MOTORISTS STRUGGLE WITH BAD ROADS

Although the past few days of springlike weather have worked miracles on the roads in this vicinity the motorists are still having their trials and tribulations and are likewise paying out good money to what they term the "robber farmers" for pulling them out of the mire into which their machines have sunk to the hubs.

The worst places in eastern Connecticut apparently are in the vicinity of Jewett City and of Fort Hill on the back road between Mystic and Groton.

The road between Norwich and New London is in fairly decent shape although at the top of Mohegan hill there is a bad spot that motorists must look out for or they will break a spring. Military Highway, on the east side of the river, is rounding into good shape with the exception of the piece through the Pines south of the State Hospital where there is still a large amount of ice.

The Norwich-Willimantic road is fairly passable, although there are a few bad spots in it caused by the frost coming out of the ground.

The country roads are out of the question for they are practically impassable for anything that is not horse-drawn. The Gardner Lake road, the Bozrahville road, the Preston City (beyond the macadam), and roads in Ledyard are all literal quagmires into which an automobile will sink to the body of the machine.

The farmers along these roads are reaping small fortunes pulling the unfortunate autoist out of the mire. On the Jewett City road it is said that one man keeps a pair of horses hitched in the brush a short distance from an especially bad place and when he sees a poor unfortunate go into the hole he brings out his horses, pulls him out and says "Five Dollars, Please." It is said that one afternoon this week he extricated five machines in succession from the mire and charged each one five big dollars apiece without any rebate for a half dozen.

One motorist stated, however, that he met one farmer who had a heart. The local man had got his car stuck in the road when the farmer happened along. He went half a mile to his barn, got his horses, pulled the man out and only asked one dollar.

One local concern shipping a load of goods to Ledyard on Thursday had its truck stuck in the mud below Po-quitanok and had to leave the load beside the road. The person for whom the goods were intended had to haul them the rest of the way in a team.

Right in the city several autoists report that they have been stuck in the mud on the city streets and had to be pulled out. These cases have been few, however, and the city streets are rapidly improving as the weather continues fair.

COUNTY AGENT MARSLAND BUYS SCOTLAND ROAD FARM

Although he has resigned from the position of county agent, Walter S. Marsland continues in that capacity as a successor is not yet named.

Marsland's resignation is to take effect on April 1 but as yet he has received no notification that a successor has been appointed.

Mr. Marsland gives up the county agent's work to take up farming in this locality, having purchased the Harland place on Scotland road.

Mrs. Clarence H. Savage, formerly Mrs. Zoe P. Meade, who has been home demonstration agent 150 resign as soon as a successor to the position is appointed. Mrs. Savage will continue her work until that time.

WILLIMANTIC RECTOR IS LENTEN PREACHER HERE

At the last of the United Lenten services held at Christ church on Thursday evening the address was delivered by Rev. W. F. Borchert of St. Paul's church, Willimantic.

Rev. Borchert took for his topic Victory in the Battle of Life. In part he said: "In this great battle of life we struggle for success or failure. What is victory or success? Some of us will say it is one thing and some say another and each one of us has a different desire. Many people strive for success working earnestly and sacrificing much, while others apparently achieve their desires without effort. But it is the man who works, who suffers and who meets the reverses of life who succeeds. It is easy to smile when everything goes along smoothly but if things are the reverse, then is the time that the character of the man is revealed."

We wonder why God has put trials and temptations into our lives but we find that God chastens those whom he loves and if it wasn't for the hardships that we suffer the reward would be worthless. The most tedious day may be made a day of beauty if we would but realize after it was over the strength we had gained. When we realize this we have learned a lesson. It is not the easy life that counts but it is the strenuous life. Trials and struggles develop, and we can thank God that things were not made easy for us.

It makes no difference how lowly you are, you can win God's "Well Done" if you try because it is up to you to make good or bad of your life. Don't go into the battle of life half-hearted. God has given us the power to win.

SPOTLIGHT ILLUMINATES CHELSEA BANK CLOCK

What is lighting up the face of the clock at the Chelsea Savings bank? Was a question that had the policemen and numerous citizens on Franklin square guessing Thursday night.

There was unmistakably something flashing a light on the face of the clock, but there was nothing to show where the light came from. It was of the flashing variety appearing and disappearing every few seconds. Bank officials who were appealed to said they could offer no explanation, as they had made no arrangements for illuminating the dial of the clock.

The solution was reached when an automobile was observed standing at the curb in front of the McGroery building, across the street from the bank building. The driver had his spotlight focused on the clock face and sat there flashing the beams on and off while he enjoyed the mystification of the passersby.

Sold Stolen Auto to Dr. Black. Dr. John T. Black, of Hartford, formerly of New London, state health officer, bought a stolen automobile from a man named Jerome Krause at Hartford, and now an effort is being made to get Krause back to the state from New York, where he is held to answer for his acts. The auto was stolen in New York city, was brought to Hartford, and there Dr. Black bought it, giving a check for the amount he paid. Then he disposed of the auto to a garage owner at Hartford and the garage man sold it to a customer.

POLICE COURT HAS CASES TO CONSIDER

Several cases were before the police court Thursday morning, the first day in some time that the court has had such a great business.

Emil Hansen of Yantic paid $5 and costs for being intoxicated and he also paid the sum of $5 flat for hitting a woman on Barre. The accused is 27 years of age and is charged with breach of the peace but was found not guilty and discharged.

Alderman C. V. Pendleton paid $2 flat for having violated a city ordinance in leaving his automobile parked too long on Broadway.

Charles Cote paid $5 and costs for intoxication.

Frederick E. Amburn, aged 24, charged with failing to support his family, had his case continued to March 29.

Lucy M. Fox was sent to the hospital at the farm for women at Niantic. She was brought to court on complaint of the health officer. She is a widow with several small children. Policeman Smith took the woman to Niantic.

Alderman Pendleton left his automobile opposite his store on Broadway while he was at dinner in the Wauregan house with guests from out of town.

On speaking of his arrest he said: "I consider it unfair and an injustice on the part of the police department occasionally to drag into court an automobile driver for staying 35 minutes or an hour or one of the city's streets, especially in the evening. The present traffic ordinance has been in effect for about six months and practically no attempt has been made to strictly enforce it. There are hundreds of violators daily, some of whom leave their machines for hours where they are supposed to park not over 30 minutes. The present ordinance should be enforced as a whole or not at all. Treat every one alike."

Torrington.—Mrs. Lydia Senter, 55, wife of Carl Senter and a native of Switzburg, died this week at Colebrook River. Besides her husband, she leaves two step-children.

FIGHTING HAS BEEN RESUMED AT WESEL

Wesel, Rhineland Prussia, March 25 (By the A. P.).—The fighting at Wesel, which ended at 10 o'clock last night, began again this morning at 10 o'clock and lasted for an hour and a half.

Both forces then took a long and comfortable luncheon and hostilities were renewed at 2 o'clock. They were virtually finished at 4:30.

Traffic across the Rhine is still at a standstill, because the workmen last night directed their fire toward the eastern end of the bridge at Wesel and continued today their intermittent shelling and also covered the exposed highway and the small city bridges leading into the town.

The city is quiet. More than five persons are forbidden to gather in the streets in groups. Business is going on normally and there is plenty of food.

LLOYD GEORGE EXPLAINS TURKISH SETTLEMENT

London, March 25.—Replying to criticism of the government's foreign policy by Herbert H. Asquith, Premier Lloyd George this afternoon gave a detailed explanation of the Turkish settlement.

The premier said it would have been a blunder to have settled the Turkish problem without giving the United States the most ample opportunity to decide whether it would accept
