

CURED HIS RHEUMATISM

I am 53 years old and I doctored for rheumatism ever since I came out of the army, over 20 years ago. Other "cures" were tried and I have read about "cure" until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without pain; my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day with comfort. You might just as well attempt to put out a fire with oil as try to get rid of your rheumatism, neuritis and like complaints by taking treatment supposed to drive uric acid out of your blood. It took Mr. Ashelman 50 years to find out the truth. He learned how to get rid of the true cause of his rheumatism, other disorders and recover his strength from "The Inner Mysteries," now being distributed free, in an illustrated booklet. Over 20 years to the scientific study of this trouble. If any reader of The Bulletin is afflicted with any of the various forms of Rheumatism, overlooked by doctors and scientists for centuries past, simply send for "The Inner Mysteries" to H. P. Clearwater, 931-M, Hollowell, Me. Send now, lest you forget. If not a sufferer yourself, cut out this notice and hand this good news and opportunity to some afflicted friend. All who send will receive it. Your return mail without any charge whatever.

HENS AT STORRS DO BETTER THAN EXPECTED The hens in the contest at Storrs have now laid more than 50,000 eggs. Based on averages of past performances, last week's lay was over 300 eggs better than was expected. The total production amounted to 4546 eggs or a yield of nearly 64 per cent.

Two pens of Barred Rocks owned by Oneck Farm and Jules F. Francis, both from Westhampton Beach, Long Island were first and second best for the week with 62 and 61 eggs respectively. Two pens of Leghorns owned by E. A. Ballard, Chatham Hill, Pa., and C. Hassmussen, from Dover, N. J., were third and fourth best pens for the week with a production of 56 eggs for the former and 55 eggs for the latter. Elyon Joutiry Farm's pen of Barred Rocks from St. Vincent, N. J., and A. E. Hampton's Black Leghorns from Pittstown, N. J., tied for fifth place with 51 eggs each.

Rhode Island Red hen No. 388 from 702 from Woodhill Lake, N. J., laid Lowell, Mass., and White Leghorn No. for the booby prize for laying the smallest eggs in the lot. The two little eggs these two hens laid would just about equal for a pigeon egg show. On the other hand a White Rock from Hollis, N. H., another one from No. Attleboro, Mass., a Rhode Island Red from Thomaston, Conn., a White Leghorn from Calverton, N. Y., and another one from Corvallis, Oregon, were all conspicuous for the production of eggs just about double normal size. It is more or less commonly believed that abnormally small or large eggs mark either the beginning or the end of a hen's clutch, but this theory is not now tenable. The fact is that hens are more likely to lay very small or very large eggs during the height of the laying season. In other words when egg production is at its zenith there is obviously greater opportunity for unusual things to occur. Little eggs and big eggs do not mean that a hen has just started to lay or has finished and is about to become broody; these under-sized and oversized eggs are simply a good sign that the flock is laying heavily.

The three best pens in each of the principal varieties are as follows:

Clark (Barred) Brookfield Center, Conn. .... 726 White Wyandottes Langford Poultry Farm, Langford, B. C. .... 702 Herbert L. Warren, St. Lambert, Quebec ..... 663 Mrs. R. W. Stevens, Schuyerville, N.
