alden, who claimed Spabana, Wash., as his home, and in 1917 District court before Judge Oliver H. Williams, Friday afternoon charged with being a tramp. He was sentenced to one year in the state workhouse, a sentence approved by District Judge Kane of the New Haven road and was remitted to Westerly by Constable Thompson and lodged with Officer Fred T. Mitchell. The information on the charge was that Alden was wanted by the police for a year and did not intend to work as long as he could get without it. When asked if he was an F. W. W. Alden responded in a "Yes" Mitchell noted that he certainly was and that he was proud of it.

Governor R. L. Beaman, commander-in-chief of the United States National Guard, has ordered the organization of the Rhode Island National Guard Regiment, Col. A. A. Barker paid a visit to the Fourth Company of Westerly Thursday night at their armory on Brown street and stated that the inspection of that organization would be held on Thursday evening, March 20. The inspection will consist of inspection of arms and equipment; show order drill; hold drill; combat exercises which will include advance march; formation for attack; an opponent's position; ground mounting; posting relief; sentinal duty and bookkeeping.

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the members of the Westerly Salvation corps and the Fourth Company, R. I. S. G. will witness the motion picture "Fighting at the Central Theater." Dr. Henry Kimball of Providence will deliver a lecture on cleanliness and conditions necessary to good health. Men and boys of 15 years of age will be admitted free of charge.

All kinds of useful carriages are equally honorable.

URIC ACID IN MEAT CLOGS THE KIDNEYS
Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent drink.

THE STANDARD OF THE WORLD

AFTER all the real secret of the Cadillac is its value. The Government had value in mind when the Cadillac was designated the standard seven-passenger car for the United States Army.

Nor would the Cadillac have been chosen had economy of first cost been the consideration.

Happily for the Army—and for the Cadillac—the War Department had in mind that freedom from adjustment, overhauling, and repair, which alone spells true economy in a motor car.

But mere luxury of performance, bought at a prohibitive cost in maintenance, had no chance of acceptance by the War Department.

You will find that what pleases most, in the last analysis, is that same element of permanent value which determined the choice of the Cadillac by the Government.

The Department demanded, also, that sound and rugged construction which alone spells economy in the long run.

Evidence continues to accumulate. A couple of weeks before the Germans started for Paris the Kaiser transferred $30,000,000 of his private fortune from London banks to Holland. And that accounts for Holland—Rochester, N.Y.

FORMER WESTERLY WOMAN

LOSES MIDDLETOWN SUIT
In the suit of Charles Sanford against Nellie H. Randall to recover a bill of $250 due for work alleged to have been done on property owned by the defendant, on trial this week in Middletown, before Judge Donald E. Warner, the jury brought in a verdict for $30 for the plaintiff.

The plaintiff, who is a contractor, stated that in 1914 he took a contract to plant an orchard for Abel Randall and his wife, Nellie Randall, then of Westerly, R. I., for $300. He was to set out 500 apple trees. This was in the spring of 1914. He commenced work, but a dispute arose as to the manner in which he was doing the work and the contract stopped.

Mr. Sanford said that he sent in a bill for $253 to the Randalls. He explained the fact that the original bill was but $253 and the amount now claimed was $253.25 by stating that there was some question as to whether the work was done by the hour or by contract. Mr. Randall refused to pay, as the work had not been charged up by the hour.
