SLIDES ON THRIFT ARE SHOWN AT NOON MEETING

The noon day meeting held Wednesday at the West Side Silk mill under the auspices of the Thrift League, brought to the attention of the audience the real necessity of being thrifty in the right sense. It was suggested that money is to be used and not abused; that the motto, "earn all you can, save all you can and give all you can" should be adopted by all wage earners. The necessity of paying cash for goods, of counting the cost before spending, and the wisdom of having a budget were some of the points emphasized. The speaker stressed the point that God expects us to be thrifty and to make the best use of all our faculties, and that any man who forgets the needs of others is not a good citizen.

Miss Bergstresser played the organ and one of the employed girls, Miss Helen Gulumb, sang a solo.

Joseph R. Finehart operated the lantern.

BECK & HILL PURCHASE FROELICHT HALL PROPERTY

The property on Talman street that has long been known as the Froelicht hall building has been purchased by Beck & Hill for factory purposes. The new building to be erected on the site will be a two-story building with a party with Andrew C. Hill to make the plans.

The purchase was made from Joseph Fringer and includes the small concrete building and the toy lot which was occupied a number of years ago by the Howe cement factory.

Since they started in the business of making the Rock and Hill toys last fall, Beck & Hill have been located on the upper floor of No. 13 Bath street, where they are at present employing 20 hands. The quarters have been crowded and have now become entirely too small for their business. They have orders for several hundred toys and they are now employing 50 more hands than now.

The Froelicht hall building is 55 feet long and 25 feet wide. The concrete building and the toy lot have not yet been plotted out the way they will arrange the machinery and other equipment in the factory. The building will be a two-story building with a party with Andrew C. Hill to make the plans.

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dried by the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Alkalized coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely unacidified), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Coconut oil moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulitised coconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces are enough to last everyone in the family for months.
