

RINGGOLD, GEORGIA, MAN WRITES

A thankful letter about the benefits received from using Sulphur Tablets. Its effects are like grandmother's remedy of sulphur, cream of tartar and molasses. But this consists of sulphur, cream of tartar and herbs, in a sugar-coated tablet, easy and pleasant to use, for bad blood, stomach, liver and bowel disorders.

Mr. John M. Plemons, Ringgold, Georgia, writes: "I had an awful bad case of stomach trouble and constipation, and had the service of a specialist with only temporary relief. I saw an advertisement of Sulphur Tablets and began using them, and in a short time noted very good results, and I further used them, and at this time am perfectly well as far as I can tell. I don't recommend anything unless I receive some good results. Some friends use them and they also note good results. Druggists sell Sulphur Tablets everywhere. Don't take ordinary sulphur tablets and be disappointed."

BOYS SHUTOUT ST. BANK BUILDING

The old Uncas bank building at 44 Shetucket street at the Laurel Hill bridge corner was purchased Wednesday by the Uncas National bank by Attorney Teley E. Babcock, who has an office in the next building to the north. The purchase price is not stated.

Mr. Babcock said Wednesday afternoon that he had no intention of changing his office, but had bought the building as an investment and expected to rent it, preferably for offices, but if tenants in the offices on the ground floor were not readily found, he would alter the floor over for a store.

The building is a two-story and basement brick building, with brownstone front and was built in 1852 by the Uncas bank, not then a national bank, on a plot of land which the bank bought from the New Haven Railroad company. The size of the lot is 23 feet front by 25 feet deep, the building covering the entire lot.

The main floor of the building was occupied by the Uncas National bank up to within a few years ago, when it was removed to the new building on Shetucket street several doors further along Shetucket street to the north. The second floor of the building was occupied for many years up to 1914 by the law offices of the late Charles F. Thayer.

The banking rooms on the main floor of the building are finished in solid mahogany floors and desks, which at the present value of this wood represents a substantial sum in value. Mr. Babcock said on Wednesday that he had already had a good sized offer for the wood, but had declined it, because there is a burglar proof bank vault at the rear of the room, which Mr. Babcock will probably have taken out so as to enlarge the floor space.

PRO AND CON HEARD ON VOTES FOR WOMEN

The committee on woman suffrage gave hearing Wednesday afternoon at the capitol at Hartford in the hall of the house on an act proposing an amendment to the constitution concerning the qualifications and admission of electors. The act calls for full suffrage and referendum. Miss Katharine Luddington, of Old Lyme, president of the Connecticut Woman Suffrage association, was the speaker in the opening in favor of the amendment and set forth the many arguments in favor of woman suffrage. Timothy Crowley, representing the American Federation of Labor, told the committee that his organization desired to be recorded in favor of the proposed amendment.

Mrs. David Markham, of Hartford, led the opposition and read a paper which overflowed with reasons why women might not receive the voting privilege. Miss Bunnell, of Hartford, then spoke in opposition to the amendment. She said she had no objection to the opening in the political world to control elections. She begged the committee not to start Connecticut on the road to radicalism. Mrs. Helen Hubkero of Lyme was the next speaker and gave some interesting statistics to show that seventy-one per cent of the women of 21 and over are against woman suffrage. She said in regard to the signers of the woman suffrage petition, that she did not know much about all sections of the state, but she did know of Lyme. She declared that of the 34 signers in her home town thirty-one are under 21, two are men, two are boys, and one deceased. Attorney Birney Tuttle of New Haven was the next speaker in opposition.

There were several other speakers on both sides, and the arguments were in the main, the same as have been heard at legislative hearings at the state capitol.

LETTERS OF THE KAISER AND THE CROWN PRINCE

Copenhagen, March 26. (By The A. P.)—The Deutsche Zeitung of Berlin has published a number of letters intimating the attitude of the German emperor and the crown prince during the fateful days of last November, according to a despatch from the German capital.

The emperor wrote to Frederick William on November 9 the following: "My Dear Boy: After the Court Chamberlain informed me that it was impossible longer to guarantee my safety at the headquarters of the troops were no longer trustworthy, I resolved, after a severe mental struggle to leave the army, which had collapsed, and go to Holland. I am very glad to stick to your neck until the conclusion of the armistice."

In Berlin two governments, under the leadership of Ebert and Liebknecht, are fighting a bitter struggle. Hope to see you again in happier times.

Your Faithful, deeply afflicted father,
"WILHELM"

The crown prince, on November 11, wrote to Premier Ebert, asking permission to remain at his post so that he might bring his army back in a well disciplined and victorious manner. The government refused his request, whereupon the crown prince, in a letter to Field Marshal von Hindenburg, resigned his command, declaring that he acted last resort to oppose the liberal development of our constitution and I represented this in writing to Prince Max. Nevertheless when the great event burst my father from his throne, not only was I not heard, but was simply passed over as the crown prince heir to the throne.

"No denunciation was either demanded or made by me."

BURNED EARLY WEDNESDAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

East Woodstock, March 26.—The large two-story hotel in Frankford, fronting the common known as the Colonel Lyon place, was destroyed by fire between 1 and 3 o'clock this (Wednesday) morning. The fire was first seen by help and rans the returned from Putnam, the flames reflecting upon the window in the barn just north of the house. The fire was in the upper story. They immediately called for help and ran to the church bell. A crowd soon gathered. Mr. Gordon, an elderly man, who lives alone, was on the ground floor, and the best of all household goods were removed. The shed which ran north of the ell part was pushed over by tearing out the foundation wall, which doubtless saved the larger barn as only a chimney separated them. The origin of the fire is not known. Being a still night, no great anxiety was felt for other buildings. Although sparks lighted the roof of two houses on the west side of the common, these were kept wet.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

East Woodstock, March 26.—The large two-story hotel in Frankford, fronting the common known as the Colonel Lyon place, was destroyed by fire between 1 and 3 o'clock this (Wednesday) morning. The fire was first seen by help and rans the returned from Putnam, the flames reflecting upon the window in the barn just north of the house. The fire was in the upper story. They immediately called for help and ran to the church bell. A crowd soon gathered. Mr. Gordon, an elderly man, who lives alone, was on the ground floor, and the best of all household goods were removed. The shed which ran north of the ell part was pushed over by tearing out the foundation wall, which doubtless saved the larger barn as only a chimney separated them. The origin of the fire is not known. Being a still night, no great anxiety was felt for other buildings. Although sparks lighted the roof of two houses on the west side of the common, these were kept wet.
