DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

An old familiar and cheering sound greeted the ears of Danielson's residents Friday. The town clock is striking again. Sounds like small town street of ancient purity may be the comment of the wise guy who reads this item, but there are some little homey feelings that even the blasé man in this hurly-burly world, and to miss them is to miss much, paradoxical as this may seem.

Possibly there are many people in Jewett City who are heartily ashamed of the basketball enthusiasts of that town were guilty of Thursday night when they charged onto the playing court while the game between the Connecticut Mills team of Danielson and the Jewett City team was on and assaulted Danielson players. At least in the opinion of the local viewpoint that anyone in Jewett City who is in any degree fair-minded is proud of what happened.

Danielson men the game and who have been basketball enthusiasts for the past twenty years say that what happened to break up the game was positively the rawest exhibition they ever witnessed on a basketball court, and that it would be impossible for it to happen in any other town than Jewett City.

From all that could be gathered here on Friday from players of the Connecticut Mills team, from the team management and from local spectators who saw the contest, the Jewett City spectators were far more responsible for the disgraceful affair than were the Jewett City players.

Much may be conceded to a player, who, in the heat of battle, makes an unwarranted move or even a flagrant violation of the playing rules; but there is no excuse for alleged sportsmen watching the game from the bleachers, coaching the home team to "Get that ruff!" "Smash him out of the game!" "Punch him and finally into action as a mob bent on riot. It isn't much of a trick for a home crowd to heat up a visiting team and a little of the followers who may have come along with them; neither is it anything to boast of, nor for a town to be proud of.

The Connecticut Mills team stands on its own feet when it comes to meeting the developments of the game, be they rough or otherwise. The local players are not represented as being angels; they play the game and they play it hard. They give and take, as occasion warrants, and they don't squeal when they are hurt, nor depend on the home crowd to win for them when they can't win themselves.

It has remained for Jewett City to furnish the spectacle of its home boys choking players of opposing teams and kicking another in the head so as to render him unconscious.

Manager W. E. Keesh of the Connecticut Mills team has a statement on the morning page of The Bulletin this morning pertaining to the Jewett City game of Thursday night.

Whatever Jewett City may have to say in defense of those who have blacklisted that town insofar as reputable teams going there to play is concerned, it may be stated that Danielson teams, not being so constituted as to be able to play the home team and the home crowd at one and the same time, will be content to eliminate Jewett City from any further consideration as a town in which a game may be played.

At his home on School street, Friday afternoon, Charles W. Bradley was conducted by Rev. Thornton Merrill of the Second Congregational church. The service was attended by a number of friends, the business interests of the city being represented. Burial was in Grove Street cemetery.

Captain Addy of Norwich was the speaker Friday evening at one of a series of special meetings arranged to be held here under the auspices of the Salvation Army. This evening's address by Captain and Mrs. Sewing of Hartford. All the meetings are being given special features to make them unusually attractive.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Harrinden observed the silver anniversary of their marriage at their home in Woodstock Friday. Their guests were representative of the officials of the places in that section of the county.

Gordon Fawcett Hamby, who was electrocuted at the New York state prison at Sing Sing just before midnight Thursday, was shown the same utter contempt for death as he marked his attitude during all the time he was in the death house, and was not deemed worthy any religious consolation. There was no particular interest in this great criminal, for he paid with his life for having been a member of the Danbury Peal, whose home was in Abington, and Henry Coons, another employee of the Brooklyn, N. Y., Savings bank.

Putnam not infrequently nowadays is short of accommodations for a situation has been made somewhat more acute through the loss of the Chickering hotel, destroyed by fire during the present month. The Putnam inn and City hotels at times are so filled with guests that people who would stay in this city have to go to nearby towns to find accommodations this applying to rooms for the night.

James Francis Shea and Mrs. Della Lucier Cutler, who were married here January 21, have returned to Putnam after their wedding trip.

From Orlando, Fla., word has come to Mr. and Mrs. James Perry of this city that their son, Arthur Perry, is in a hospital in that city recovering from serious injuries received in an automobile accident; that is, Mr. Perry was driving out in a horse-drawn vehicle when it was struck and

H. Lovell were conducted by Rev. Gilbert H. Cutler of North Scituate, member of James A. Nichols post G. A. R., attending the service. Burial was the funeral director.

At the Congregational church in Abington, Friday afternoon, a funeral service for Mrs. Sarah Thornton of that place was conducted by Rev. Frank Fuller. Danielson and Jewett relatives attended the service. The body was placed in the receiving vault at Abington cemetery. Lorena E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Considerable progress has been made in the wintering of the Goodyear Heights during the winter months. Quantities of lumber are being received there, an indication of the underlying business nature of the big building programme that is to be put through during 1920.

PUTNAM

Friday afternoon at a gathering of young ladies at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Russell, in this city, the engagement of Miss Margaret M. Catherline Russell, to John Hill Moss, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Moss, of Athens, Ga., was announced.

Miss Moss was born in this city and attended the public schools, graduating from Putnam High school in the class of 1918. Later Miss Russell entered the Emma Willard school at Troy, N. Y., from which she was graduated in 1918.

Mr. Moss is a graduate of Georgia Tech and he served with the rank of lieutenant in the United States army, aviation section, during World War. He was overseas for some time past Mr. Moss has been with the Manabass Manufacturing company of this city and is learning the fabric manufacturing business, making his home with Agent A. D. Lown, of the company.

State Policeman Howard Elliott and Deputy Automobile Inspector Ralph G. Young continue in this city during Friday their investigation relative to where at least three cars now owned in this city came from. Mr. Elliott said he has every number there were certain suspicious circumstances pertaining to these cars that warrants the careful investigation of the state officials are now engaged upon.

As indicated what he meant, Mr. Elliott cited the fact that one of the cars, Cadillac, has every number that would help in tracing its history and ownership removed, and the job of taking off the numbers was the slickest I have ever seen," said Mr. Elliott.

The two other cars that are chimerical attempts of the officials are Buicks. The officials believe these cars came into this territory from Boston and that further investigation will develop the fact that there are other cars in the Putnam territory that will come under the same category.

Two experts who know about car insurance and whose activities in other fields pertaining to automobiles may lead to unravelling the knotty problems that the officers were facing were in Putnam on Friday and thoroughly inspected the cars in question. Up in Friday evening no action had been taken by the officials other than along the lines of investigating to discover all that it may be possible to know about the machines.

Friday approximately a dozen persons in Putnam were very ill with what some physicians term a hard case of the grip, while others pronounce the patients to be suffering with influenza. Whatever the nature of the cases, the patients are really very ill, some of them running temperatures as high as 104. In homes where the patients are being treated, precautions are being taken to prevent the communication of the disease to other members of the household, but no quarantine has been established, nor is it indicated that there is any present need of such restriction. It was believed Friday that none of the persons who were ill were in any serious danger, although some were facing the possibility of pneumonia developing.

At his home on School street, Friday afternoon, Charles W. Bradley was conducted by Rev. Thornton Merrill of the Second Congregational church. The service was attended by a number of friends, the business interests of the city being represented. Burial was in Grove Street cemetery.
