

The Wonder Cars That Make You Forget the Story That Automobiles Are Expensive or Motoring a Luxury

Produced in a number of beautiful models for the 1920 trade, the CHEVROLET CARS are characterized by their mechanical sureness and constant readiness. The cars are so finely developed that they can be relied upon for efficient and economical use day after day. That is why the CHEVROLET is such a popular car among business and professional men, to whom economy and certain service are most essential.

The CHEVROLET FOUR-NINETY TOURING CAR, $795, F. O. B. Factory, and the FOUR-NINETY ROADSTER, $715, F. O. B. Factory, are the immensely popular models.

You'll be surprised how little it costs to operate the CHEVROLET FOUR-NINETY. Twenty-five miles on a gallon of gasoline is not an unusual record. Tires last an unusually long time. Repairs are few and far between. Yet with all of its economy, low price and dependability, CHEVROLET FOUR-NINETY is a handsome, roomy, comfortable car—a car you can be proud to own.

SEDANS of the FOUR-NINETY MODEL cost only $1,185, F. O. B. Factory, and the handsome and finely appointed coupes only $1,110 F. O. B. Factory.

We are featuring, too, the Famous "F. B." Model CHEVROLET—a car of distinctive individuality, a car of comfort and convenience, a car that will appeal to particularly discriminating buyers. This car is made to meet the requirements of those who want an approach to perfection in their motor car. THE CHEVROLET "F. B. 50" Touring Car sells for $1,235, F. O. B. Factory, the CHEVROLET "F. Believing that Eastern Connecticut will prove no exception as a successful sales field for the FAMOUS CHEVROLET CARS to the rule the country over, we have taken a big allotment of the popular models and we are now ready to make deliveries.

It will be a pleasure if we are permitted to demonstrate the CHEVROLET for you and tell you many reasons why it is one of the most wonderful cars at its price in the world today.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Mrs. Emma Davis has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Clarence DeWolfe, of Norwich.

William Shippee is hauling foundation stones from the J. F. Eldridge quarry into the Connecticut mills, for use in cellars of new houses.

Miss Louise Duhamel left Tuesday for a visit in Canada and will not return here until about the first of the year.

It has been suggested that a police telephone station and a police light located somewhere in the central part of the business section would be a great convenience in reaching officers on duty and who may be wanted in emergency calls. At present the courtesy of some telephone subscribers must be relied upon to reach an officer who is wanted in a hurry.

Eyes of the World, a feature picture, drew another large audience to the Orpheum theatre Tuesday, when it had its final showings here.

John E. Prior of Plainfield has just called attention to the fact that his town was one of the first to erect an honor roll and inscribe upon it the names of the Red Cross nurses along with residents of the town who were in the service of the country or of the companies with which this country was associated in fighting the war.

A physician in town said Tuesday that he hears that some people in Killingly have taken to drinking a mixture of what formerly was known as "beer" and snuff, a dangerous mixture, injurious to health.

At Tuesday evening's drill of C. Company, State guard, Capt. P. O. Armstrong made announcements pertaining to a drive that is to be conducted for recruits. About 25 new members are needed in the company, and prizes will be offered the guardsmen bringing in the largest number of recruits. Vacancies have been caused by expirations of enlistments, by releases to members who wished to join the army or navy and by removals from this district.

On a charge preferred months ago, a fine of $10 and actual costs was assessed against Miss Arline Anderson of Maple street Tuesday for having driven an automobile without having a license to do so. A charge that he had driven the car of Dr. George M. Anderson without permission of the owner was preferred against Henry E. Anderson and he was fined $25. Mr. Anderson appealed, stating that he had driven the car, left in his care as a dealer, only after adjusting the car's license to do so. The cases were disposed of at a session in chambers at the town court.

Mrs. J. F. Eldridge and Mrs. Emma Davis entertained a party of eight young men from Norwich at Chase's Whippoorwill, near Old Killingly pond, at East Killingly, on Tuesday.

It is a pleasure to note the honesty and efficiency of Danielson's postal service, and particularly to mention the promptness with which Letter Carrier Harold Greene, one of Danielson's boys who was "over there," saw that an unimpaired letter containing $35 in stolen money which he picked up in a letter box was returned to its rightful owner, who was grateful indeed.

Present prospects are that there will be six candidates for representatives for the convenience of its employees, and which is located in the grounds at Goodyear, is practically ready for use. At present the arrival of a few parts for kitchen devices is all that is required to make the new plant ready for the service for which it was built. The equipment of the restaurant, which is of brick, is the last word in up-to-dateness. Meals will be served practically at cost to employees, who work in three shifts, and the restaurant force will be busy day and night.

The team of care society gave a whist at St. James' parish hall that was attended by a large number of parishioners.

Red Cross workers continued Tuesday their effort to enroll old and new members of the organization for 1920. Last year nearly 1,300 members were obtained in the Danielson territory, and the chapter workers would be delighted to equal or surpass that figure this year.

There is now a good prospect that industrial development planned for Killingly within the next 12 months will be the means of increasing the town's population to at least 16,000 by the end of 1920. Much of the prospective increase of population will come in Danielson and Goodyear, but other villages of the town are prosperous and should show increases in the number of their inhabitants.

County Commissioners Urge LaFrance of Centerville, John A. Dady of Putnam and E. H. Cortis of North Grovesville, together with County Treasurer Clifford H. Starkweather and the county auditors, are to be at the jail in Brooklyn for their annual meeting today and they will be entertained at dinner by Jailer Albert S. Fields.

