lean Red Cross. He described in a very interesting way some of the pre-war problems of smaller communities, especially in Massachusetts; also in Virginia, where he had been recently and of one town where he was the first stranger to arrive in eight months. He outlined several particular activities which smaller communities could engage in to their own interest and advantage; shape of program for "good times," as well as for civic advancement. He suggested dramatic entertainments, a community chorus and possibly a pageant depicting local history as affording opportunities for Ashford.

Membership cards for the proposed Ashford Welfare association were circulated, and read as follows:
The undersigned, by payment herewith of one dollar, becomes a member of the Ashford Welfare association, for the year ending.....
It is my intention to co-operate in every possible way for the advancement of Ashford Community Life and for needed Civic Improvements.
(Signed).....

Similar cards are provided for associate membership of persons outside the town and interested in Ashford. As the train brings the speaker from New York was one hour late at Willimantic, thus delaying the meeting. It was decided to defer the election of officers until the February meeting. The Babcock Cornet band played inspiring selections during the afternoon.

It is likely that the February meeting will be especially devoted to local agricultural interests and the problem, What to Raise for the Season of 1926.

The death of Herbert Bowen Bennett, 23, agent of the Foster-Stewart mills in this city, occurred at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning at his home at The Ridges, following an illness of about three weeks with meningitis. Mr. Bennett was born in Danvers, March 15, 1893, the son of Alfred H. and Marion Bowen Bennett. Upon coming to Willimantic he became agent of the mill on Valley street and the mill on No. 13 Yellow Row, which is one of the Chapman street is about thirty years of age and has been in the employ of the American Thread company.

The arrest of these two officers is thought to be sufficient cause for the party to be broken up in this city. With the arrest of Jerowski, the president of the local branch, and his two subordinates, and the knowledge of many others belonging to the party that their names are known to the police, the local branch in this city will find it hard to recover.

The death of Benjamin J. Brown occurred Tuesday night at his home, No. 250 Lewiston avenue after an illness of about three weeks. He had been a resident of this city for about thirty years. He was born in Middletown November 1, 1864, the son of William and Ruth Weaver Brown. At the outbreak of the Civil war he enlisted in Company C, 18th regiment of Connecticut Volunteers, and served two years, receiving an honorable discharge because of wounds received in action. Before coming to Willimantic, Mr. Brown lived in Vermont and later in South Coventry where he was employed by the Central Vermont railroad. Later he was employed at the local station prior to becoming a letter carrier in this city. He received his appointment as postman, October 1, 1894 and resigned ten years later. He was the first mail carrier in this city and at one time delivered mail by pony. Mr. Brown was a member of Francis S. Long Post, No. 39, G. A. R. and of Eastern Star Lodge, No. 44, A. F. and M. Surviving him is a daughter, Mrs. Dora B. Hale, formerly of this city, now living in Norwich; a brother, Gilbert Brown of Chatham; two sisters, Mrs. Nellie Powell and Miss M. B. Brown both of Willimantic; and three grandchildren.

WINDHAM
Sunday was the most disagreeable day of the winter, with six or eight inches of snow, and a high northeast wind blowing in all directions. It was most unpleasant for those who were out of doors. There were about 30 at the Congregational church in the morning and 13 at the C. E. meeting in the evening. Eleven gathered at the winter school in the afternoon, but after waiting about half an hour for the pastor, Rev. W. A. Borchert, he telephoned that his car was stalled between here and Willimantic and he would be unable to get here. Several hymns were sung, a sermon was read by one of the members to be out of doors. Following the arrest of Frank Jerowski alias Krawery, Domalovick and Wasyl Somoff, in the city Tuesday afternoon, the local police and a member of the federal organization occurred the city for some twenty-one more men, thought to have been connected in one way or another with the work of the Reds in this city. During the search of Jerowski by officer shop Tuesday night, the officers came across a list of names and it was because of this that suspicion was aroused regarding the men whose names were found.

The list numbered twenty-one, but after careful search of the city the police succeeded in arresting but nine. The remaining names were doubtless fictitious, because when the police went to the addresses given they found no such persons had ever lived there. Of the nine arrested early Wednesday morning, but three were held by the police. The names of the other six were given to the federal authorities, but it was announced that two were officers of the local of the Russian branch of the Communist party, one of them being the recording secretary and the other the financial secretary.

Several of the men arrested had become interested in the Red literature but did not realize what the full meaning of the Red literature was.

Later in the day Wednesday the federal authorities decided to release one of the three that they had detained at the local police station, as there was no evidence against him that would make his detention legal. The other two men who were officers in the Russian socialist party in this city were kept at the station over night. The names of the two Reds who were kept at the station over night were given to the federal authorities, but it was announced that two were officers of the local of the Russian branch of the Communist party, one of them being the recording secretary and the other the financial secretary.

This Medicine Recommended by a Doctor

When a doctor uses a medicine himself besides prescribing it to his patients, he must know that it is merited.

This is what Dr. J. H. Wagner, a prominent physician of Shelton, Conn., has to say about Dr. Hartman's well-known remedy, PE-RU-NA: "I have used PE-RU-NA myself for catarrh, bloating after eating and other ailments. It has proved a success in all cases with old and young men and women. All cases of PE-RU-NA. It is the best of all tonics."

Dr. Wagner, out of the fullness of his own personal experience, for the good of all sick and suffering, recommends a medicine which he knows to be good. You may be sure a doctor would not endanger his professional reputation by endorsing PE-RU-NA unless satisfied beyond a doubt of its value.

Whether your trouble be a cough or a cold, or a more subtle catarrhal affection of the stomach, bowels or other organs, give PE-RU-NA a trial. The immediate improvement which you will see will satisfy you beyond a doubt that PE-RU-NA is what you need.

PE-RU-NA may be purchased anywhere in tablet or liquid form.

Also of Hartford, public utilities commissioner, as the speaker of the evening. Mr. Alsop, who had as his subject the relation of farmers to the city business men, proved to be a most interesting speaker. He emphasized the need of cooperation between the farmer and the business man in the Connecticut Valley in Norwich where it was necessary that the farmer and the business men know more about each other before this cooperation could be had. Following the remarks of Mr. Alsop, Chairman Bath introduced President C. L. Beach of the Connecticut Agricultural College, and Professor Richard B. Dodge, who is in charge of the extension work at the college. Both of these men responded and their subjects were along the same lines.

Instrumental music was enjoyed and everybody responded heartily when community singing was started. Following the programme which was of educational nature to all members of the settlement committee, passed around coffee, doughnuts and pies to the ladies, and the same edibles with cigars thrown in to the men.

A break in one of the city water mains on Valley street near the junction of Church street, causing the trouble on Wednesday evening. The trouble was caused by a pipe which in one of the pipe connections, was soon mended and the water turned on again.

Mrs. Joseph Gaudreau was a Hartford visitor Wednesday. Mr. T. Frank Cunningham was in Hartford Wednesday on business. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph St. Onge were in Hartford visiting Hart friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Brettschneider and family left Wednesday at 3:35 for New York where they are to make their home. Mr. Brettschneider was formerly a saloon keeper, his place of business being down on Ash street.
