INDICATIONS OF U. S. ARSENAL HERE

Government salvage agents who are here at work at the Martin-Rockwell plant, on a street near Chestnut street, are giving rise to the belief that the ultimate solution of what will be done with the property will be its conversion to a government plant for the manufacture of the Browning machine gun.

Half a dozen of the salvage agents, all of town men, have come here and are at work in the building, and none of them speak with authority, they have stated in conversation with local workmen at the plant that the negotiations are under way by which the government will take the property and that they are practically sure of being consummated.

Such a disposition of the plant to such a statement is lent by the report that the gauges and other fixtures are being put back to the Browning gun machinery, which would indicate that this is the line of manufacture that is to be followed.

Such a disposition of the fine modern factory buildings as are included in the Norwich property of the Martin-Rockwell plant would be hailed with much interest in business circles.

The first concert was placed on Fourth of July night as the committee had previously arranged for a good one that was made by the Chamber of Commerce that the Fourth ought not to be held in the city.

The second concert will be in Greenville, the third on the West side and the fourth on the city square. At the request of the committee the following are the names of the common council members who are the common council committee having the concerts in charge.

PRETTY LINEN SHOWER FOR MISS MAY GRAHAM

Miss May I. Graham of Taftville was pleasantly surprised Monday evening at the home of Miss Minna Good of Everett street when a few friends, including the teachers with whom she had been associated for several years, called to extend their best wishes on her approaching marriage to Frederick A. Frieswell. The house was prettily decorated with roses, laurel and peonies.

During a social time Miss Graham was presented a beautiful basket of roses in which were falling ribbon streamers.

Each guest was given a streamer but the hostess soon found that the roses were not only a shower of lovely gifts for herself.

Music and games with dainty refreshments closed a most delightful evening.

Those present were: Miss Clementine Graham, Miss Catherine Corcoran, Miss Mary Ahearn, Miss Lelia Corcoran, Miss Julia Mendenhall, Mrs. Roger Schofield, Miss Mary Graham and Miss Minna Good.

DAVIS THEATRE

For a picture filled with good clean humor and interest, Johnny Get Your Gun, a Paramount production, featuring Fred Stone, world famous comedian and acrobat, is one that has seldom been equalled at the Davis theatre. The picture is a comedy which gives ample opportunity for the wonderful ability of Mr. Stone both in an acrobatic line and in a comedy role.

The picture is a picture in a law Unto Herself and stars Louise Glaum. In this picture Miss Glaum is seen in an entirely new role, some of her "vamp" portrayals and is as good if not better than ever before.

A Burton Holmes Travelogue completes the bill.