There are 22 prisoners at the jail at the present time, among them Amie Shaki of North Grovesville, who is steadily improving after being shot four times by Constable Sheriff, who is also held at the jail. Special agents representing the internal revenue department were in town Tuesday for the purpose of instructing those who formerly held liquor licenses as to how they must conduct their places of business to escape penalties under the new enforcement bill, now in effect. Dealers may not legally describe any of the innocuous drinks containing less than one-half of one per cent. of alcohol as beer or near-beer. These must be called cereal beverages or some other such name. No signs advertising beer or any intoxicant may be displayed inside or outside of their places of business under liability to punishment.

A candidate for mayor will be named; also candidates for alderman-at-large, city treasurer, city collector, one auditor and one registrar of voters, this in the city caucus. This caucus will also take such action as it may seem fit relative to nominating four candidates for aldermen—one from each ward—or will ratify the nomination for aldermen made in the ward caucuses, which are scheduled to be held on the same evening just prior to the city caucus.

A powerful electrically driven pump that is being installed by the city at a newly erected pumping station for sewerage, near Arch street, has arrived here, and it is expected that it will be installed and in use in about a week. The pump will be used to transfer sewage from an auxiliary sewer line that runs through that section of the city known as the Manhatt village into the main sewer. As the level of the main sewer is about ten feet higher than that of the auxiliary line, pumping must be resorted to.

The new pump will work automatically. When the sewage rises to a certain level a switch will be thrown and the pump will go into action, continuing to operate until the sewage falls to such a level that the pump will automatically stop working.

The following interesting account of the experiences of Attorney George B. Thayer of Hartford, father of Chas. T. Thayer of Grove street, Putnam, appears in a Hartford paper.

Sixty-seven years old, just looking not a shade over 66, George B. Thayer, possessor of the age championship among Y workers from Hartford in France, is back after nearly eleven months in the harness overseas. He was graduated from K-Company of the old First Infantry, after the war with Spain, and has the championship belt for age among all the war contingent from Hartford in the direct service of the militarized auxiliaries. Mr. Thayer tried for many a weary moon after his land flung into war to gain France and there to aid the Y. M. C. A. work, but high Y officials on this side had other views because of his scrupulousness over 50 and to enlighten them as to his capability required such time that it was not until the day after the signing of the armistice that his call came.

Then he served apprenticeship in training schools in New York and Springfield and it was December 24, 1918, when he took ship, the Celtic, and stood away on the arc of a great circle for the Old Head of Kinsale and then for Liverpool.

After introduction to bread, meat and sugar cards in the Imperial Hotel, Russell Square, London, Thayer went to Southampton, survived the storm-tossed trip, crossed Channel to Havre and next landed in the Grand St. Lazare in Paris and made his way to No. 12 Rue d'Aguesseau, Paris, where he was assigned to a station.

It was work in Ferreaires which Thayer of the Y drew. In the town with the long spelling and short pronunciation he had relations to an American Ambulance Corps attached to the French army. He was made an assistant to a hat secretary. His hours were in the canteen, its was initiated into the sale of cigarettes and chocolate. He relates that he sold no frankfurters and wieners, but only upon the especially rarest request of General Pershing, who wished additional soldiers liberated from the canteen that they might be sent to the front.

April 1 the army took back the canteen and for a fortnight Mr. Thayer hung round before called to Paris for reassignment.

It was to Beaume that Thayer was sent next. This was near Dijon and not far from the Swiss border, (family to George) who had fought with the American college professors and tutors in that region in an early list last century. Beaume was a "university" city, where some 6,000 American soldiers had gone to study in the educational courses which the Y laid before them. Soon the army took over this work, sending on the American college professors and tutors the Y had secured.

Mr. Thayer was sent to a hut as assistant to the secretary and found that he was having the hardest task to make them happier.

The negroes sang learned songs until one essayed "Bright College Years," which happens to have the air of "The Rose of the Rhine." He was effectively discouraged. "The Rose of No Man's Land" was more in harmony with the opinions of the listeners.

Thayer was in Beaume until the university demobilization June 1. He remained a part of the life of the camp by unfamiliarity with the tongue of the natives, but he and the language survived.

The first man whom he met in Beaume was Captain Walter B. Spencer of West Hartford, formerly principal of the High school there. And when he left Beaume for Paris the first man he met there was Captain Matthew E. Coughlin.

He was assigned in Paris to the "Y" base hospital at No. 78 Rue Cambrai, near the Porte de Villette. Lying near the Boulevard de Courcelles, Thayer was compelled to rise at 6 to reach the warehouse at 7:30, an exaction never required in K-Company. He was stationed on the fifth floor and handling baseballs, bats, masks and myriad other developments of athletic minds. He saw pushbells twelve feet high.

Soon the camps began to send in excess athletic goods. These came in mixed cases and in carload lots. Mr. Thayer was detailed to reassemble them and in that effort he was taxed to America's hayer has a memory of two carloads of unused baseballs which came in.

Thayer left Paris October 15, to sail from Le Havre. He was to take to America Thayer has a memory of one hundred army officers had been rounded up and were to be shipped home on that ship, he took a chance of returning on a cattle ship.

Putnam may not lose any brains after all, as the result of the strike of soft coal miners. A Boston despatch on Tuesday stating that passenger train schedules on the New Haven will not be reduced immediately unless developments of an untoward nature have to be contended with, made good reading for Putnam people who feared that some of the city's trains might be removed, at least a few months ago in another crisis.

Do you want skin-health?

If you are suffering from eczema or some similar distressing, embarrassing skin eruption, why don't you get rid of it by using Resinol Ointment? Unless the trouble is due to some serious internal disorder, it quickly yields to Resinol, and in most cases is easily healed by it. The first application usually stops itching and makes the skin feel cool and comfortable. We recommend it with the utmost confidence because of its harmless ingredients. Aided by Resinol Soap it acts even more quickly.
