OBITUARY

Morris Elmore Clark, of Plainville, a prominent manufacturer, and an inventor of some note, died late Sunday night. He had been ill in health for over a year suffering from sarcoma.

Mr. Clark worked faithfully at his tasks until the late part of the year, and then he went south to try and remedy the matter, but the infection was too great and death came slowly.

He was born in Robinson Springs, Elmore county, Alabama, April 13, 1878, and was educated in the local schools and at the Norwich Free Academy and Yale university. After leaving Yale he entered his father's plant known as the Clark Caster Co. in Plainville.

He was followed in his footsteps. Just before his death Mr. Clark had secured a patent on a machine. Mr. Clark was a designer and planner of machines, but he also made his own tools and supervised the construction of every piece of work planned by him.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon from his home in Broad street, Plainville. Burial was in West cemetery.

Israel Plummer Taft, 62 years of age, a former resident of this city, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Marshall Newell, in Hopdale, Mass. on Tuesday following a lingering illness caused by hardening of the arteries.

Mr. Taft recently he had been in this city and a number of years ago he was superintendent of the plant of the Davenport Arms company.

He was born in Stamford, Conn., and left there when a young man and lived in Stamford for a time. From Stamford he went to Upton, Mass., where he was in the employ of the Upton time selectman of that town. He was a member of Milford Trinity church and for six years was its senior warden. He was a member of the Sons of Odd Fellows and Royal Arcanum in Stamford.

He leaves a son, George K. Taft, of Pennsylvania, four daughters, Miss A. L. Taft, Mrs. James J. Moore of Norwich, Mrs. H. J. Price of East Brantford, and Mrs. Marshall Newell.

Strikebreakers arrive to Operate Cars

Wednesday night about 20 strikebreakers were quartered in the Green Building on the 15th. They were the members of the trolley union, the street railway committee and the court of common council and myself. There was of course, a very great surprise to the committee and myself and we reported back to the Street Railway Electric people and the trustees of the Plant estate that the trolley men would not agree to this arrangement.

Shore Line Makes Proposition. Mr. Perkins of the Shore Line Electric Railway Company, who is connected with the trustees of the Plant estate and authorized me to state to Mr. Rooney that they would agree to arbitration and that the Traft-Manley board would appoint the third member provided that the Traft-Manley board would select a man a resident of one of the three counties in Connecticut through which this trolley passed.

This appeared to the members of the trolley union for the first time and myself to be a very fair proposition and I reported the same to Mr. Rooney and Mr. McGlone who were the representatives of the trolley union. The exception of the clause wherein the third member should be chosen from the three counties of the state, was accepted by the trolley union and I asked Mr. Rooney to lay these two propositions before the members of the trolley union for their serious consideration and be decided at that time in my view.

At that time expressed my sincere hope that Mr. Rooney would use every effort to get together on either of these two propositions and that I was at their service at any time to bring about another meeting if they so desired.

Up to this time I have heard nothing further from them but have been accused of all sorts of trickery and have been severely abused by Mr. Rooney without any action on my part warranting such abuse.

Propositions Entirely Fair. The two propositions that were submitted to the trolley men through Mr. Rooney would seem to me to be entirely fair. WILD CAT CLAWS KEEPER AT GIRLS' CIRCUS

The Girl Community Center hall on Main street was crowded to the doors Wednesday night for the big circus performance. Wild animals howled and growled across the stage, marvelous stunts, and a lady circus rider dashed madly around the big ring on her favorite trained horse, and the audience watched with breathless interest the tight rope walker, Madame Wobble, in her dare devil act.

There was considerable excitement and cries of horror when the wild cat (a ferocious tabby borrowed for the performance) broke loose from her cage and badly wounded the strongest man in the circus, who was escaping down the main stairs into the cellar, where at last accounts she was still in hiding.

The circus opened with a large parade headed by the ringmaster (Miss Marion Swan), who carried a huge megaphone and appeared in full regalia, with vest, white riding breeches and a topknot hat. The wild circus riders (Telephone Unit Girls) followed and were escorted by the trolley band, which has attracted much attention of late at Bean Hill, Ocean and other places.

The parade was headed by the well known tight rope walker (Miss Freda Blinderman), the beautiful Hawaiian girl (Miss Helen Lapaalapa), Miss Bernice Willey in private life, who is on a tour of the United States and who has secured a great expense by her circus management. Other attractions of the parade were the well known tight rope walker (Miss Freda Blinderman), the beautiful Hawaiian girl (Miss Helen Lapaalapa), Miss Bernice Willey in private life, who is on a tour of the United States and who has secured a great expense by her circus management.
