THE HAPPY BRISTOL BOY

Here is real news for every mother in this thriving city and for the whole world as well. Harry Bissell, 12 years old, 164 Prospect street, Bristol, Conn., came to the GOLDINE man at Holley's Drug Store last Tuesday, with his eyes dancing and a welcome smile on his roguish face.

"About five years ago this little fellow was hit by an auto and ever since that day has suffered from kidney trouble and bed wetting. It happened every night and we did everything we could for him, had several doctors and tried all kinds of medicine but it did no good until we got GOLDINE. That medicine is doing what nothing else ever did for him. Just one bottle of GOLDINE No. 3 stopped it. It certainly is wonderful what it is doing for my boy and I feel I just can't praise it enough. I feel I should let every mother know about it. I am glad I got it for Henry, but the boy is the happiest one of all."

YOU BET I'M GLAD SAYS HENRY

When asked by the GOLDINE Man if he was glad he got GOLDINE the boy smiled and said, "You bet I'm glad for now I can sleep like other boys and I want to get another bottle for it's good stuff. I guess my Ma told you all about it and what she said is all true. That beats any of the other medicines she gave me all to pieces."

Children don't lie. GOLDINE did that for the Bissell boy, it will do the same for your boy. GOLDINE is a pure root and herb remedy. It contains no drug. You can give it to the smallest child with perfect safety.

Temporary Administrator on Adam Estate

Casper K. Bailey, first selectman, has been appointed by the Norwich probate court temporary administrator of the estate of the late Alfred A. Adam, whose dead body was found Sunday night in Adam's tavern at Norwich Town when the building was discovered to be on fire.

The temporary administrator has filed the required bond and has taken possession of the real estate at Norwich Town and of safe deposit boxes containing securities in two banks in Norwich. It is understood there is also a safe deposit box in a bank in Providence.

By papers found after Mr. Adam's death it is found that Mr. Adam had made a will a number of years ago in which his estate was left to several blood relations who are nieces and nephews. This will, however, was made before his marriage on Nov. 8, 1918 to Mrs. Flora L. Berry of Seekonk, Mass., who survives him. This marriage made the will void.

A typewritten document found among Mr. Adam's effects shows that he and his wife had signed an agreement of separation in June of this year, which provided for Mrs. Adam's support. It contained a provision, however, that it is believed will make this agreement void, for it provided that the agreement was made with the understanding that Mr. Adam was not worth more than $25,000 and that if it should appear his estate would amount to more than this figure the agreement would be void.

Among those who knew Mr. Adam best he has been generally credited with being worth between $100,000 and $150,000. A Norwich Town man well acquainted years ago with the deceased stated on Tuesday that Mr. Adam had once told him that he had received $70,000 from his mother when she handed over the Adam's tavern property to him. He is generally credited with having materially increased this estate.

Coroner Franklin H. Brown holds to the belief Mr. Adam's sudden death Sunday night was caused by apoplexy and thinks the most probable theory is that Mr. Adam returned to the bath room in the tavern, found the room on fire from the gas stove, and that the excitement and possible exertion of trying to put out the fire brought on the apoplectic shock. The coroner points to Mr. Adam's excited disposition as lending support to this theory. Or the apoplectic shock may have come on without any such cause and Mr. Adam's fall may have upset the gas heater and set fire to the building.

The coroner sees little to support a supposition that the occupant would have had much to do with the fatality, for the room from the bath room into the adjoining room was open, making it unlikely that the gas would have accumulated in the bath room enough volume to prostrate the man.

One of the unexplained features of the case is that no considerable amount of money was found with Mr. Adam. As one acquaintance expressed it Tuesday he was always known to carry a "roll that would choke a cow," but no such large amount of money has been found.

$250,000 IN REQUESTS GOING TO NEW LONDON

The city of New London and several institutions there will receive more than $250,000 under the will of the late Otis K. Dimock of New York, who had a summer residence in Ocean avenue.

Under the provisions of the will Mr. Dimock leaves one-half of his estate, valued at about $600,000, absolutely to his wife, Lida L. Dimock of New York. The other half of the estate is divided into five shares, which are given in trust with the provision that the income of two of the shares shall go to Mrs. Dimock, the income from one share to Mr. Dimock's sister, Winnie D. Perkins, one share to another sister, Ida L. Sutcliffe, and the remaining share to a cousin, Florence Irene Dimock.

The will provides that at the death of any and all of these beneficiaries the money shall be distributed as follows: 25 per cent. to Yale university, 10 per cent. to the Presbyterian hospital, New York, 10 per cent. to the city of New London for beautiful park or parks, and 10 per cent. to the Y. M. C. A., making a total of 55 per cent. of the second half of the estate.

The balance of 45 per cent. is bequeathed to the Farmers' Loan and Trust company of New York, to be applied to such charitable institutions as it may select. Exerting its prerogative, the Farmers' Loan and Trust company has made the selection as follows: One-fifth to the Y. M. C. A., one-fifth to the Associated Charities for use of the day nursery, and the remaining three-fifths to the Memorial Hospital association.

Since Mr. Dimock's death Mrs. Perkins and Mrs. Sutcliffe, his two sisters who were benefactors, have died, and their shares have been apportioned and the city of New London receives $250,000, Y. M. C. A. $250,000, Y. W. C. A. $250,000, Associated Charities $250,000, and the Memorial Hospital association $250,000.

It is estimated that eventually upon the distribution of the remaining three-fifths of the second half of the estate, New London and the several institutions will receive more than $200,000.

Use Famo Every Day If You Want Healthy Hair

The daily use of FAMO on the scalp is as necessary as the tooth-brush three times a day.

FAMO does kill the sebaceous germ that causes dandruff, after a few applications.

But that is really not enough. Unless the scalp is kept absolutely clean, the deadly germ will return.

We know of nothing but the daily use of FAMO that can make it impossible for the dandruff bacilli to grow and FAMO is the one hair preparation that you can safely use daily with beneficial results.

This regular use of Famo means not only a clean, healthy head.

It means also, soft, lustrant hair and new hair—unless, indeed, the hair roots are dead.

FAMO prevents falling hair and itching scalp.

It has given relief to thousands of sufferers from dandruff. It cures grayness. Alcohol dries the scalp and hastes grayness.
